Vanguard Performance Beyond Left and Right Kimberly Jannarone, 2015-11-06 Vanguard Performance Beyond Left and Right challenges assumptions regarding radical and experimental performance that have long dominated thinking about the avant garde The book brings to light vanguard performances rarely discussed those that support totalitarian regimes promote conservative values or have been effectively snapped up by right wing regimes the performances intended to oppose In so doing the volume explores a central paradox how innovative performances that challenge oppressive power structures can also be deployed in deliberate passionate support of oppressive power Essays by leading international scholars pose engaging questions about the historical avant garde vanguard acts and the complex role of artistic innovation and live performance in global politics Focusing on performances that work against progressive and democratic ideas including scripted drama staged suicide choral dance terrorism rallies and espionage the book demonstrates how many compelling performance ideals unification exaltation immersion are in themselves neither moral nor immoral they are only emotional and aesthetic urges that can be powerfully channeled into a variety of social and political outlets Performance, Cognitive Theory, and Devotional Culture J. Stevenson, 2010-05-24 In Performance Cognitive Theory and Devotional Culture Jill Stevenson uses cognitive theory to explore the layperson's physical encounter with live religious performances and to argue that laypeople's interactions with other devotional media such as books and art objects may also have functioned like performance events By revealing the remarkable resonance between cognitive science and medieval visual theories Stevenson demonstrates how understanding medieval culture can enrich the study of performance generally She concludes by applying her theories of medieval performance culture to contemporary religious forms including creationist museums Hell Houses and megachurches The Advocate, 2002-07-23 The Advocate is a lesbian gay bisexual transgender LGBT monthly newsmagazine Established in 1967 it is the oldest continuing LGBT publication in the United States Men with stakes Julia Wright, 2016-01-01 Moves beyond a focus on gothic machinery and adaptations of literary gothic to consider television gothic in light of recent scholarship on the mode itself Ghosts in Popular Culture and Legend June Michele Pulliam, Anthony J. examples of activist performance broadly defined as acts performed before an audience in the hopes of changing hearts and minds Most writing about activist performance has focused on left progressive causes events and actors Preaching to Convert argues against such a constricted view of activism and for a more nuanced understanding of U S evangelicalism as a movement defined by its desire to win converts and spread the gospel The book positions evangelicals as a diverse complicated group confronting the loss of conservative Christianity s default status in 21st century U S culture In the face of an increasingly secular age evangelicals have been reassessing models of outreach In acts like handing out Bible tracts to strangers on the street or going door to door with a Bible in hand in elaborately staged horror themed morality plays or multimillion dollar creationist discovery centers in megachurch services beamed to dozens of satellite campuses and in controversial ex gay ministries striving to return gays and lesbians to the straight and narrow evangelicals are redefining what it means to be deeply committed in a pluralist world The book s engaging style and careful argumentation make it accessible and appealing to scholars and students across a range of fields

Theatre and the Macabre Meredith Conti, Kevin J. Wetmore, Jr., 2022-03-01 The macabre as a process and product has been haunting the theatre and more broadly performance for thousands of years In its embodied meditations on death and dying its thematic and aesthetic grotesquerie and its sensory rich environments macabre theatre invites artists and audiences to trace the stranger darker contours of human existence In this volume numerous scholars explore the morbid and gruesome onstage from freak shows to the French Grand Guignol from Hell Houses to German Trauerspiel from immersive theatre to dark tourism stopping along the way to look at phantoms severed heads dark rides haunted mothers and haunting children dances of death and dismembered bodies From Japan to Australia to England to the United States the global macabre is framed and juxtaposed to understand how the theatre brings us face to face with the deathly and the horrific

U.S. Militarism and the Terrain of Memory John Bechtold, 2024-08-01 This book analyzes how the Iraqi city of Fallujah became registered as a setting for military heroics in American memory In 2004 the U S military conducted two disastrous assaults in Fallujah Iraq More than 1 000 citizens were killed and according to the military's own estimate upwards of 200 000 people were displaced because of the violence. Yet despite this human catastrophe the kind of information that emerged in the public domain during the battle foregrounded the soldier's experience in war while effacing the destruction of Iraqi bodies. This tendency to foreground the soldier body is a direct result of the military's intervention in what they conceptualize as the information environment. This book draws from the second assault in Fallujah as a case study to explicate the military's investment in this perspectival space which is a consequence both of the mediatization of contemporary war and of the need to influence knowledge considered unfavorable to military operations. In short the military enlists the media in their targeting process to produce information that is then deployed as persuasive force to modify the beliefs of specific target populations. When the cultural texts produced by the media are remediated in the public domain after war they can be thought of as martial constructs because they originated during war through the military's systemized attempt to influence knowledge. That is these texts trace to a specific battlefield objective. This book reframes the notion of propaganda as a generalized public relations strategy into a more acute and coordinated attempt to decontextualize specific knowledge in the information environment. This book will be of much interest to students of media and communication studies, war studies, memory studies and international relations.
