Handbook of Fluid Sealing Robert V. Brink, Daniel E. Czernik, Leslie A. Horve, 1993 A reference on the design application testing and manufacture of seals and gaskets for static and dynamic fluid sealing It examines state of the art practices in materials selection test techniques instrumentation developments and mathematical tools for making informed sealing decisions Elastomeric Seals Standards Australia Limited, 2008 Fluid Sealing Technology Muller, 1998-07-08 Assists users developers researchers and manufacturers in the design selection development and application of seals and sealing systems for fluids Rubber Seals for Fluid and Hydraulic Systems Chellappa Chandrasekaran, 2009-11-09 Rubber Seals for Fluid and Hydraulic Systems is a comprehensive guide to the manufacturing and applications of rubber seals with essential coverage for industry sectors including aviation oil drilling and the automotive industry Fluid leakage costs industry millions of dollars every year In addition to wasted money unattended leaks can result in downtime affect product quality pollute the environment and cause injury Successful sealing involves containment of fluid within a system while excluding the contaminants the resilience of rubber enables it to be used to achieve these two objectives and create a tight sealing effect A sound understanding of the complex factors involved in successful fluid sealing is essential for engineers who specify design operate and maintain machinery and mechanical equipment This book focuses on the characteristics of rubbers as seals their manufacturing procedures the implications of their physical and chemical characteristics for the sealing function in the fluid and hydraulic systems how rubbers seal and prevent leaks what properties are required for sealing function and how they change before and after installation The chapter on Manufacture of Seals and O Rings includes approximately 25 workable starting point formulations based on different rubbers with cure and property data of those formulations as guidelines for technologists and engineers Emphasis on important areas such as applications of rubber as fluid seals in the nuclear aviation oil drilling and automotive industries Includes a chapter on Rubber Expansion Joints as the function of such expansion joints as pipe connectors is indirectly linked with leakage and prevention of fluid flow through the pipes The chapter on Manufacture of Seals and O Rings includes approx 25 workable starting point formulations based on different rubbers with cure and property data of those formulations as guidelines for technologists and engineers

Packaging and Identification of Molded Elastomeric Seals and Sealing Components AMS CE Elastomers Committee, 2022 This specification covers procedures which will provide protection of elastomeric seals and seal assemblies such as O rings cap seal assemblies and other designs from contamination by foreign materials and handling transportation storage damage prior to installation and ensure positive identification by part number of each piece until it is installed Document was updated for Five Year Review and labeling requirements were clarified AMS2817G has been reaffirmed to comply with the SAE Five Year Review policy

Development of Improved Gaskets, Sealants and Cables for Use in Geothermal Well Logging Equipment S. Schwartz, D. I. Basiulis, 1978 Work is presented on materials which could be used for fabricating elastomeric seals for geothermal well logging equipment A literature search was made to obtain data on carborane siloxane polymers synthesis routes for fluorinated elastomers and high temperature hydrolytic stability tests of elastomers Information was obtained on the first two topics but very little was available on hydrolysis testing A number of compounds based on carbonane siloxane were formulated and cured Compression set hardness and shrinkage tests with post cure variations were made on the most promising formulations Hydrolytic stability tests at 275 sup 0 C 525 sup 0 F and 830 psi and thermodynamic calculations indicated that the carborane and the siloxane bonds were easily broken after short exposure periods Work on this polymer was therefore discontinued Synthetic efforts to produce a perfluorinated elastomer are still continuing A second elastomer Fasil not in the original proposal based on a fluorinated siloxane was also synthesized A gum stock was prepared and subjected to the hydrolytic stability test Extensive deterioration was observed after a short period of time Work was discontinued on this polymer Additional hydrolysis tests were run on other promising polymers These included polyphenylene oxide polyphenylene sulfide and pentaphenyl oxide Good resistance was shown by the phenylene oxides and the polyphenylene sulfide
