Emergent Globalisation A New Trial Of Business Systems:

Globalisation, New and Emerging Technologies, and Sustainable Development Jesper Lindgaard

Christensen,Birgitte Gregersen,Jacob Rubæk Holm,Edward Lorenz,2021-05-03 This book explores the capacity of the Danish innovation system to respond to key societal challenges including the green imperative of achieving growth with environmental sustainability and the need to adapt to new and possibly disruptive changes in technology often referred to as the Fourth Industrial Revolution The book is divided into four main parts The first describes the evolving characteristics of the Danish system of research and innovation with special attention to the role of policy at the national and regional levels The second part focuses on interorganisational relations including the position of Danish firms in national and global value chains The third part examines changes in labour markets and in the educational and training system and it considers the impact of new technologies including robotics and artificial intelligence on employment and skills The fourth part turns to issues of climate change and environmental sustainability including an assessment of the Danish economy's success in meeting the challenges of the UN Sustainable Development Goals The book will be of particular interest to small countries of which the Danish innovation system is representative but it also appeals more broadly to an audience interested in innovation systems and policies to support economic development

Divergent Capitalisms Richard Whitley,1999-04-01 The late twentieth century has witnessed the establishment of new forms of capitalism in East Asia as well as new market economies in Eastern Europe Despite the growth of international investment and capital flows these distinctive business systems remain different from each other and from those already developed in Europe and the Americas This continued diversity of capitalism results from and is reproduced by significant differences in societal institutions and agencies such as the state capital and labour markets and dominant beliefs about trust loyalty and authority This book presents the comparative business systems framework for describing and explaining the major differences in economic organization between market economies in the late twentieth century This framework identifies the critical variations in coordination and control systems across forms of industrial capitalism and shows how these are connected to major differences in their institutional contexts Six major types of business system are identified and linked to different institutional arrangements Significant differences in post war East Asian business systems and the ways in which these are changing in the 1990s are analysed within this framework which is also extended to compare the path dependent nature of the new capitalisms emerging in Eastern Europe
