Winter, 2006-12-15 Studies in Hellenistic Architecture is a detailed analysis of the development of the major building types of the Hellenistic age the mid fourth century B C to the time of the Roman conquest of the Eastern Mediterranean In this meticulous work Frederick E Winter reveals how the architects of the period went beyond anything achieved by their Classical Greek predecessors and how these impressive skills prepared the way for many of Rome's later architectural achievements Geographically the monuments included in this volume extend from Spain to Afghanistan and from Provence to North Africa Winter discusses the architectural achievements of the various regional styles of the Eastern Mediterranean and takes a detailed look at Hellenistic developments west of the Adriatic While the interrelationship of these regional developments is often unclear especially in cases where there are no explicit criteria for dating Winter makes excellent use of the advance in scholarship over the past fifty to sixty years offering the first real attempt at a synthesis of this vast subject Studies in Hellenistic Architecture is an invaluable resource containing a wealth of illustrations of the various types of Hellenistic building and the most comprehensive scholarship to date on the topic Hellenizing Art in Ancient Nubia 300 B.C. - AD 250 and Its Egyptian Models László Török, Laszlo Torok, 2011-07-12 Presenting a large body of evidence for the first time this book offers a comprehensive treatment of Nubian architecture sculpture and minor arts in the period between 300 BC AD 250 It focuses primarily on the Nubian response to the traditional pharaonic Hellenistic Roman Hellenizing and hybrid elements of Ptolemaic and Roman Egyptian culture The author begins with a history of Nubian art and a critical survey of the literature on Ptolemaic and Roman Egyptian art Special chapters are then devoted to the discussion of the Egyptian Greek interaction in the arts of Ptolemaic Egypt the place of Egyptian Hellenistic and Hellenizing art within the oikumene the pluralistic visual world of Ptolemaic and Roman Egypt as well as on the specific genre of terracotta sculpture Utilizing examples from Meroe City and Musawwarat es Sufra the author argues that cultural transfer from Ptolemaic and Roman Egypt to Nubia resulted in an inward focused adaptation Therefore the resulting Nubian art from this period expresses only those aspects of Egyptian and Greek art that are compatible with indigenous Nubian goals Greek Art: Oxford

Temples and Sanctuaries in the Roman East Arthur Segal, 2013-10-31 This lavishly illustrated volume presents a comprehensive architectural study of 87 individual temples and sanctuaries built in the Roman East between the end of the 1st century BCE and the end of the 3rd century CE within a broad region encompassing the modern states of Syria Lebanon Israel and Jordan Religious architecture gave faithful expression to the complexity of the Roman East and to its multiplicity of traditions pertaining to ethnic and religious aspects as well as to the powerful influence of Imperial Rome The source of this power lay in the uniformity of the architectural language the inventory of forms the choice of styles and the spatial layout of the buildings Thus while temples have an eclectic character there is an underlying unity of form comprising the podium the stairway between the terminating walls antae and the columns along the entrance front in other words the axiality frontality and symmetry of the temple as viewed from outside The temples and sanctuaries studied in this volume demonstrate individual nuances of plan spatial design location in the sanctuary and interrelations with the immediate vicinity but can be divided into two main categories Vitruvian temples derived from Hellenistic Roman architecture and Non Vitruvian temples those with plans and spatial designs that cannot be analysed according to architectural criteria such as those defined by Vitruvius The individual descriptions presented focus solely upon the analysis of the external and internal space of the
