The A to Z of African American Cinema S. Torriano Berry, Venise T. Berry, 2009-09-02 On 4 July 1910 in 100 degree heat at an outdoor boxing ring near Reno Nevada film cameras recorded and thousands of fans witnessed former heavyweight champion Jim Jeffries reluctant return from retirement to fight Jack Johnson a black man After 14 grueling rounds Johnson knocked out Jeffries and for the first time in history there was a black heavyweight champion of the world At least 10 people lost their lives because of Johnson's victory and hundreds more were injured due to white retaliation and wild celebrations in the streets Public screenings received instantaneous protests and hundreds of cities barred the film from being shown Congress even passed a law making it a federal offense to transport moving pictures of prizefights across state lines and thus the most powerful portrayal of a black man ever recorded on film was made virtually invisible This is but one of the hundreds of films covered in The A to Z of African American Cinema which includes everything from The Birth of a Nation to Crash In addition to the films brief biographies of African American actors and actresses such as Sidney Poitier James Earl Jones Halle Berry Eddie Murphy Whoopi Goldberg Denzel Washington and Jamie Foxx can be found in this reference Through a chronology a list of acronyms and abbreviations an introductory essay a bibliography appendixes black white photos and hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries on actors actresses movies producers organizations awards film credits and terminology this book provides a better understanding of the role African Americans played in film history

Fear City Cinema Roger A. Salerno, 2022-04-12 This book studies a grouping of films set in New York City between 1965 and 1995 reflecting a town besieged by rampant criminality social distress and physical decay Fear City is a term the NYPD used to label New York as a frightening environment incapable of securing the safety of its residents This book not only deals with the social problems evident in New York during this period but also provides a study of how independent filmmakers were able to capture unsettling urban imagery capitalizing on feelings of paranoia and dread The author explores how the tone of these films reflects upon the anti urbanism that led to the War on Crime the mass exodus of working class people from the city and mass incarceration of young Black men

The Moviegoing Experience, 1968-2001 Richard W. Haines, 2010-06-28 The experience of going to the movies be it a single screen theater twin multiplex or drive in is affected by many different factors that have shifted over the years Just as movies emerged from silent to talking black and white to color there has invariably been change in the way movies are made copied distributed and viewed This change in the moviegoing experience for better or for worse is worth studying This work examines the American moviegoing experience from 1968 to 2001 the way in which movies are made and regulated including the demise of the Production Code and the emergence of the ratings system as well as changes in lighting cinematography and coloring techniques The projection practices of the past and present during and after the presence of the Projectionists Union and the advent of the platter which allowed for automated projection are discussed How home video and cable affected the content of films after the eighties and the history of computerized special effects leading to the development of digital cinema projection are included The work also covers the changing types of venues over the last third of a century and other aspects that affect positively or negatively the entire moviegoing experience

The Taking of New York City Andrew Rausch, 2024-11-05 For a time in the 1970s New York City seemed to many to be genuinely on the cusp of collapse Plagued by rampant crime graft catastrophic finances and crumbling infrastructure it served as a symbol for the plight of American cities after the convulsions of the 1960s This tale of urban blight was reinforced wherever one looked whether in the news media memorably captured in the infamous New York Daily News headline Ford to City Drop Dead or the countless movies that evoked the era s uniquely gritty sense of dread The Taking of New York City is a history of both New York and some of the decade s most definitive films including The French Connection 1971 the first two Godfather movies 1972 1974 Taxi Driver 1976 Serpico 1973 Dog Day Afternoon 1975 and many more It was also an era in which the city wrestled with the racial tensions still threatening the tear the nation apart never more so than in Blaxploitation classics such as Shaft 1971 and Super Fly 1972 These films depicted the city that never sleeps as a grim violent place overridden with muggers pimps and killers Projected at drive ins and inside their local movie houses rural America saw New York as a nightmare a vile dystopia where the innocent couldn t rely on the local law enforcement who were seemingly all on the take If one took Hollywood s word for it the only way a person was able to find justice in 1970s New York City was by grabbing a gun and meting it out themselves Author Andrew Rausch meticulously separates fact and fiction in this illuminating book Attentive to the ways that New York s problems were exaggerated or misrepresented it also gives an unvarnished look at just how bad things could get in the Rotten Apple and how movies told that story to the country and the world
