Emerging Perspectives On The Black Diaspora:

Emerging Perspectives on the Black Diaspora Aubrey W. Bonnett, Llewellyn G. Watson, 1990-02-12 This book attempts a comparative analysis of the condition of Blacks in the new world diaspora. The editors contend that this diaspora cannot be fully understood apart from politics and social structure or apart from the broad historical background of the political economy of plantation society, capitalism and their profound structural legacies. It brings a focused perspective to a previously neglected group of people in different nation states who labor under very real social and political handicaps. Ultimately the themes of persistence and resilience are the focus of these essays.

Contents and Contributors: The Formation of Black Society in the Diaspora: James Walvin, Subhas Ramcharan, Calvin Holder, James W. St. G. Walker. Reflections on the Experience of Blacks in the Diaspora: Pierre L. Van Den Berghe, Aubrey W. Bonnett, George Beckford. Structural Aspects of Discrimination: Colonialism, Racism and Economic Relations: Frances Henry, Arnold Gibbons, Priestly Suzanne Michael. Aspects of Black Culture in the Diaspora: Abiola Irele, G. Llewellyn Watson, Monica Gordon, Horace Campbell.

Manufacturing Powerlessness in the Black Diaspora Charles St. Clair Green, 2001 Despite the economic utopianism brought on by globalization, effective solutions to the persistent plight of urban blacks throughout the African diaspora continue to elude scholars, politicians and community leaders. Charles Green brings a decade of research and original fieldwork in Africa, the Caribbean and the United States to investigate the interface of the historic racism faced by these urban communities and contemporary trends of globalization. Green pays particular attention to the condition of the youth whose aspirations, vulnerabilities and insights into their own conditions are central to the future prospects for their communities as a whole. Considering the impacts of economic restructuring and cultural diffusion alike, his analysis asserts the importance of both global ties and local distinctiveness. Ultimately, Manufacturing Powerlessness aims to encourage the formation of alliances throughout the diaspora so that urban black communities can manufacture a future of empowerment. New African Diasporas Khalid Koser, 2003-09-02 The extensive literature relating to the African diaspora has tended to concentrate on the descendants of those who left Africa as part of the slave trade to North America. This important new book gathers together work on more recent waves of African migration from some of the most exciting thinkers on the contemporary diaspora. Concentrating particularly on the last 20 years, the contributions look to the United States and beyond to diaspora settlement in the UK and Northern Europe. New African Diasporas looks at a range of different types of diaspora: legal and illegal, professional and low skilled, asylum seekers and economic migrants, and includes chapters on diasporic communities originating in Cote d'Ivoire, Democratic Republic of Congo, Eritrea, Ghana, Senegal and Somalia. It also examines often neglected differences based on gender, class and generation in the process. This book will be essential reading for anyone with an interest in the African diaspora and provides the most wide ranging picture of the new African diaspora yet.

Rethinking American History in a Global Age Thomas Bender, 2002-05-14 In rethinking and reframing the American national narrative in a wider context the contributors to this volume ask questions about both nationalism and the discipline of history itself The essays offer fresh ways of thinking about the traditional themes and periods of American history By locating the study of American history in a transnational context they examine the history of nation making and the relation of the United States to other nations and to transnational developments What is now called globalization is here placed in a historical context A cast of distinguished historians from the United States and abroad examines the historiographical implications of such a reframing and offers alternative interpretations of large questions of American history ranging from the era of European contact to democracy and reform from environmental and economic development and migration experiences to issues of nationalism and identity But the largest issue explored is basic to all histories How does one understand teach and write a national history even as one recognizes that the territorial boundaries do not fully contain that history and that within that bounded territory the society is highly differentiated marked by multiple solidarities and identities Rethinking American History in a Global Age advances an emerging but important conversation marked by divergent voices many of which are represented here The various essays explore big concepts and offer historical narratives that enrich the content and context of American history The aim is to provide a history that more accurately reflects the dimensions of American experience and better connects the past with contemporary concerns for American identity structures of power and world presence

“Race,” Rights and the Law in the Supreme Court of Canada James W. St.G. Walker, 2006-01-01 Four cases in which the legal issue was race that of a Chinese restaurant owner who was fined for employing a white woman a black man who was refused service in a bar a Jew who wanted to buy a cottage but was prevented by the property owners association and a Trinidadian of East Indian descent who was acceptable to the Canadian army but was rejected for immigration on grounds of race drawn from the period between 1914 and 1955 are intimately examined to explore the role of the Supreme Court of Canada and the law in the racialization of Canadian society With painstaking research into contemporary attitudes and practices Walker demonstrates that Supreme Court Justices were expressing the prevailing common sense about race in their legal decisions He shows that injustice on the grounds of race has been chronic in Canadian history and that the law itself was once instrumental in creating these circumstances The book concludes with a controversial discussion of current directions in Canadian law and their potential impact on Canada's future as a multicultural society

Farmer, 2018-11-15 From well known intellectuals such as Frederick Douglass and Nella Larsen to often obscured thinkers such as Amina Baraka and Bernardo Ruiz Suarez black theorists across the globe have engaged in sustained efforts to create insurgent and resilient forms of thought New Perspectives on the Black Intellectual Tradition is a collection of twelve essays that explores these and other theorists and their contributions to diverse strains of political social and cultural thought The book examines four central themes within the black intellectual tradition black internationalism religion and spirituality racial politics and struggles for social justice and black radicalism The essays identify the emergence of black thought within multiple communities internationally analyze how black thinkers shaped and were shaped by the historical moment in which they lived interrogate the ways in which activists and intellectuals connected their theoretical frameworks across time and space and assess how these strains of thought bolstered black consciousness and resistance worldwide Defying traditional temporal and geographical boundaries New Perspectives on the Black Intellectual Tradition illuminates the origins of and conduits for black ideas redefines the relationship between black thought and social action and challenges long held assumptions about black perspectives on religion race and radicalism The intellectuals profiled in the volume reshape and redefine the contours and boundaries of black thought further illuminating the depth and diversity of the black intellectual tradition

New Essays on Phillis Wheatley John C. Shields, Eric D. Lamoore, 2011-05-30 The first African American to publish a book on any subject poet Phillis Wheatley 1753-1784 has long been denigrated by literary critics who refused to believe that a black woman could produce such dense intellectual work In recent decades however Wheatley's work has come under new scrutiny as the literature of the eighteenth century and the impact of African American literature have been reconceived Fourteen prominent Wheatley scholars consider her work from a variety of angles affirming her rise into the first rank of American writers from publisher description

Claude McKay Kotti Sree Ramesh, Kandula Nirupa Rani, 2006-08-02 The gifted and rebellious writer Claude McKay grew up in the British West Indies and then moved to the United States As he traveled from Jamaica to Harlem and then to Europe and Africa he embraced various causes and political ideologies that made their way into his writings Brought up as a colonial in the British West Indies he found racial oppression as an immigrant in the United States His struggle for self definition and self determination was manifest in his writings and laid the foundation for the Harlem Renaissance and negritude movements African American scholarship in the United States tends to focus on McKay's

American productions such as his poetry and novels like Home to Harlem while critics in the Caribbean focus on his works there novels like Banana Bottom and dialect poetry This study has undertaken to explore comprehensively the life and works of Claude McKay framed within colonial and cross cultural experiences While dealing with pertinent issues like identity race exile ethnicity and sexuality the work examines all the facets of this influential 20th century author a man trying to solve the problem of his own identity in a world determined to marginalize him

Diasporic Africa Michael A. Gomez, 2006 Diasporic Africa presents the most recent research on the history and experiences of people of African descent outside of the African continent By incorporating Europe and North Africa as well as North America Latin America and the Caribbean this reader shifts the discourse on the African diaspora away from its focus solely on the Americas underscoring the fact that much of the movement of people of African descent took place in Old World contexts This broader view allows for a more comprehensive approach to the study of the African diaspora The volume provides an overview of African diaspora studies and features as a major concern a rigorous interrogation of identity Other primary themes include contributions to western civilization from religion music and sports to agricultural production and medicine as well as the way in which our understanding of the African diaspora fits into larger studies of transnational phenomena

The Call of the Homeland Allon Gal, Athena S. Leoussi, Anthony D. Smith, 2010-03-08 This book brings together an array of distinguished scholars to consider diaspora nationalism Through theoretical typological and case specific essays that discuss the Jewish Greek Armenian Irish Turkish Sikh Ukrainian Hindu Pentecostal and Muslim diasporas the book shows the varieties and qualities of attachment of diaspora communities to their ancestral homelands and the role that hostlands as well as the immigrants play in the form and intensity of these attachments Setting contemporary diaspora nationalisms in the context of globalisation with its ever developing methods of transportation and communication the book further shows the emergence of new concepts of diaspora new notions of being at home and away from home and of new ways of creating and sustaining ethnic networks and contact with the homeland such as the internet and tourism

Historiography: Politics Robert M. Burns, 2006 This collection aims to enable the reader to disentangle some of the ambiguities and confusions which have characterized the use of the term historiography

The Trickster Comes West Babacar M'baye, 2010-02-11 In the past scholars have looked at narratives of the African diaspora only to discover how these memoirs poems and fictions related to the West The Trickster Comes West Pan African Influence in Early Black Diasporan Narratives explores relationships among African American Afro Caribbean and Afro British narratives of slavery and of New World and British oppression and what African influences brought to these diasporic expressions Using an interdisciplinary method that combines history literary theory cultural studies anthropology folklore and philosophy the book examines the work of Pan African trickster icons such as Leuk Rabbit Golo Monkey Bouki Hyena Mbe Tortoise and Anancy Spider on the resistance strategies of early black writers who were exposing the evils of slavery racism sexism economic exploitation and other forms of oppression Works discussed in this book include Phillis

Wheatley's Poems on Various Subjects Religious and Moral 1773 Quobna Ottobah Cugoana's Thoughts and Sentiments on the Evil of Slavery 1787 Olaudah Equiano's The Interesting Narrative of the Life of Olaudah Equiano 1795 Elizabeth Hart Thwaites's History of Methodism 1804 Anne Hart Gilbert's History of Methodism 1804 and Mary Prince's The History of Mary Prince A West Indian Slave Related By Herself 1831 Analyzing these writings in the context of the black Atlantic struggle for freedom The Trickster Comes West relocates the beginnings of Pan Africanism and suggests the strong influence of its theories of communal resistance racial solidarity and economic development on pioneering black narratives New African Intellectuals and New African Political Thought in the Twentieth Century Mbukeni Herbert Mnguni, 2015 This book is purposely and deliberately entitled New African Intellectuals and New African Political Thought in the Twentieth Century It encapsulates the recent debate about the political and cultural role played by the New African intellectuals in developing modern African political thought The authors argue that the New African Intellectuals was a culturally and politically dominant movement of the twentieth century despite the fact that it was suppressed and oppressed by white colonialism and racism It was a political and cultural expression of the oppressed and disposed people During its cultural and political splay the New African Intellectuals was preoccupied with three inseparable historical issues forming the concept of the New African constructing the foundations of African modernity and formulating the principles of African Nationalism Offering fresh insights that are both empirically and theoretically informed this book illuminates the processes and consequences of the New African scholars and writers The political contribution made by the New African intellectuals is traced from its origins in literature music and language The discussion concludes with an exploration of the dilemma faced by African languages as they are dominated by European languages The authors argue that this dominance has resulted to the petrification and mummification of African languages because outstanding even great African writers are not using them in relation to modern technological and linguistic experience The authors believe that this broad ranging book will be of interest to all those studying African politics and culture and who are concerned with understanding modern African societies in the light of post colonialism Black Star Ramla M. Bandele, 2010-10-01 This book describes how the first African American mass political organization was able to gain support from throughout the African diaspora to finance the Black Star Line a black merchant marine that would form the basis of an enclave economy after World War I Ramla M Bandele explores the concept of diaspora itself and how it has been applied to the study of migr and other ethnic networks In characterizing the historical and political context of the Black Star Line Bandele analyzes the international political economy during 1919-25 and considers the black politics of the era focusing particularly on Marcus Garvey's Universal Negro Improvement Association for its creation of the Black Star Line She offers an in depth case study of the Black Star Line as an instance of the African diaspora attempting to link communities and carry out a transnational political and economic project Arguing that ethnic networks can be legitimate actors in international politics and economics Bandele also suggests however that activists in any given diaspora do not always function as a unit Race and Nation Paul Spickard, 2005-07-08 Race and Nation is the first book to rigorously compare the various racial and ethnic systems that have developed around the world. The contributors have honed their research and expertise to produce definitive questions in the field and these

Africa and Its Significant Others, 2016-08-09 When did the intimate dialogue between Africa, Europe and the Americas begin? Looking back, it seems as if these three continents have always been each other's significant others. Europe created its own modern identity by using Africa as a mirror, but Africans traveled to Europe and America long before the European age of discovery, and African cultures can be said to lie at the root of European culture. This intertwining has become ever more visible. Nowadays, Africa emerges as a highly visible presence in the Americas, and African American styles capture Europe's youth, many of whom are of North African descent. This entanglement, however, remains both productive and destructive. The continental economies are intertwined in ways disastrous for Africa, and African knowledge is all too often exported and translated for US and European scholarly aims, which increases the intercontinental knowledge gap. This volume proposes a fresh look at the vigorous and painful but inescapable relationships between these significant others. It does so as a gesture of gratitude and respect to one of the pioneering figures in this field, Dutch Africanist and literary scholar Mineke Schipper, who is taking her leave from her chair in Intercultural Literary Studies at the University of Leiden. Where have the past four decades of African studies brought us? What is the present-day state of this intercontinental dialogue? Sixteen of Mineke's colleagues and friends in Europe, Africa and the Americas look back and assess the relations and debates between Africa, Europe, America. Ann Adams, Ernst van Alphen, Mieke Bal, Liesbeth Bekers, Wilfried van Damme, Ariel Dorfman, Peter Geschiere, Kathleen Gyssels, Isabel Hoving, Frans Willem Korsten, Babacar M. Baye, Harry Olufunwa, Ankie Peypers, Steven Shankman, Miriam Tlali, and Chantal Zabus write about the place of Africa in today's African Diaspora, about what sisterhood between African and European women really means, about the drawbacks of an overly strong focus on culture in debates about Africa, about Europe's reluctance to see Africa as other than its mirror or its playing field, about the images of Africans in seventeenth-century Dutch writing about genital excision, the flaunting of the African female body, and the new self-writing about new ways to look at classic African novels and about the invigorating, disturbing political art of intercultural reading.

Soul Power Cynthia A. Young, 2006-11-01 Soul Power is a cultural history of those whom Cynthia A. Young calls U.S. Third World Leftists: activists of color who appropriated theories and strategies from Third World anticolonial struggles in their fight for social and economic justice in the United States during the long 1960s. Nearly thirty countries in Africa, Asia, and Latin America declared formal independence in the 1960s alone. Arguing that the significance of this wave of decolonization to U.S. activists has been vastly underestimated, Young describes how literature, films, ideologies, and political movements that originated in the Third World were absorbed by U.S. activists of color. She shows how these transnational influences were then used to forge alliances, create new vocabularies and aesthetic forms, and describe race, class, and gender oppression in the United States in compelling terms Young analyzes a range of U S figures and organizations examining how each deployed Third World discourse toward various cultural and political ends She considers a trip that LeRoi Jones Harold Cruse and Robert F Williams made to Cuba in 1960 traces key intellectual influences on Angela Y Davis s writing and reveals the early history of the hospital workers 1199 union as a model of U S Third World activism She investigates Newsreel a late 1960s activist documentary film movement and its successor Third World Newsreel which produced a seminal 1972 film on the Attica prison rebellion She also considers the L A Rebellion a group of African and African American artists who made films about conditions in the Watts neighborhood of Los Angeles By demonstrating the breadth vitality and legacy of the work of U S Third World Leftists Soul Power firmly establishes their crucial place in the history of twentieth century American struggles for social change
