Empire of Knowledge Vinay Lal, 2002-10-20 During the media frenzy over the Millennium celebrations there was hardly any mention of the fact that for the majority of the world there was no Millennium at all This linear understanding of time is a specifically Western and Christian concept This is just one of many examples that Vinay Lal uses to demonstrate that nearly every idea which we take for granted in the west is part of a politics of ideas Oppression is usually associated with class struggle and other forms of economic monopoly Lal looks beyond this deconstructing the cultural assumptions that have emerged alongside capitalism to offer a devastating critique of the politics of knowledge at the heart of all powerbroking Other topics examined are the concept of development which has provided a mandate for surreptitious colonisation and the idea of the nation state something we have lived with for no more than two centuries yet is accepted without question Linking this to the emergence of international governance through the United Nations the US and imperial economic bodies such as the IMF and WTO Lal explains how such universalism came to dominate the trajectory of Western thought

State and Society in Communist Czechoslovakia Roman Krakovsky, 2018-05-30 Across central and eastern Europe after World War II the newly established communist regimes promised a drastic social revolution that would transform the world at great pace and pave the way to a socialist future Although many aspects of this utopian project are well known such as fast paced industrialisation collectivisation and urbanisation the regimes even sought to transform the ways in which their citizens interacted with each other and the world around them Using a unique analytical model based on an amalgam of anthropology sociology history and extensive archival research award winning scholar Roman Krakovsky here considers the Czechoslovakian attempt to reinvent the world time and space included in this all encompassing way Ranging from WWII to the fall of the Berlin Wall his innovative analysis variously considers the impact of Stakhanovism the impossible to achieve production targets intended to assert socialism s future potential the attempt to replace Sunday s Christian attributes with socialist ones and the profound changes brought about to the public and private spheres including the culture of informing and the ways this was circumvented Across a wide range of case studies Krakovsky demonstrates both the far reaching extent of the communist vision and the inherent flaws and contradictions that gradually destabilised it This in depth perspective is vital reading for all scholars of twentieth century history and politics
