Deborah Crusan

Elements Of Writing Portfolio Assessment Second Course:

Assessment in the Second Language Writing Classroom Deborah Crusan, 2010-07 Assessment in the Second Language Writing Classroom is a teacher and prospective teacher friendly book uncomplicated by the language of statistics. The book is for those who teach and assess second language writing in several different contexts: the IEP, the developmental writing classroom and the sheltered composition classroom. In addition, teachers who experience a mixed population or teach cross-cultural composition will find the book a valuable resource. Other books have thoroughly covered the theoretical aspects of writing assessment, but none have focused as heavily as this book does on pragmatic classroom aspects of writing assessment. Further, no book to date has included an in-depth examination of the machine scoring of writing and its effects on second language writers. Crusan not only makes a compelling case for becoming knowledgeable about L2 writing assessment but offers the means to do so. Her highly accessible, thought-provoking presentation of the conceptual and practical dimensions of writing assessment, both for the classroom and on a larger scale, promises to engage readers who have previously found the technical detail of other works on assessment off-putting as well as those who have had no previous exposure to the study of assessment at all.

Projects in the Computing Curriculum Michael Holcombe, Andrew F. Stratton, Sally A. Fincher, Gary Griffiths, 2012-12-06 Dr Peter Milton, Director of Programme Review, Quality Assurance Agency. I am grateful to the authors for giving me the opportunity to write this foreword, mainly because it represents the first occasion that the Fund for the Development of Teaching and Learning (FDTL) has led directly to a publication such as this. In my former capacity as Director of Quality Assessment at the Higher Education Funding Council for England (HEFCE), I chaired the FDTL Committee during 1996-7 and am delighted to see the projects which were selected so painstakingly leading to successful outcomes. Assessment of the quality of higher education (HE) was introduced in 1993 and was intended to improve public information about what was on offer in British universities and colleges as well as to assist in the enhancement of educational opportunities for students. This was part of a larger agenda in which educational quality and the standards achieved by students have come under increasing scrutiny with a long-term objective of linking funding allocations to the quality of the provision. It was in this context that the FDTL Initiative was launched in 1995 to support projects aimed at stimulating developments in teaching and learning and to encourage the dissemination of good practice across the HE sector. Good practice is identified through the process of quality assessment and bids for funding can only be made by those institutions which have demonstrated high quality provision. To date, the programme includes 63 projects drawn from 23 subject areas.

Research on Classroom Ecologies Deborah L.

Speece, Barbara K. Keogh, 2013-04-03 Written during a period of reexamination and change in the field of special education this book was developed in order to provide a better understanding of the contexts in which children receive their formal education The movement toward the least restrictive environment for the education of children with disabilities is weathering a wave of reinterpretations including mainstreaming the regular education initiative and inclusion While each interpretation has its proponents and critics limited theory and few data are available to guide these important policy decisions Focusing specifically on classrooms the settings where educators can have the most immediate impact and where research is most needed this volume s goals are to establish what is known about classroom ecologies from both general and special education perspectives to integrate the perspectives of researchers and practitioners and to chart directions for further research specifically related to children with learning disabilities The construct of classroom ecology is defined as three interrelated domains instruction teacher and peer interaction and organization and management This scheme provides the structure for the book Taken as a whole the content of the volume underscores the limits of current knowledge and at the same time provides directions for needed changes in both research and practice

Intellectual Creativity in First-Year Composition Classes Heidi Wall Burns, Michael MacBride, 2016-10-12 Today s first year composition classrooms are largely reflective of the writing pedagogy that has been used for the last 200 years Unfortunately this methodology does not meet the research or writing needs of today s college and university students Burns and MacBride were determined to make their first year composition courses more relevant to their students and sought a way to revolutionize their syllabus to do so Building on the work of Tom

Romono Nancy Mack Camille Allen Sirpa Grierson Melinda Putz and others Burns and MacBride set out to determine if a multigenre research project could better teach their students research writing and critical thinking skills than a traditional research based essay The findings of their semester long study indicated that not only does a MGRP teach these skills but it far surpasses a traditional essay in teaching engagement intellectual creativity and transferable writing skills Burns and MacBride demonstrate two different ways to integrate a multigenre research project into the college composition classroom
