A New Heaven and a New Earth Dave Mathewson, 2003-05-01. In this book, the author attempts to move beyond merely identifying and substantiating OT allusions in Revelation to considering how the presence of OT allusions and echoes affects reading Rev 21:1-22:5 and how the OT functions within the context of the entire work. The author concludes that a variety of semantic effects are evoked by the author's continuous intertextual appeal to the OT: new creation, new exodus, new Jerusalem, new covenant, bridge, new temple, priesthood, paradise restored, and renewed inclusion of the nations' prophetic legitimization. The numerous allusions function to shape the reader's perception of eschatological hope.

Afterlives of Letters Satoru Hashimoto, 2023-10-24 Honorable Mention 2024 Aldo and Jeanne Scaglione Prize for East Asian Studies Modern Language Association. When East Asia opened itself to the world in the nineteenth century, Chinese, Japanese, and Korean intellectuals had shared notions of literature because of the centuries-long cultural exchanges in the region. As modernization profoundly destabilized cultural norms, they ventured to create new literature for the new era. Satoru Hashimoto offers a novel way of understanding the origins of modern literature in a transregional context, drawing on Chinese, Japanese, and Korean language texts in both classical and vernacular forms. He argues that modern literature came into being in East Asia through writerly attempts at reconstructing the present's historical relationship to the past across the cultural transformations caused by modernization. Hashimoto examines writers' anachronistic engagement with past cultures deemed obsolete or antithetical to new systems of values, showing that this transnational process was integral to the emergence of modern literature. A groundbreaking cross-cultural excavation of the origins of modern literature in East Asia featuring remarkable linguistic scope. Afterlives of Letters bridges Asian studies and comparative literature and delivers a remapping of world literature I Became A Virtuous Wife and Loving Mother in another Cultivation World Jin Yuanbao, 2019-10-21 There are four kinds of people Rong Yi hates most in his life: gay children, trash, and sissy.
