permutations of these laws then examines their use by Florentines to arbitrate conflict and regulate social behavior regarding such issues as kinship marriage business inheritance illegitimacy and gender Ranging from one man's embittered denunciation of his father to another's reaction to his kinsmen's rejection of him as illegitimate Law Family and Women provides fascinating evidence of the tensions riddling family life in Renaissance Florence Kuehn shows how these same tensions often articulated in and through the law affected women He examines the role of the mundualdus a male legal guardian for women in Florence the control of fathers over their married daughters and issues of inheritance by and through women An ambitious attempt to reformulate the agenda of Renaissance social history Kuehn's work will be of value to both legal anthropologists and social historians Thomas Kuehn is professor of history at Clemson University

The Narreme in the Medieval Romance Epic Eugene Dorfman, 1969-12-15 In this study Professor Dorfman applies the methods of modern linguistics to literary analysis Literature may be described as the structured use of language the modern linguistic analyzes language in a search for the minimal units of sound and form phoneme and morpheme and determines the combinations by which they can communicate meaning The author here searches for a minimal structural unit in the literary narrative analogous to the phoneme and the morpheme in language structure Based on a detailed analysis of the Roland and the Cid and twelve additional Romance narratives Professor Dorfman's argument is that the structure of the medieval Romance epics may be analyzed into functional units which he calls narremes He divides a narrative into two types of structure the superstructure and the substructure A narrative by definition is a series of incidents All the incidents in the narrative taken as written form the superstructure Analysis however shows that many of the incidents may be abstracted from the narrative without deflecting the story line On the other hand other incidents reveal themselves as organically linked with each other so they cannot be omitted without destroying the story line These selected incidents are the narremes which make up the substructure of the narrative This method of analysis produces so interesting and surprising results results which make an important advance in research in linguistics and Romance literature Eugene Dorfman as an orthodox structuralist has focused strictly on the formal descriptions of the narratives but his analysis leads into the great traditional problems of literary history and in particular poses anew the problem of the origins of the epic New Directions in Economic Methodology Roger Backhouse, 1994 In recent years there has been a flowering of work on economic methodology However there is no longer any consensus about which direction this should take or indeed even what the role and content of economic methodology should be This book reflects this diversity Its contributors are responsible for the
