Fischer's Dynamic Skill Theory this book examines what an integrated theory of psychological development might look like Bringing together the work of prominent integrative thinkers the volume begins with an examination of philosophical presuppositions of integrative approaches to development It then shows how Dynamic Skill Theory provides an example of an integrative model of development After examining the question of the nature of integrative developmental methodology the volume examines the nature of developmental change processes as well as pathways and processes in the development of psychological structures both within and between psychological domains The team of expert contributors cover a range of psychological domains including the macro and micro development of thought feeling motivation self intersubjectivity social relations personality and other integrative processes It ends with a set of prescriptions for the further elaboration of integrative developmental theory and a tribute to Kurt Fischer and his influence on developmental psychology This book will be essential reading for graduate students and researchers of developmental psychology and human development specifically developmental science
