Helen Fieldings Bridget Jones's Diary A Readers Guide:

Helen Fielding's Bridget Jones's Diary Imelda Whelehan, 2002-06-26 This is an excellent guide to Helen Fielding's genre defining novel. It features a biography of the author, a full length analysis of the novel and a great deal more. If you're studying this novel, reading it for your book club or if you simply want to know more about it, you'll find this guide informative and helpful. This is part of a new series of guides to contemporary novels. The aim of the series is to give readers accessible and informative introductions to some of the most popular, most acclaimed and most influential novels of recent years from The Remains of the Day to White Teeth. A team of contemporary fiction scholars from both sides of the Atlantic has been assembled to provide a thorough and readable analysis of each of the novels in question. Bridget Jones's Diary Helen Fielding, 2001 Chronicles a year in the life of Bridget Jones, a single thirtysomething woman on a perpetual quest for self improvement as she struggles to cope with relationships, weight control and the other baffling complexities of modern life.

Reading Lena Dunham's Girls Meredith Nash, Imelda Whelehan, 2017-06-23 In this book, leading and emerging scholars consider the mixed critical responses to Lena Dunham's TV series Girls and reflect on its significance to contemporary debates about postfeminist popular cultures in a post recession context. The series features both familiar and innovative depictions of young women and men in contemporary America that invite comparisons with Sex and the City. It aims for a refreshed, authentic expression of postfeminist femininity that eschews the glamour and aspirational fantasies spawned by its predecessor. This volume reviews the contemporary scholarship on Girls from its representation of post millennial gender politics to depictions of the messiness and imperfections of sex, embodiment and social interactions. Topics covered include Dunham's privileged role as author, auteur, actor, sexuality, body consciousness, millennial gender identities, the politics of representation, neoliberalism and post recession society. This book provides diverse and provocative critical responses to the show and to wider social and media contexts and contributes to a new generation of feminist scholarship with a powerful concluding reflection from Rosalind Gill. It will appeal to those interested in feminist theory, identity politics, popular culture and media. The Readers' Advisory Guide to Genre Fiction Joyce G. Saricks, 2001 Covering fifteen popular genres, each chapter includes a definition of the genre, its characteristics and appeal elements such as character development, story line and frame, and its key authors and subgenres.

Contemporary Women Writers Look Back Alice Ridout, 2011-01-13 Long before John Barth announced in his famous 1967 essay that late 20th century fiction was The Literature of Exhaustion, authors have been retelling and recycling stories. Barth was however right to identify in postmodern fiction a particular self consciousness about its belatedness at the end of a long literary tradition. This book traces the move in contemporary women's writing from the self conscious ironic parodies of postmodernism to the nostalgic and historical turn of the 21st century. It analyses how contemporary women writers deal with their literary inheritances, offering an illuminating and provocative study of contemporary women writers' rewritings of previous texts and stories. Through close readings of novels by key contemporary women writers including Toni Morrison Doris Lessing Margaret Atwood Zadie Smith Emma Tennant and Helen Fielding and of the ITV adaptation Lost in Austen Alice Ridout examines the politics of parody and nostalgia exploring the limitations and possibilities of both in the contexts of feminism and postcolonialism

Literary Intermediality

Maddalena Pennacchia Punzi, 2007 The increasing transfer of literary texts and of related writing reading processes from the printed page to analog and digital media and vice versa is the phenomenon under investigation in this book for which the term literary intermediality has been coined Literature is in transit i e travelling incessantly through mass media personal media and the internet with crucial effects both on the ways it is perceived by younger generations of users and on the ways it is devised by contemporary authors The literary text far from being restricted to printed media keeps moving across the whole media circuit thus acquiring at any stage a new temporary identity Based on the seminar Intermediality and Literary Practices at the 7th ESSE Conference in 2004 the essays of this collection by scholars from both sides of the Atlantic focus on the seminar's common topics cinema theatre postmodernism and new critical issues

Narratives of Community Roxanne Harde, 2009-03-26 Narratives of Community draws together essays that examine short story sequences by women through the lenses of Sandra Zagarell's theoretical essay Narrative of Community Reading texts from countries around the world the collection's twenty two contributors expand scholarship on the genre as they employ diverse theoretical models to consider how female identity is negotiated in community or the roles of women in domestic social and literary community Grouped into four sections based on these examinations the essays demonstrate how Zagarell's theory can provide a point of reference for multiple approaches to women's writing as they read the semiotic systems of community While narrative of community provides an organizing principle behind this collection these essays offer critical approaches grounded in a wide variety of disciplines Zagarell contributes the collection's concluding essay in which she provides a series of reflections on literary and cultural representations of community on generic categorizations of community and on regionalism and narrative of community as she returns to theoretical ground she first broke almost twenty years ago Overall these essays bring their contributors and readers into a community engaged with a narrative genre that inspires and affords a rich and growing tradition of scholarship With Narratives of Community editor Roxanne Harde offers a wealth of critical essays on a wide variety of women's linked series of short stories essays that can be seen overall to explore the genre as a kind of meeting house of fictional form and meaning for an inclusive sororal community The book itself joins a growing critical community of monographs and essay collections that have been critically documenting the rise of the modern genre of the story cycle to a place second only to the novel But more than simply joining this critical venture Narratives of Community makes a major contribution to studies in the short story feminist theory women's studies and genre theory Its introduction and essays should prove of enduring interest to scholars and critics in these fields as well as continue highly useful in the undergraduate and graduate classrooms Gerald Lynch Professor of English University of Ottawa The introduction by Prof Harde and the 20 essays in the book dialogue with Sandra Zagarell's proposed paradigm narratives of community which other scholars have called short story cycles or story sequences Zagarell's proposal organically blends a generic model with a thematic concern to explain how women writing community often turn to a particular narrative style that itself supports the literary creation of that community Harde and the volume contributors appropriate this brilliant and engaging proposal in the context of other crucial discussions of the genre notably Forest Ingram's germinal study J. Gerald Kennedy's work and those by Robert Luscher Maggie Dunn and Anne Morris James Nagel Gerald Lynch and I'm honored to note my own study on Asian American short story cycles to expand the range of the critical discussion on the form The quality and diversity of the essays remind us that there is still much work that can be done in the area of genre studies The volume emphasizes an important caveat to one vital misconception that although writers like James Joyce or Sherwood Anderson are thought to be the precursors or even inventors of the form women's sequences by Sara Orne Jewett and Elizabeth Gaskell among others actually predate the work of the male writers This fact suggests that the development of the form as a genre that attends to specific perspectives or creative formulations of and by women needs to be considered in depth The temporal scope of the volume is therefore a vital contribution to scholarship on the form as is the diversity of the writers analyzed Indeed the examination of narratives by writers from different countries and that focus on characters from different time periods racial religious or ethnic communities and social class impels a multilayered reading of the texts that inevitably promotes a nuanced understanding of the project of each of the writers a project that connects issues of individuality and community in varied and often surprising ways The essays thus critically explore the notion of community in its myriad associations with the individual and as a crucial site not only for women's action upon the world but also for her creative endeavors The essays in the volume revisit familiar texts Naylor's The Women of Brewster Place Cisneros's The House on Mango Street Kingston's The Woman Warrior Welty's The Golden Apples Munro's The Lives of Girls and Women among others but offer new perspectives on the way form interacts with issues of women's communities and women creating community in these works Significantly it also offers readings on texts that have not been analyzed in detail from this perspective Gaskell's Cranford or Woolf's A Haunted House for example thus contributing to a continuing conversation about the ways women write The juxtaposition of the familiar and the new expand the paradigms of current criticism not only on the story cycle but also on women's writing in general Rocio Davis Professor of Literature University of Navarre Roxanne Harde's forthcoming volume Narratives of Community Women's Short Story Sequences provides an abundant collection of varied responses to Sandra Zagarell's longstanding call for further in depth exploration of the genre that Zagarell christened the narrative of community in her 1988 essay linking non novelistic narrative form with representations of female experience As Harde observes such narratives of community overlap significantly with the growing canon of unified but discontinuous collections of autonomous stories that critics have variously labeled as the short story cycle sequence composite The essays in her collection examine a rich variety of such works by women extending the scholarship in this area Harde s ample collection of essays presents a concerted and diverse exploration of the implications of the short story sequence form as a representation of women s lives as part of and in conflict with membership in a community Overall Harde s volume is a welcome addition to current scholarship on the short story sequence bringing in a variety of new voices and perspectives to the community of scholars who have engaged in the exploration of this paradoxical evolving and increasingly popular genre Dr Luscher Contemporary British Women Writers Emma Parker,2004 Essays illustrating the range and diversity of post 1970 British women writers Despite the enduring popularity of contemporary women s writing British women writers have received scant critical attention They tend to be overshadowed by their American counterparts in the media and have come to be represented within the academy almost exclusively by Angela Carter and Jeanette Winterson This collection celebrates the range and diversity of contemporary post 1970 British women writers It challenges misconceptions about the natureand scope of fiction by women writers working in Britain commonly dismissed as parochial insular dreary and domestic and seeks to expand conventional definitions of British by exploring how issues of nationality intersectwith gender class race and sexuality Writers covered include Pat Barker A L Kennedy Maggie Gee Rukhsana Ahmad Joan Riley Jennifer Johnston Ellen Galford Susan Hill Fay Weldon Emma Tennant and Helen Fielding Contributors DAVID ELLIS CLARE HANSON MAROULA JOANNOU PAULINA PALMER EMMA PARKER FELICITY ROSSLYN CHRISTIANE SCHLOTE JOHN SEARS ELUNED SUMMERS BREMNER IMELDA WHELEHAN GINA WISKER Reading Women Nanci Milone Hill,2012-03-07 An indispensable guide for anyone who runs or participates in a book group this title provides the structure and fun facts needed to examine the genre of women s fiction Women s fiction covers numerous topics of importance in the lives of women friendship love personal growth and familial relationships For this reason the genre is a hotbed of engaging subjects for book group discussions Reading Women A Book Club Guide for Women s Fiction brings together information on over 100 women s fiction titles providing everything a book group needs to encourage focused stimulating meetings Reading Women marshals information that has been up to this point either nonexistent or scattered in book club guides Readers will learn the difference between women s fiction romance and chick lit as well as why these genres provide a rich trove of discussion topics for book groups Specific entries cover titles from all three genres offering an author biography a book summary bibliographic material discussion questions and read alike information for each book An additional 50 titles suitable for book group discussions are listed with brief summaries The Cambridge Companion to Literature on Screen Deborah Cartmell,Imelda Whelehan,2007-05-10 This Companion offers a multi disciplinary approach to literature on film and television Writers are drawn from different backgrounds to consider broad topics such as the issue of adaptation from novels and plays to the screen canonical and popular literature fantasy genre and adaptations for children There are also case studies such as Shakespeare Jane Austen the nineteenth century novel and modernism which allow the reader to place adaptations of the work of writers within a wider context An interview
