William Percy's Mahomet and His Heaven Matthew Dimmock,2017-05-15 William Percy's Mahomet and His Heaven 1601 is extraordinary Not only is it the only early modern play purportedly based upon the Qur'an but it is also the first to place the Prophet Muhammad on the stage While there existed a remarkable range of texts concerning Islamic characters and themes in Renaissance England from chronicles and pamphlets to popular drama the publication of this edition of Mahomet and His Heaven represents a major step forward in the study of Islam on the early modern stage Roughly contemporary with Shakespeare's Othello William Percy makes the remarkable and potentially highly provocative gesture of locating the Prophet as its central character presiding over an apocalyptic drought to chastise the sins of mankind The play takes place in around the mosques of Medina and the action mirrors early Christian translations of the Qur'an the Islamic holy text that was rarely available in England at the time Furthermore the play provides a fascinating insight into the way that Islamic characters were portrayed on the early modern stage containing as it does remarkably detailed stage directions stipulating for example that the Prophet wears all green and green his Turban and that his Angels are rainbow powdered Such details offer an entirely new perspective upon this aspect of early modern stagecraft Matthew Dimmock presents here the play in its entirety with a critical introduction which introduces some of its key themes and places it in a textual and social context A section of detailed explanatory scholarly notes follow the play containing a full translation of the short Latin sections and references to the many political and literary parallels This book should be required reading for historians literary scholars and students dealing with notions of race religion magic astrology and stagecraft in early modern England

The Watchers and the Nephilim: A Tale of Heaven's Rebellion and Earth's Ruin DR. PAUL CRAWFORD, 2025-08-01 Before the floodwaters surged before Noah ever lifted a hammer before giants stalked the earth there was a secret A rebellion not launched by man but by beings from heaven itself This novel is a retelling of that ancient story A story hinted at in Genesis 6 echoed in the Book of Enoch feared by the prophets and concealed for millennia beneath layers of myth and silence It is the tale of the Watchers angels once loyal to God who dared to cross a boundary no celestial being had crossed before They descended to Earth driven by desire cloaked in light but marked by a darkness that would corrupt the world From their forbidden union with human women came the Nephilim giants of renown destroyers of men abominations that devoured the earth and drenched it in blood This is a story of kingdoms built on human bones of secrets buried beneath sand and sea of a world so wicked that even God Himself wept and then washed it clean But it is also the story of Enoch a righteous man chosen to walk with God and bear witness to the fall of heaven's rebels It is the story of Noah a man chosen to survive when the world perished And it is the story of you and me for the echoes of the Watchers still ring in our world today As you turn these pages prepare to enter a realm where angels fall giants rise and the lines between myth and Scripture blur into something terrifyingly real Every chapter is grounded in the whispers of ancient texts canonical and forbidden alike but told as a vivid journey through imagination mystery and faith This is not just fiction It is a warning For as Jesus said As it was in the days of Noah so it will be at the coming of the Son of Man Welcome to the days of Noah Welcome to The Watchers and the Nephilim Dr Paul Crawford

A Taste of Heaven Larry R. Dick, 2002 Does the Bible tell us specifically what heaven will be like What will the new earth and the capital city New Jerusalem be like Is heaven a real physical place or just some kind of spiritual realm unlike anything on earth What will people look like in heaven What will we do forever and ever Will there be buildings families nations in heaven What language will we speak Where is heaven Will we see God there Find answers to these and over 300 questions you've always wanted to ask about Heaven This easy to read book is based on doctoral research but written for the layman to present a Biblical picture of what life in eternity will be like My hope is to bring new excitement and understanding to the average person in the pew as well as to the Bible scholar Perhaps it will even encourage those who do not believe everything in the Bible but do believe in a heaven Yes I believe the Bible tells us much about what Heaven will be like Eden the tabernacle the promised land the kingdom parables the millennial kingdom the church all paint a picture of eternity Many of the great themes and teachings of Scripture present at the very least a type or taste of what Heaven will be like Eye hath not seen nor ear heard neither have entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them that love him But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit 1 Cor 2 9 10 Life is short and full of troubles The good things of this world are so temporary They are but a taste of better eternal things to come Only those things which last forever are real and worthwhile But how can you look forward to something you know little about I hope this book will fill in some of those blanks for you encourage you to read God's Word and give you a taste of heaven

Understanding the Intersections of Race, Gender, and Gifted Education Nicole M. Joseph, 2020-06-01 This book seeks to understand the complexities of talented and high performing Black girls and women in STEM across the P 20 trajectory Analogously this volume aims to understand the intersections between giftedness its identification and racial gender and academic discipline identities The dearth of literature on this subject suggests that Black girls and women have unique experiences in gifted programming in large part because of factors associated with gifted programs in general Key factors affecting Black students and Black girls in particular are identification and underrepresentation These factors can be shaped by interlocking systems of racism classism gender bias and other forms of oppression Teachers in the P 12 educational system are the first identifiers for gifted programming and look for student characteristics such as natural leadership inquisitiveness and students desire to be in gifted programs Because many Black girls are stereotyped and teachers rarely have deep understanding of cultural differences Black girls are less likely to be identified for gifted programming More specifically Black girls lack of representation in gifted mathematics or STEM programs contradicts research that finds that girls reach several developmental advantages ahead of boys For example research has shown that girls talk and read earlier receive higher grades in elementary school and drop out less often than boys Other studies have also shown that Black girls have higher mathematics career aspirations than their White and Latina female peers yet they are rarely represented in gifted math and Advanced Placement AP math programs Furthermore the underrepresentation of urban low income African American students in gifted education is related to low test scores student and family choice a lack of teacher referral and a mismatch between home and school cultures Some high performing Black girls and women are participating in programs that nurture and support their racial and gender identities and contribute to them developing into strong and efficacious girls and women who have agency in their lives This anthology includes studies that illustrate the complexities of intersectionality in various STEM programs while also demonstrating that increasing access to STEM for Black girls and women is doable
