Bahr, Kathleen S. Bahr, 2009-03-16 Much academic writing on families reflects the ideal of non involvement and distanced subject matter Toward More Family

Centered Family Sciences suggests that the family sciences in their effort to be scientific have perpetuated this distance between researcher and subject to the detriment of both. The authors argue that family and kinship ties are transcendent ties boundary crossing in numerous ways. They place an emphasis on family love in contrast and in addition to romantic love and criticize current approaches for neglecting the importance of transcendent concepts such as love, commitment, respect, and sacrifice in the development and well being of family structures. Drawing from insights both inside and outside of academia, the authors seek to reincorporate transcendent concepts into the study of the family as a unit of society. They argue for a more collaborative family centered family science and offer recommendations for how family researchers might work to change the scientific monologue about families to a systemic dialogue with families.

Family Farms and the Conservation of Agrobiodiversity in Cuba Urbano Fra Paleo, Leonor Castiñeiras, 2023-09-04

This highly original volume investigates and documents the complex interactions between small family farms and Man and Biosphere Reserves in Cuba. Covering over two decades of research in agriculture and biodiversity conservation in Cuba, this book provides a unique case study about sustainable agriculture. It shows how the agricultural biodiversity maintained in situ by family farms within those protected areas provides a strategic source of crop genetic resources including seeds and planting materials as well as agroecological knowledge and practices. Agricultural practices within and around the Biosphere Reserves have helped to promote local food security through healthier and more diverse food production while contributing to the conservation of biodiversity and of ecosystems. The book also reports on the adoption of transdisciplinary methods combining ecological, agronomic, and socio-economic research along with participatory methods involving farmers in research to document ethnobotanical and farmer knowledge, revealing rich spots of agrobiodiversity maintained in landscapes, seed systems, and nurseries managed by farmers. It covers a range of ecosystems and biocultural landscapes from arid tropics, tropical hillsides, and savannas, montane rainforests, and coastal areas. It examines how family farms in diverse Cuban ecosystems use biodiversity, agro-ecological knowledge, and techniques while sustaining natural and farming landscapes in a scenario of climate change, frequent disasters, and socio-economic and policy changes. This book will be most suitable for those studying or interested in farming practices, biodiversity conservation, food security, agrobiodiversity, and sustainable development as well as in Cuban studies.

Family Therapy Review: Contrasting Contemporary Models Anne Rambo, Charles West, AnnaLynn Schooley, Tommie V. Boyd, 2012-08-21

This unique text uses one common case to demonstrate the applications of a wide range of family therapy models. Readers will find it useful when studying for the national family therapy licensing exam, which requires that exam takers be able to apply these models to case vignettes. Family Capitalism Harold James, 2009-06-30 This history of three powerful family firms located in different European countries takes place over a period of more than two hundred years The interplay and the changing social and legal arrangements of the families shaped the development of a European capitalism quite different from the Anglo American variety Qualifying claims by Alfred Chandler and David Landes that family firms tend to be dysfunctional Harold James shows how and why these steel and engineering firms were successful over long periods of time Indeed he sees the family enterprise as particularly conducive to managing risk during periods of upheaval and uncertainty when both states and markets are disturbed He also identifies the key roles played by women executives during such times In Family Capitalism James tells how iron masters of a classical industrial cast were succeeded by new generations who wanted to shift to information age systems technologies and how families and firms wrestled with social and economic changes that occasionally tore them apart Finally the author shows how the trajectories of the firms were influenced by political military economic and social events and how these firms illuminate a European model of relationship capitalism

Family Functioning John J. Schwab, Helen Gray-Ice, Florence R. Prentice, 2006-04-18 The family that most fundamental of human groups is currently perceived to be changing in response to social biological cultural and technological developments in our postmodern society While the observed changes in families have been considered by some sociologists to be evidence of adaptation and therefore normal the authors of this volume consider them maladaptive Viewing society from the point of view of clinical psychiatry they point to greatly increased numbers of children born to single mothers soaring rates of divorce a statistically confirmed increase in mental disorders increase in reported incest high rates of depression in younger people and escalation of the amount of reported family violence as evidence that the family as a social institution is in crisis and can either move toward renewed vitality or continued deterioration Perceiving a need to obtain information about family functioning that might lead to the increased stability and well being of this critically important type of system Dr John Schwab and his associates designed and carried out a research program that began with a thorough review of relevant literature beginning with LePlay's study of 300 families in the 1850s and including important recent statistical studies They found that although these studies represent advances in understanding the family system some serious problems with the research remain one of which is confounding variables such as family function and mental or substance abuse disorders so that if a family member has a problem such as drug abuse the family is classified as dysfunctional

Shooting the Family Patricia Pisters, Wim Staats, 2005 Shooting the Family a collection of essays on the contemporary media landscape explores ever changing representations of family life on a global scale The contributors argue that new recording technologies allows families an unusual kind of freedom until now unknown to define and respond to their own lives and memories Recently released videos made by young migrants as they discover new homelands and resolve conflicts with their parents for example reverberate alongside the dark portrayals of family life in the formal filmmaking of Ang Lee This book will be a boon to scholars of film theory and media studies as well as to anyone interested in the construction of the family in a postmodern world
