Transition of the Yangtze River Delta Zhibiao Liu,Xiaochun Li,2015-02-02 This is the first English book that presents a professional analysis of the recent dynamic movement of the Chinese economy by focusing on the Yangtze River Delta region which is the main engine of the Chinese economy The impact of the international financial crisis on China s economic development requires a change from the first wave of economic globalization oriented toward exports to the second wave of economic globalization characterized by expanding domestic demand Taking this economic aspect into consideration the following are proposed in this book 1 expansion of the level of openness in the process of increasing domestic demand means shifting the industrial focus from manufacturing to the service industry 2 promotion of the globalization of local services should be based on the globalization of local manufacturing 3 the Yangtze River Delta region should aim at its own strategic positioning under new changed circumstances and should achieve modernization in advance with the concept of integrative development 4 Establishment of a support system is essential meanwhile for this area to develop an innovative economy and to promote the transition from manufacturing to promoting emerging industries including a modern service industry The book has an underlying concept namely that the key to economic transformation is to start the development of modern services and that only by transforming the development pattern of the service industry can the transition and upgrade of the economy be effectively achieved For this purpose further urbanization and advancing the transformation from low tech to high tech industries by the effective development of industrial clusters is advocated To ensure that these conclusions are based on a solid analysis the authors draw heavily upon empirical analyses employing modern econometric methods and make use of economic theories such as endogenous growth theory and spatial economic theory

Sustainable Value Management-New Concepts and Contemporary Trends Dariusz Zarzecki,Marek Jabłoński,2020-12-29 Sustainable value management reveals a new space for studying business models The traditional approach is based on the assumption that the goal of any business is to make money All decisions regarding supply and production should be made to maximize profit The discrepancy in creating non economic value is sometimes the result of separating ownership from control over an enterprise Although shareholders are interested in maximizing profit management that actually makes decisions can also pursue other goals In addition to economic aspects the management intentions of modern managers are also influenced by factors arising from the organizational culture built co created within the organization and sometimes with the participation of external actors such as suppliers and customers The sources of the creation of social values will be the management intentions of top management often initiated by the adopted values and rules on the basis of which resources are bound within the structure of the business model The value of sustainability is based on the identification of those creative sources that relate to economic and social value Economic value is created through social value and vice versa This allows the complementarity of the value created to be mutually supportive The business model that integrates both of these values should be more resistant to crises than the one that is oriented only toward producing economic value Concurrent implementation of economic and social goals increases resilience and affects the success of modern business models This is due to the specificity of the business ecosystem that is built as part of the business model which in essence is based on the use of social factors to merge the business model into a complex ecosystem capable of producing value
