Elections And Ethnicity In French Martinique A Paradox In Paradise:

Elections and Ethnicity in French Martinique William F. S. Miles, 1986 Seeking Imperialism's Embrace Kristen Stromberg Childers, 2016-09-01 In 1946 at a time when other French colonies were just beginning to break free of French imperial control the people of the French Antilles the Caribbean islands of Martinique and Guadeloupe voted to join the French nation as departments D partments d outre mer or DOMs Eschewing independence in favor of complete integration with the metropole the people of the French Antilles affirmed their Frenchness in an important decision that would define their citizenship and shape their politics for decades to come For Antilleans this novel path was the natural culmination of a centuries long quest for recognition of their equality with the French and a means of overcoming the entrenched political and economic power of the islands white minority Disappointment with departmentalization quickly set in Kristen Stromberg Childers shows in this work as the promised equality was slow in coming and Antillean contributions to World War II went unrecognized Champions of departmentalization such as Aim C saire argued that the race blind Republic was far from universal and egalitarian The French government struggled to stem unrest through economic development tourism and immigration to the metropole where labor was in short supply Antilleans fought against racial and gender stereotypes imposed on them by European French and sought to stem the tide of white metropolitan workers arriving in the Antilles Although departmentalization has been criticized as a weak alternative to national independence it was overwhelmingly popular among Antilleans at the time of the vote and subsequent disappointment reflects the broken promises of assimilation more than the misguided nature of the decision Contrasting with the wars of decolonization in Algeria and Vietnam Seeking Imperialism s Embrace examines the Antilleans more peaceful but perhaps equally vexing process of forging a national identity in the French empire Black French Women and the Struggle for Equality, 1848-2016 Félix

Germain, Silyane Larcher, 2018-10-01 Black French Women and the Struggle for Equality 1848 2016 explores how black women in France itself the French Caribbean Gor e Dakar Rufisque and Saint Louis experienced and reacted to French colonialism and how gendered readings of colonization decolonization and social movements cast new light on the history of French colonization and of black France In addition to delineating the powerful contributions of black French women in the struggle for equality contributors also look at the experiences of African American women in Paris and in so doing integrate into colonial and postcolonial conversations the strategies black women have engaged in negotiating gender and race relations la fran aise Drawing on research by scholars from different disciplinary backgrounds and countries this collection offers a fresh multidimensional perspective on race class and gender relations in France and its former colonies exploring how black women have negotiated the boundaries of patriarchy and racism from their emancipation from slavery to the second decade of the twenty first century The Construction and Representation of Race and Ethnicity in the Caribbean and the World Mervyn C. Alleyne, 2002 French Urbanism in Foreign Lands Ambe J. Njoh, 2015-12-10 This book will seek
