Famine That Kills Darfur 1984 1985:

Famine that Kills Alexander De Waal, 1989 Famine that Kills is a unique study based on detailed field research carried out during the terrible famine of 1984 85 in the Darfur region of Sudan De Waal adopts the original approach of analyzing the famine from the perspective of the rural people who suffered through it and in the process uncovers a number of new and important insights When news of the famine broke it was predicted that without massive food aid millions of people would starve The aid did not arrive yet millions continued to survive De Waal argues that death was caused primarily by disease brought about by social disruption In addition the priority for rural people during the crisis was not to try to save every life but instead to preserve their way of life for the future Consequently he concludes the huge international famine relief effort was largely irrelevant to their survival Recounting the untold story of the Sudanese famine how rural Sudanese were able to survive on their own resources using skill local knowledge and great tenacity de Waal s multidisciplinary study will have profound implications not just for famine relief policies but for our very conception of famine itself Islamism and Its Enemies in the Horn of Africa Alex De Waal, 2004 Militant Islam is a powerful force in the Horn of Africa and the U S war on terrorism has thrown the region and its politics into the international spotlight Since the 1990s when a failed U S military mission was called in to maintain order Islamist organizations with heavy sponsorship from Saudi Arabia have multiplied and established much needed health and education services in the region However despite the good that they are clearly providing these organizations are labeled terrorist by the U S Islamist extremists have been found to be responsible for the deadly embassy bombings in Kenya and Tanzania and the attack on an Israeli jet in Mombasa Since September 11 2001 global effort has been concentrated on bringing these groups to their knees Focusing on how Islamist movements have been viewed post 9 11 and how the U S agenda is being translated into local struggles in the region this book is an important step toward understanding the complex dynamics that enfold the region Contributors are Roland Marchal A H Abdel Salam M A Mohamed Salih and Alex de Waal The Idea of Justice Amartya Sen, 2011-05-31 Presents an analysis of what justice is the transcendental theory of justice and its drawbacks and a persuasive argument for a comparative perspective on justice that can guide us in the choice between alternatives Famine that Kills Alex De Waal, Save the Children Fund, 1986*

Global Security Watch—Sudan Richard A. Lobban Jr., 2010-09-02 This book provides an overview of contemporary issues in Sudan Africa s largest nation examining the country s history and current scene to help readers develop a deeper understanding of how much Sudan matters in today s world With deep connections to the Sahel and savanna to the west the African world to the south the Horn of Africa to the east and the Middle East to the north Sudan is important strategically legally geopolitically and militarily but too often overlooked or underestimated Sudan the country of residence of Osama bin Laden for six years has played and will continue to play a significant role in worldwide security matters An analysis of the causes resolutions and implications of the ongoing Sudanese conflicts including the genocide in Darfur this book is essential reading for policymakers researchers and students alike This book considers Sudan s historical foundations examining how the agendas of countries to the south east and north have influenced Sudan s people and government The author also explains the origins and context of the Darfur conflict laying out possible steps toward a resolution Questions concerning Sudanese oil where is it how much is there to whom does it belong help focus any discussion of Sudan s emerging importance in the contemporary world Other issues such as the influence of Islamism or the Sudanese activities of the Arab League China or the African Union underline the uncertainties that confront the people of Sudan today

Droughts Donald A. Wilhite,2016-09-17 It draws together all the leading international research across the field and is the most comprehensive volume on the subject International in its coverage The 1990s is the International Decade for Natural Disaster Reduction it is an area that is very high on the international research and policy agenda It presents the research within a coherent thematic framework for the first time and should become THE major reference source for drought research world wide

Caught Between Borders Marc Vincent,Birgitte Refslund Sorensen,2001-10-20 Internally displaced persons are those who have been forced to flee their homes and who do not cross an internationally recognised border Unlike refugees they have no organisation to deal with their plight Very little is known about how people respond to the experience of displacement This is the first book to put together information on the networks that people have evolved for coping in such situations Examining those people who have become IDPs as the result of violence and war it uses case studies from different countries different settings and different phases of displacement The authors identify cross cultural patterns of coping strategies examine whether these strategies are effective and highlight to what extent they are dependent upon culture or the experience of displacement This is a practical handbook that will help international organisations formulate their relief plans to support rather than inadvertently damage existing coping mechanisms Case studies include Afghanistan Angola Burundi Burma Colombia Georgia Sri Lanka Serbia Sudan and Uganda

Adaptable Livelihoods Susanna Davies,2016-07-27 The book s radical message save livelihoods not just lives should be on the desk of every policy maker concerned with relief and development and demands a rethink of policy and practice across the board Robert Chambers Institute of Development Studies A book on development I really enjoyed An intriguing story emerges the real expert on saving lives and livelihoods are the people facing famine and insecurity themselves This book details the evolution of the local food monitoring system showing that by concentrating on what people can do in response to change rather than what they cannot do we can devise more permanent and effective responses to food insecurity than emergency food aid distribution Mike Aaronson Save the Children Poor people living in high risk environments live continuously with uncertainty which often threatens their livelihoods They have therefore developed effective means of predicting and responding to large fluctuations in rainfall harvest levels and natural resource production These methods of prediction and response often out perform conventional early warning systems promoted by donors and governments and yet are rarely considered in the conception and implementation of food security programmes

The New Famines Stephen Devereux, 2006-11-22 The recent occurrences of famine in Ethiopia and Southern Africa have propelled this key issue back into the public arena for the first time since 1984 as once again it becomes a priority not only for lesser developed countries but also for the international community Exploring the paradox that is the persistence of famine in the contemporary world this book looks at the way the nature of famine is changing in the face of globalization and shifting geo political forces The book challenges perceived wisdom about the causes of famine and analyzes the worst cases of recent years including close analysis of food scarcity in North Korea Ethiopia Sudan and Malawi and less well known cases in Madagascar Iraq and Bosnia With fresh conceptual frameworks and analytical tools major theoretical constructs which have previously been applied to analyze famines such as the democracy ends famine argument Sen's entitlement approach and the complex political emergency framework are confronted This volume assembles an international team of contributors including Marcus Noland Alex de Waal and Dan Maxwell an impressive roster which helps make this book an important resource for those in the fields of development studies and political economics

The Farmer in England, 1650-1980 Richard W. Hoyle, 2016-03-03 Farmers held a pivotal role in the capitalist agriculture that emerged in England in the eighteenth century yet they have attracted little attention from rural historians Farmers made agriculture happen They brought together the capital and the technical and management skills which allowed food to be produced It was they and not landowners who employed and supervised labour They accepted the risk inherent in agriculture paying largely fixed rents out of fluctuating and uncertain incomes They are the rural equivalent of the small businessman with his own firm employing people and producing for markets sometimes distant ones Our ignorance of the farmer might be justified by the claim that they are ill documented but in fact farmers were normally literate and kept records day books journals accounts This volume goes some way to counter the claim that a history of the farmer cannot be written by showing the range of materials available and the diversity of approaches which can be employed to study the activities and actions of individual farmers from the sixteenth century onwards Farm records offer invaluable insights into the farming economy which are available nowhere else In this volume accounts are used in a variety of ways as the means to access single farms but also in gross as a national sample of accounts to reveal regional variation over time For the later nineteenth and twentieth centuries the range of sources available increases enormously and farmers indeed farmer's wives too emerge as articulate commentators on their own position using correspondence to outline their difficulties in the First World War Some even developed second careers as newspaper columnists and journalists This book focuses attention back on the farmer and it is hoped will help to restore farmers to their rightful position in history as rural entrepreneurs

Finland's Great Famine, 1856-68 Andrew G. Newby, 2023-05-17 This book will provide a thematic overview of one of European history's most devastating famines the Great Finnish Famine of the 1860s In 1868 the nadir of several years of worsening economic conditions 137 000 people approximately 8% of the Finnish population perished as the result of hunger and disease The attitudes and policies enacted by Finland's devolved administration tended to follow European norms and therefore were often similar to the colonial practices seen in other famines at the time What is distinctive about this catastrophe in a mid nineteenth century context is that despite Finland being a part of the Russian Empire it was largely responsible for its own governance and indeed was developing its economic political and cultural autonomy at the time of the famine Finland's Great Famine 1856-68 examines key themes such as the use of emergency foods domestic and overseas charity vagrancy and crime emergency relief works and emigration Exotic No More Jeremy MacClancy, 2010-04-08 Since its founding in the nineteenth century social anthropology has been seen as the study of exotic peoples in faraway places But today more and more anthropologists are dedicating themselves not just to observing but to understanding and helping solve social problems wherever they occur in international aid organizations British TV studios American hospitals or racist enclaves in Eastern Europe for example In Exotic No More an initiative of the Royal Anthropological Institute some of today's most respected anthropologists demonstrate in clear unpretentious prose the tremendous contributions that anthropology can make to contemporary society They cover issues ranging from fundamentalism to forced migration child labor to crack dealing human rights to hunger ethnicity to environmentalism intellectual property rights to international capitalisms But Exotic No More is more than a litany of gloom and doom the essays also explore topics usually associated with leisure or high culture including the media visual arts tourism and music Each author uses specific examples from their fieldwork to illustrate their discussions and 62 photographs enliven the text Throughout the book the contributors highlight anthropology's commitment to taking people seriously on their own terms paying close attention to what they are saying and doing and trying to understand how they see the world and why Sometimes this bottom up perspective makes the strange familiar but it can also make the familiar strange exposing the cultural basis of seemingly natural behaviors and challenging us to rethink some of our most cherished ideas about gender free markets race and refugees among many others Contributors William O Beaman Philippe Bourgois John Chernoff E Valentine Daniel Alex de Waal Judith Ennew James Fairhead Sarah Franklin Michael Gilson Faye Ginsburg Alma Gottlieb Christopher Hann Faye V Harrison Richard Jenkins Melissa Leach Margaret Lock Jeremy MacClancy Jonathan Mazower Ellen Messer A David Napier Nancy Scheper Hughes Jane Schneider Parker Shipton Christopher B Steiner Mutuality Roger Sanjek, 2015 Why do people do social cultural anthropology Beyond professional career motivations what values underpin anthropologists' commitments to lengthy training fieldwork writing and publication Mutuality explores the values that anthropologists bring from their wider social worlds including the value placed on relationships with the people they study work with write about and for and communicate with more broadly In this volume seventeen distinguished anthropologists draw on personal and professional histories to describe avenues to mutuality through collaborative fieldwork community based projects and consultations advocacy and museum exhibits including the American Anthropological Association's largest public outreach ever the RACE Are We So Different project Looking critically

The Politics of Environmental Control in Northeastern Tanzania, 1840-1940 James L. Gibling, 2015-09-30 A historical study of the relationship between political and environmental change in Tanzania's northeastern lowlands an impoverished region that has been afflicted by severe food shortages throughout the twentieth century Complex Emergencies David Keen, 2008-01-22 Analysing the abusive systems that surround and produce humanitarian disasters this text gives particular attention to the economic political and psychological functions of civil conflicts and humanitarian disasters

Requiem For The Sudan J. Millard Burr, 2018-05-04 After a decade of uneasy peace the historic conflict between the North and South Sudanese erupted into violent conflict in 1983 This ferocious civil war with its Arab militias and widespread use of automatic weapons has devastated the populace In addition to the miseries of war drought and famine took a further toll on an already battered society although this regional calamity remains largely unknown to the outside world over 1 000 000 people have either perished or been displaced Furthermore the Sudanese government seemed little inclined to help its own people Requiem for the Sudan provides a chilling account of the ravages of drought and civil war graphically recounting how attempts by international agencies and humanitarian organizations to provide food and medical relief have been thwarted by bureaucratic infighting corruption greed and ineptitude Based on a wealth of previously unpublished documents Requiem for the Sudan clearly illustrates how the failure of conflict resolution organizational mismanagement and a government hostile toward its own people had tragic human consequences

Writing through the Visual and Virtual Renée Larrier, Ousseina Alidou, 2015-11-12 Writing Through the Visual and Virtual Inscribing Language Literature and Culture in Francophone Africa and the Caribbean interrogates conventional notions of writing The contributors whose disciplines include anthropology art history education film history linguistics literature performance studies philosophy sociology translation and visual arts examine the complex interplay between language literature arts and the visual and virtual domains of expressive culture The twenty five essays explore various patterns of writing practices arising from contemporary and historical forces that have impacted the literatures and cultures of Benin Cameroon Cote d'Ivoire Egypt Guadeloupe Haiti Martinique Morocco Niger Reunion Island and Senegal Special attention is paid to how scripts though appearing to be merely decorative in function are often used by artists and performers in the production of material and non material culture to tell stories of great significance co mingling words and images in a way that leads to a creative synthesis that links the local and the global the classical and the popular in new ways

Late Victorian Holocausts Mike Davis,2002-06-17 Examining a series of El Nino induced droughts and the famines that they spawned around the globe in the last third of the 19th century Mike Davis discloses the intimate baleful relationship between imperial arrogance and natural incident that combined to produce some of the worst tragedies in human history Late Victorian Holocausts focuses on three zones of drought and subsequent famine India Northern China and Northeastern Brazil All were affected by the same global climatic factors that caused massive crop failures and all experienced brutal famines that decimated local populations But the effects of drought were magnified in each case because of singularly destructive policies promulgated by different ruling elites Davis argues that the seeds of underdevelopment in what later became known as the Third World were sown in this era of High Imperialism as the price for capitalist modernization was paid in the currency of millions of peasants lives

Being Lakota Larissa Petrillo,Melda Trejo,Lupe Trejo,2007-12-01 In Libreville the capital of the African nation of Gabon the colonial past has evolved into a present indelibly marked by colonial rule and ongoing French influence This is especially evident in areas as essential to life as food In this complex hybrid culinary culture of Libreville croissants are as readily available as plantains Yet this same culinary diversity is accompanied by high prices and a scarcity of locally made food that is bewildering to residents and visitors alike A staggering two thirds of the country s food is imported from outside Gabon making Libreville s cost of living comparable to that of Tokyo and Paris In this compelling study of food culture and colonialism Jeremy Rich explores how colonial rule intimately shaped African life and how African townspeople developed creative ways of coping with colonialism as European expansion threatened African self sufficiency From colonization in the 1840s through independence Libreville struggled with problems of food scarcity resulting from the legacy of Atlantic slavery the violence of colonial conquest and the rise of the timber export industry Marriage disputes racial tensions and worker unrest often centered on food and townspeople employed varied tactics to combat its scarcity Ultimately imports emerged as the solution and have had a lasting impact on Gabon s culinary culture and economy Fascinating and informative A Workman Is Worthy of His Meat engages a new avenue of historical inquiry in examining the culture of food as part of the colonial experience and resonates with the questions of globalization dominating culinary economics today
