Elephant Memories Thirteen Years In The Life Of An Elephant Family:

Elephant Memories Cynthia Moss, 2000 Cynthia Moss has studied the elephants in Kenya's Amboseli National Park for over twenty seven years Her long term research has revealed much of what we now know about these complex and intelligent animals Here she chronicles the lives of the members of the T families led by matriarchs Teresia Slit Ear Torn Ear Tania and Tuskless With a new afterword catching up on the families and covering current conservation issues Moss's story will continue to fascinate animal lovers One is soon swept away by this Babar for adults By the end one even begins to feel an aversion for people One wants to curse human civilization and cry out Now God stand up for the elephants Christopher Lehmann Haupt New York Times Moss speaks to the general reader with charm as well as scientific authority An elegantly written and ingeniously structured account Raymond Sokolov Wall Street Journal Moss tells the story in a style so conversational that I felt like a privileged visitor riding beside her in her rickety Land Rover as she showed me around the park Sarah Blaffer Hrdy New York Times Book Review A prose poem celebrating a species from which we could learn some moral as well as zoological lessons Chicago Tribune

Touching Space, Placing Touch Mark Paterson, Martin Dodge, 2016-02-24 Given that touch and touching is so central to everyday embodied existence why has it been largely ignored by social scientists for so long What is the place of touch in our mixed spaces of sociality work domesticity recreation creativity or care What conceptual resources and academic languages can we reach towards when approaching tactile activities and somatic experiences through the body How is this tactile landscape gendered How is touch becoming revisited and revalidated in late capitalism through animal encounters tourism massage beauty treatments professional medicine everyday spiritualities or the aseptic touch free spaces of automated toilets How is touch placed and valued within scholarly fieldwork and research itself integral as it is to the production of embodied epistemologies How is touch involved in such aesthetic experiences as shaping objects in sand or encountering fleshly bodies within a painting The goal of this edited collection Touching Space Placing Touch is twofold 1 To further advance theoretical and empirical understanding of touch in social science scholarship by focussing on the differential social and cultural meanings of touching and the places of touch 2 To develop a multi faceted and interdisciplinary explanations of touch in terms of individual and social life personal experiences and tasks and their related cultural contexts The twelve essays in this volume provide a rich combination of theoretical resources methodological approaches and empirical investigation Each chapter takes a distinct aspect of touch within a particular spatial context exploring this through a mixture of sustained empirical work critical theories of embodiment philosophical and psychoanalytic approaches to gendered touch and touching or the relationship between visual and non visual culture to articulate something of the variety and variability of touching experiences The contributors are a mixture of established and emerging researchers within a growing interdisciplinary field of scholarship yet the volume has a strong thematic identity and therefore represents the formative collection concerning the multiple senses of touch within social science scholarship at this time Animals and Nature Rod Preece,2011-11-01 No one tradition alone offers a sufficient respect for other species Taken together they may offer a prospect for saner human animal relations From the book Western conceptions of objectivity and individuality have resulted in a readier appreciation of the worth of the animals and nature than has been recognized This provocative book takes issue with the popular view that the Western cultural tradition in contrast to Eastern and Aboriginal traditions has encouraged attitudes of domination and exploitation towards nature particularly animals Preece argues that the Western tradition has much to commend it and that descriptions of Aboriginal and Oriental orientations have often been misleadingly rosy simplified and codified according to current fashionable concepts Animals and Nature is the result of six years intensive study into comparative religion literature philosophy anthropology mythology and animal welfare science The Evolved Nest Darcia Narvaez, PhD,G. The Animal Manifesto Marc Bekoff, 2010 In this inspirational call to action Marc Bekoff the world s leading expert on animal emotions gently shows that improving our treatment of animals is a matter of rethinking our many daily decisions and expanding our compassion footprint He demonstrates that animals experience a rich range of emotions including empathy and compassion and that they clearly know right from wrong Driven by moral imperatives and pressing environmental realities Bekoff offers six compelling reasons for changing the way we treat animals whether they re in factory farms labs circuses or our vanishing wilderness The result is a well researched informative guide that will change animal and human lives for the better

Extraterrestrial Altruism Douglas A. Vakoch, 2013-09-14 Extraterrestrial Altruism examines a basic assumption of the Search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence SETI that extraterrestrials will be transmitting messages to us for our benefit This question of whether extraterrestrials will be altruistic has become increasingly important in recent years as SETI scientists have begun contemplating transmissions from Earth to make contact Technological civilizations that transmit signals for the benefit of others but with no immediate gain for themselves certainly seem to be altruistic But does this make biological sense Should we expect altruism to evolve throughout the cosmos or is this only wishful thinking Is it dangerous to send messages to other worlds as Stephen Hawking has suggested or might humankind benefit from an exchange with intelligence elsewhere in the galaxy Would extraterrestrial societies be based on different ethical principles or would we see commonalities with Earthly notions of morality Extraterrestrial Altruism explores these and related questions about the motivations of civilizations beyond Earth providing new insights that are critical for SETI Chapters are authored by leading scholars from diverse disciplines anthropology astronomy biology chemistry computer science cosmology engineering history of science law philosophy psychology public policy and sociology

The book is carefully edited by Douglas Vakoch Director of Interstellar Message Composition at the SETI Institute and professor of clinical psychology at the California Institute of Integral Studies The Foreword is by Frank Drake This interdisciplinary book will benefit everybody trying to understand whether evolution and ethics are unique to Earth or whether they are built into the fabric of the universe Evolutionary Perspectives on Social Psychology Virgil Zeigler-Hill, Lisa L. M. Welling, Todd K. Shackelford, 2015-05-06 This wide ranging collection demonstrates the continuing impact of evolutionary thinking on social psychology research This perspective is explored in the larger context of social psychology which is divisible into several major areas including social cognition the self attitudes and attitude change interpersonal processes mating and relationships violence and aggression health and psychological adjustment and individual differences Within these domains chapters offer evolutionary insights into salient topics such as social identity prosocial behavior conformity feminism cyberpsychology and war Together these authors make a rigorous argument for the further integration of the two diverse and sometimes conflicting disciplines Among the topics covered How social psychology can be more cognitive without being less social How the self esteem system functions to resolve important interpersonal dilemmas Shared interests of social psychology and cultural evolution The evolution of stereotypes An adaptive socio ecological perspective on social competition and bullying Evolutionary game theory and personality Evolutionary Perspectives on Social Psychology has much to offer students and faculty in both fields as well as evolutionary scientists outside of psychology This volume can be used as a primary text in graduate courses and as a supplementary text in various upper level undergraduate courses
