

Wind

Written by Antonie De Jong

Illustration by Flora

God is like the wind
You can't see him but

You feel it in your face
Your hair your everything

He moves you when you
Least expect it and then

You don't see a thing
Just a feeling from within

And then you ask yourself
Is this a dream or am I

Getting closer to Him
I guess He's like the wind

The rainbow the sun the stars
The moon and everything therein!

Deighton farm [a poem]. Thomas Bradfield,1872 Dickinson and the Boundaries of Feminist Theory Mary Loeffelholz,1991 Poetry written by the gifted recluse Emily Dickinson has remained fresh and enigmatic for longer than works by her male Transcendentalist counterparts Here Mary Loeffelholz reads Dickinson s poetry and career in the double context of nineteenth century literary tradition and twentieth century feminist literary theory Mary Loeffelholz has written a book that actually performs what it promises It illuminates our understanding of Emily Dickinson with readings both elegant and useful and as importantly suggests modified direction for feminist psychoanalytic theory Diana Hume George author of Oedipus Anne The Poetry of Anne Sexton Sea Moon Poem Shapes Melody Lemond,2014-11-07 The feeling of mounting anticipation as one steps onto to the stage to dance is indescribable All mundane concepts and concerns are left behind for a brief timeless spell to simply express and share all the joy and wonder availed to us beyond the veil of the material world It had never occurred to me that the written word could also have a similar effect Aside from several love poems and channeled writings I had not until fairly recently been aware of the fact that the medium of writing may also be a springboard for sharing where ones thoughts dreams aspirations and soul intentions can find a foothold in reality not until I inadvertently stumbled upon a veritable community of poets on social media To know that I could allow my thoughts to take shape in forms not traditionally acceptable was gratifying to say the least With the writing of each of these poem shapes in Sea Moon I felt as though I had stepped like the dancer at heart that I am and perhaps we all are into a welcoming forum of word wielders Its not without the support of other poets therefore that Im propelled here to embrace my direction one whose ultimate goal is to touch people on as wide a scale as possible by simply conveying ideas that might strike melodious chords I speak my truth here in the knowledge that many of the like minded will welcome my organically honed word shapes call it poetry or not and resonate with them I believe in the transformative power of all forms of art If writing be an art form then let us step lightly into this sanctioned art space as both writer and reader as performer and audience and respecting fully its ever changing boundaries allow the symbolism the beauty of words as M Marceau put it to penetrate our receptive orbs and have their essence filter through and transform our whole beings It is with a deep seated desire to touch and to share that I offer you my words as structured here in the hope that even a single resonate note will be struck perhaps to reverberate Beyond hope I trust and know that we are ready for fresh waves of color to wash over us to cleanse nourish and transform us so that we might all actually be the dancers at heart that we truly are Enjoy The life and death of Jason, a poem William Morris,1868

Our Twentieth Century's Greatest Poems John Campbell,1982 Dauber: A Poem John Masfield,2019-12-19 In Dauber A Poem John Masfield delves into the complexities of artistic creation through the poignant journey of a young artist grappling with aspiration and disillusionment Employing a lyrical and evocative style Masfield interlaces rich imagery with rhythmic verse effectively capturing the emotional turbulence of the creative process Set against an early 20th century backdrop the poem reflects the tensions between societal expectations and the raw unrefined impulses of artistic expression contributing to the broader literary movement that championed modernist themes of individual experience John Masfield a prominent English poet and novelist often drew inspiration from his own experiences as a sailor and his lifelong fascination with the sea The themes of longing loss and the search for meaning in a tumultuous world permeate his work His exposure to the artistic circles of London and his struggles with his identity undoubtedly influenced Dauber allowing him to poignantly articulate the inner conflicts faced by artists striving to establish their voice amidst an often indifferent society For readers who appreciate the profound insights of the artistic psyche Dauber A Poem offers a compelling exploration of creativity and ambition Masfield's masterful use of language and emotional depth makes this work a must read for those interested in the intersection of art identity and the human experience In this enriched edition we have carefully created added value for your reading experience A succinct Introduction situates the work's timeless appeal and themes The Synopsis outlines the central plot highlighting key developments without spoiling critical twists A detailed Historical Context immerses you in the era's events and influences that shaped the writing A thorough Analysis dissects symbols motifs and character arcs to unearth underlying meanings Reflection questions prompt you to engage personally with the work's messages connecting them to modern life Hand picked Memorable Quotes shine a spotlight on moments of literary brilliance Interactive footnotes clarify unusual references historical allusions and archaic phrases for an effortless more informed read The Earthly Paradise. A Poem William Morris,2025-07-10 Reprint of the original first published in 1881 The Antigonos publishing house specialises in the publication of reprints of historical books We make sure that these works are made available to the public in good condition in order to preserve their cultural heritage The Dream of the Poem,2009-01-10 Hebrew culture experienced a renewal in medieval Spain that produced what is arguably the most powerful body of Jewish poetry written since the Bible Fusing elements of East and West Arabic and Hebrew and the particular and the universal this verse embodies an extraordinary sensuality and intense faith that transcend the limits of language place and time Peter Cole's translations reveal this remarkable poetic world to English readers in all of its richness humor grace gravity and wisdom The Dream of the Poem traces the arc of the entire period presenting some four hundred poems by fifty four poets and including a panoramic historical introduction short biographies of each poet and extensive notes The original Hebrew texts are available on the Princeton University Press Web site By far the most potent and comprehensive gathering of medieval Hebrew poems ever assembled in English Cole s anthology builds on what poet and translator Richard Howard has described as the finest labor of poetic translation that I have seen in many years and an entire revelation a body of lyric and didactic verse so intense so intelligent and so vivid that it appears to identify a whole dimension of historical consciousness previously unavailable to us The Dream of the Poem is Howard says a crowning achievement
