

FIGURATIVE LANGUAGE

Simile

A simile is a type of figurative language which is used to compare one thing against another. Similes compare the likeness of two things and often feature the words 'like' or 'as': "As strong as an ox/ As brave as a lion."

Metaphor

A metaphor is a phrase describing something as something it is not in reality. It is used to compare two things symbolically. A metaphor literally describes something as something it is not. "Love is a battlefield"

Oxymoron

An oxymoron is a term which features two words which appear to contradict each other but make sense of the situation overall.

- For example: That woman is pretty ugly.

Hyperbole

A hyperbole is a figure of speech which exaggerates the meaning of a sentence.

- For example: My granddad is as old as time.

The Cradle of Culture and What Children Know About Writing and Numbers Before Being Liliana Tolchinsky,2003-02-26 This book provides a thrilling description of preliterate children s developing ideas about writing and numerals and it illustrates well the many ways in which cultural artifacts influence the mind and vice versa Remarkably children treat writing and numerals as distinct even before they have received any formal training on the topic and well before they learn how to use writing to represent messages and numerals to represent quantities In this revolutionary new book Liliana Tolchinsky argues that preliterate children s experiences with writing and numerals play an essential and previously unsuspected role in children s subsequent development In this view learning notations such as writing is not just a matter of acquiring new instruments for communicating existing knowledge Rather there is a continual interaction between children s understanding of the features of a notational system and their understanding of the corresponding domain of knowledge The acquisition of an alphabetic writing system transforms children s view of language and the acquisition of a formal system of enumeration transforms
