Students in general education and special education classes will learn from and be moved by this collection of field tested personal cases Overton asked family members from diverse income levels and racial and ethnic groups whose children varied in age and learning challenge to record their personal stories Many of these family members were not well known or active in their children's schools their cases facilitate an understanding and respect for the variety of families in which children live The resulting set of cases will stimulate reflection provoke discussion and encourage the determination of best practices to support and bring about collaboration with all families Activities margin notes and author commentaries emphasize and clarify points facilitate reflection and tie theory and research to each story This compelling book can make a difference for those who work with students with special needs and their family members

Rethinking Professional Issues in Special Education James L. Paul, Carolyn D. Lavelly, Ann Cranston-Gingras, Ella L. Taylor, 2002-07-30 Special educators are facing new challenges at the beginning of the 21st century as public education is being reformed by a vision focusing on measurable student outcomes. The future course of the field will be shaped by the policy and programmatic responses to several issues including demographic changes in student populations, a lack of certified special education teachers, criticism in the public media for the rising costs of services, and debates about the preferred philosophy of service delivery for students with disabilities. Additional chapters discuss university school collaboration, charter schools, disability studies, school violence, disproportionality in placement, male African American teachers, and ethics. This book has been written out of a context of research and program development activities with public schools over the past decade in one of the largest Colleges of Education in a diverse metropolitan area in the country. The issues selected for analysis and the perspective guiding those analyses grew out of this work and out of a national Delphi study of the views of parents and constituent organizations and leading researchers, teacher educators, and policy makers in Special Education.

People with Intellectual Disability Experiencing University Life, 2019-01-14 This book will introduce the reader to international perspectives associated with post secondary school education for students with intellectual disability attending university settings. Examples of students with intellectual disability gaining their right to full inclusion within university settings are outlined, as well as the barriers and facilitators of such innovation. The four parts of the text will act as a reader for all stakeholders of inclusion at the university level. The first part examines the philosophical, theoretical, and rights based framework of inclusion. The second part provides evidence and insight into eight programs from across the globe where students with intellectual disability are included within university settings. The third part consists of six chapters associated with the lived experiences of stakeholders in the programs profiled in Part 2. These stories are represented through the voices of former students of inclusive tertiary education initiatives, parents of adult children with intellectual disability who have participated in tertiary education, and lecturers who have taught students with intellectual disability as members of their courses. In the fourth part, critical issues are examined, including the role of secondary school counsellors, sustaining post university outcomes, transition from university to employment, inclusive university teaching approaches, and decision making approaches to successfully implement a tertiary education initiative. The text concludes with a synthesis of the book's themes and proposes calls to action with specific tasks to move the rhetoric of human rights into reality for adults with intellectual disability through an inclusive tertiary education.
