The neurobiology of emotion-cognition interactions Hadas Okon-Singer, Luiz Pessoa, Alexander J. Shackman, 2015-06-12 There is increasing interest in understanding the interplay of emotional and cognitive processes The objective of the Research Topic was to provide an interdisciplinary survey of cutting edge neuroscientific research on the interaction and integration of emotion and cognition in the brain The following original empirical reports commentaries and theoretical reviews provide a comprehensive survey on recent advances in understanding how emotional and cognitive processes interact how they are integrated in the brain and what their implications for understanding the mind and its disorders are These works encompasses a broad spectrum of populations and showcases a wide variety of paradigms measures analytic strategies and conceptual approaches The aim of the Topic was to begin to address several key questions about the interplay of cognitive and emotional processes in the brain including what is the impact of emotional states anxiety and stress on various cognitive functions How are emotion and cognition integrated in the brain Do individual differences in affective dimensions of temperament and personality alter cognitive performance and how is this realized in the brain Are there individual differences that increase vulnerability to the impact of affect on cognition who is vulnerable and who resilient How plastic is the interplay of cognition and emotion Taken together these works demonstrate that emotion and cognition are deeply interwoven in the fabric of the brain suggesting that widely held beliefs about the key constituents of the emotional brain and the cognitive brain are fundamentally flawed Developing a deeper understanding of the emotional cognitive brain is important not just for understanding the mind but also for elucidating the root causes of its many debilitating disorders

Atlas of Emotion Giuliana Bruno, 2020-05-05 Atlas of Emotion is a highly original endeavour to map a cultural history of spatio visual arts In an evocative montage of words and pictures emphasises that sight and site but also motion and emotion are irrevocably connected In so doing Giuliana Bruno touches on the art of Gerhard Richter and Annette Messager the film making of Peter Greenaway and Michelangelo Antonioni the origins of the movie palace and its precursors and her own journeys to her native Naples Visually luscious and daring in conception Bruno opens new vistas and understandings at every turn The Janus-Face of Language: Where Are the Emotions in Words and the Words in Emotions? Cornelia Herbert, Thomas Ethofer, Andreas J. Fallgatter, Peter Walla, Georg Northoff, 2018-09-28 Language has long been considered independent from emotions In the last few years however research has accumulated empirical evidence against this theoretical belief of a purely cognitive based foundation of language In particular through research on emotional word processing it has been shown that processing of emotional words activates emotional brain structures elicits emotional facial expressions and modulates action tendencies of approach and avoidance probably in a similar manner as processing of non verbal emotional stimuli does In addition it has been shown that emotional content is already processed in the visual cortex in a facilitated manner which suggests that processing of emotional language content is able to circumvent in depth semantic analysis Yet this is only one side of the coin Very recent research putting words into context suggests that language may also construe emotions and that by studying word processing one can provide a window to one's own feelings All in all the empirical observations support the thesis of a close relationship between language and emotions at the level of word meaning as a specific evolutionary achievement of the human species As such this relationship seems to be different from the one between emotions and speech where emotional meaning is conveyed by nonverbal features of the voice But what does this relationship between written words and emotions theoretically imply for the processing of emotional information The present Research Topic and its related articles aim to provide answers to this question This book comprises several experimental studies investigating the brain structures and the time course of emotional word processing Included are studies examining the affective core dimensions underlying affective word processing and studies that show how these basic affective dimensions influence word processing in general as well as the interaction between words feelings and expressive behavior In addition new impetus comes from studies that on the one hand investigate how task sublexical and intrapersonal factors influence emotional word processing and on the other hand extend emotional word processing to the domains of social context and self related processing Finally future perspectives are outlined including research on emotion and language acquisition culture and multilingualism In summary this textbook offers scientists from different disciplines insight into the neurophysiological behavioral and subjective mechanisms underlying emotion and language interactions It gives new impulses to existing theories on the embodiment of language and emotion and provides new ways of looking at emotion cognition interactions
