The Competitive Challenge of Emerging Markets Peter Enderwick, 2020-04-21 The most disruptive change to the world economy over the past half century has been the rise of so called emerging economies particularly the large developing markets of China and India While initially appealing to Western business as lower cost production locations these economies are now amongst the world s leading markets for the sale of goods and services as well as a growing competitive challenge to established businesses This book examines the competitive challenge presented by China and India as they increasingly influence international business activities It considers their rise distinctive characteristics and role in the contemporary world economy The attractions and challenges of doing business in emerging economies are fully discussed and the future position of the large emerging economies critically evaluated here A key feature of the book is a discussion of the competitive threat presented by the rapid growth of emerging market multinationals as they aspire to catch up with and even surpass developed market multinationals Theory and practice are combined in this text with insightful illustrations and examples from a range of industries and firms as well as current debates including the utility of the BRIC concept the growing power of Asia the future of globalisation and trade wars As such the book offers an insightful perspective for students of international business international economics development studies and globalisation Asia's Computer Challenge Jason

Dedrick,Kenneth L. Kraemer,1998-08-20 How did the computer industry evolve into its present global structure Why have some Asian countries succeeded more than others Jason Dedrick and Kenneth L Kraemer delve into these questions and emerge with an explanation of the rapid rise of the computer industry in the Asia Pacific region Asia s Computer Challenge makes a systematic comparison of the historical development of the computer industries of Japan Hong Kong Korea Singapore and Taiwan and concludes that neither a plan versus market nor a country versus company dichotomy fully explains the diversity found among these countries The authors identify a new force the emergence of a global production network Reaching beyond specific companies and countries this book explores the strategic implications for the Asian Pacific countries and the United states Now East Asia is faced with a challenge they must make the move from low margin hardware business to high margin software and information businesses while Americans must respond by maintaining leadership in standards design marketing and business innovation South Asia In The New Decade: Challenges And Prospects

Amitendu Palit,Gloria Spittel,2012-10-04 At the beginning of the second decade of the new millennium South Asia has emerged as a key regional variable in the contemporary global order The last decade saw the region experiencing a robust phase of economic growth and development Over time South Asia s economic progress is expected to accelerate given its favourable demography and strategic location The prospects of faster economic growth and development however will materialize depending upon the region s success in handling various challenges including security climate change political instability and ethnic strife It is in this context that the Sixth International Conference on South Asia brought together academics and policy specialists to provide insights and contribute to an understanding of the challenges and prospects facing the region in the new decade This volume is a collection of the papers presented at the Conference and assembles a large and diverse set of viewpoints and perceptions on the region Human Capital Formation and Economic Growth in Asia and the Pacific Wendy Dobson, 2013-07-18 The entire planet looks to Asian and other emerging markets to sustain growth momentum as traditional markets in the USA and Europe struggle with the slow and arduous processes of deleveraging after the global financial crisis At the same time there is growing recognition in Asia that the sources of growth must shift to sustain their own growth momentum in the years ahead Heavy reliance on the region's high savings rates and plentiful supplies of low cost labour will have to shift towards increasing the human capital embodied in more educated and skilled labour forces capable of contributing to productivity growth and innovation as future drivers of growth Human Capital Formation and Economic Growth in Asia and the Pacific focuses on why and how countries are making this shift The demographic transition is shown to be a significant factor as ageing populations in Japan South Korea and China manage declining growth in the labour force by stepping up investments in education and by changing policies and institutions Lessons to be learned from these experiences by more youthful populations in Southeast Asia are explored In addition attention is paid to the consequences of cross border differentials in technical knowledge and the quantity and quality of human capital Several implications for public policy and for international cooperation on human capital issues in the Asian region are identified The chapters in this volume are edited versions of papers presented at the 35th Pacific Trade and Development conference held in Vancouver Canada in June 2012 The conference goal was to better understand how governments and business in Asia and the Pacific can apply the key insight that one of the reasons economies grow is because of human capital formation the quality and diversity of the labour force are augmented not just because the labour force grows in size Students of Asia's growth prospects will find several aspects of this volume of particular value It includes chapters on the big picture conceptual and measurement issues on country experiences in meeting the imperatives of the demographic transition and investing in education and skills training and on country experiences with attracting foreign knowledge and the supply and recruitment of skills across borders in Asia and the Pacific Policymakers will also find useful the discussions of policy implications and the menu of issues requiring intergovernmental cooperation within the Asian region

Economic Outlook for Southeast Asia, China and India 2020 Rethinking Education for the Digital Era OECD, 2019-12-11 The Economic Outlook for Southeast Asia, China and India is a bi-annual publication on regional economic growth, development and regional integration in Emerging Asia. It focuses on the economic conditions of Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) member countries: Brunei Darussalam, Cambodia, Indonesia, Lao PDR, Malaysia, Myanmar, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand and Viet Nam. It also addresses relevant economic issues in China and India to fully reflect economic developments in the region.

Challenges of Economic Growth, Inequality and Conflict in South Asia Tai Yong Tan, 2010 South Asia's growing political and economic influence as well as the dynamism of this rapidly changing region demands careful examination. Drawing on many areas of expertise and a wide range of perspectives, this book analyses how recent developments in the economic, political and social landscapes of South Asia have affected the region itself as well as its relations with the rest of Asia and the world at large. The book gathers together the papers presented at the 4th International Conference on South Asia held in Singapore in November 2008. It represents the expert knowledge and opinions of prominent academics and world leaders. Whether be it dealing with issues of trade and investment, soft power and cultural influence or the reduction of poverty, the chapters in this book are both in depth and rich in broader implications for the South Asian region and beyond.
