Ward,2015-05-23 Richmond in the late 19th century was not the genteel peaceful community historians have made it Virginia s capital was cosmopolitan boisterous and crime ridden From 1905 to 1915 there was an official red light district The police had their hands full with drunks and riffraff and a variety of street urchins and waifs most of whom were very poor found themselves on the wrong side of the law The juvenile delinquents of Richmond some barely out of infancy were held accountable in the Police Court A juvenile court system was not established until 1916 Presiding over the Police Court for 32 years was Justice John Jeter Crutchfield who though unlearned in the law functioned like a biblical Solomon but with great showmanship The

Police Court attracted many tourists and some of Virginia's literary figures cut their teeth writing newspaper coverage of the proceedings vying with each other for the most hilarious slant What emerges from the public record is an amusing and touching picture of what life was really like in the post Reconstruction urban South The Literature of American Music in Books and Folk Music Collections David Horn, 1977 Anyone doing work in any aspect of American music must begin with this bibliography an important acquisition for all libraries CHOICE Pacific Builder & Engineer, 1919 Is this the Best God Could Do? Sarah Tirri, 2011-03-03 Is This the Best God Could Do nonfiction approximately 115 000 words was born of a crisis of faith of the most cruel kind the loss of my mother who lingered on the brink death for five weeks and that is where the book begins I was living the American dream a happy wife and mother and by most measures charmed and then she died suffering terribly in the process in spite of my ardent prayers Like many in this position I felt that God had let me down but once my grief passed I realized that the God of traditional Christianity keeps us in thrall by fear and guilt by insisting we are small when we are really quite big beings When the World Trade Center collapsed I also realized that the end of the world might well be upon us because it is a self fulfilling prophecy brought about by the zealot believers in the Abrahamic religions fear carried to an illogical extreme This epiphany made me angry Is This the Best God Could Do is also the result of that anger However although the topic is obviously deadly serious I debunk the warped monotheism of the Big Three with humor and wit as well as reasonable albeit edgy argument What follows the section in which I recount the loss of my mother and the realization that the Abrahamic version of God has been messing with us for a couple thousand years is part dialogue with that big guy picture Groucho Marx as interlocutor Hi God of Christianity Sarah here I can appreciate your dilemma I really can But the next time one of your angels gets out of hand please try to take care of the problem instead of making it one of ours part personal history and part reasoned deconstruction But the conclusion I reach about religion does not amount to an advocacy of atheism Although the monotheistic God is discounted as a manmade thing one used to control us I also argue against the godless scientism of Richard Dawkins The God Delusion Sam Harris Letter to a Christian Nation and Christopher Hitchens God is Not Great In fact I argue against this limited perception of human being as a random function of extraneous forces in favor of a more profound participation of humans in reality leading to a profound spiritual transformation on the part of individuals and eventually all of humanity I also argue for a kind of pandemic version of the dramatic wake up effect Eckart Tolle's concept from A New Earth I experienced when my mother died The human race indeed the very planet is going through extraordinary changes all cause for great alarm among the monotheists as the beginning of the end I insist in Is This the Best God Could Do that on the contrary our situation is karmically inevitable and the dire straits in which we find ourselves an invitation to spiritual growth and thereby a renewal of civilization I also call for those born to relative wealth the American populace in general but also most of the Western world to accept responsibility for charting the way forward because it is easier to evolve beyond the traditional notions of religion when one's belly is full and one is warm and dry But Is

This the Best God Could Do is not just a polemic about the medieval grip of fundamentalism that holds humans back from the self awareness necessary to find a way forward through the difficulties of history to an enlightened way of life the book also charts the path I offer guidance to the reader for achieving the kind of awareness that allows them to hear God s voice and to participate in the world as an active agent instead of being just a passive believer to understand the magnitude of our spiritual reality Although my book is utterly unique in its mixture of elements the strident debunking of monotheism the hopeful recognition of the bigness of humans as spiritual beings to stand in opposition to the smallness of fear and guilt a hope filled recipe for saving us from ourselves and memoir

My Life as a Cowboy Cowpie Bill Myers,2001-05-06 Once again our part time hereo and full time walking disaster area finds himself smack dab in another misadventure This time it s full of dude ranch disasters bungling bronco busters and the world s biggest cow and well let s just say it s not a pretty picture or a pleasant smelling one Through all this Wally learns the importance of following God s command to always forgive one another

Creatural Fictions David Herman,2016-04-08 This volume explores how twentieth and twenty first century literary texts engage with relationships between humans and other animals Written by forward thinking early career scholars as well as established experts in the field the chapters discuss key texts in the emergent canon of animal narratives including Franz Kafka s animal stories Yann Martel s The Life of Pi Zakes Mda s The Whale Caller and others The volume is divided into four main sections Two period focused sections center on modernism and on late twentieth and twenty first century fiction while two further sections foreground the more general project of theory building in literary animal studies examining interconnections among concepts of species sexuality gender and genre The volume also raises issues that extend beyond the academic community including ethical dimensions of human animal relationships and the problems of species loss and diminishing biodiversity
