Heed The Thunder:

Heed the Thunder Jim Thompson, 2024-09-24 In the rural town of Verdon Nebraska in the early days of the 20th century you can't go ten feet without running into one of the Fargos So Grant Fargo argues to his grandfather Lincoln it's perfectly all right that he's desperately in love with his first cousin Bella she's the only source of intelligent conversation for miles and in a town like Verdon it would be hard not to end up with a relative of one kind or another Before it all plays out men will be murdered jailed tarred and feathered or worse and while everyone in the Fargo clan would kill for the family deeds God might just end up with them instead In Heed the Thunder one of Thompson's earlier works Thompson's signature style collides with a sweeping picaresque of the American prairie in a multigenerational saga that's one part Steinbeck two parts Dostoyevsky and all Jim Thompson

The Post-Utopian Imagination M. Keith Booker, 2002-01-30 In America the long 1950s were marked by an intense skepticism toward utopian alternatives to the existing capitalist order This skepticism was closely related to the climate of the Cold War in which the demonization of socialism contributed to a dismissal of all alternatives to capitalism This book studies how American novels and films of the long 1950s reflect the loss of the utopian imagination and mirror the growing concern that capitalism brought routinization alienation and other dehumanizing consequences The volume relates the decline of the utopian vision to the rise of late capitalism with its expanding globalization and consumerism and to the beginnings of postmodernism In addition to well known literary novels such as Nabokov's Lolita Booker explores a large body of leftist fiction popular novels and the films of Alfred Hitchcock and Walt Disney The book argues that while the canonical novels of the period employ a utopian aesthetic that aesthetic tends to be very weak and is not reinforced by content The leftist novels on the other hand employ a realist aesthetic but are utopian in their exploration of alternatives to capitalism The study concludes that the utopian energies in cultural productions of the long 1950s are very weak and that these works tend to dismiss utopian thinking as naïve or even sinister The weak utopianism in these works tends to be reflected in characteristics associated with postmodernism

Another View From The Park Regis McCafferty, 2003-07-23 These poems represent the musings of a man an intelligent man a world traveler a man in his fifties going slightly mad from booze and grief and a perception of a world in a headlong rush to a future he does not understand and has no wish to We know him only as Tweed But we're never sure whether he is speaking of Tweed himself or Tweed as alter ego and we see his world perhaps our world through his eyes We wander with him in the past sometimes in the present and very rarely in the future For him there is no future only the daily task of living it through and this collection is a journey with him
