Inspiring the Secondary Curriculum with Technology James Shea, Antony Stockford, 2014-10-24 Are other teachers using technology in their lessons Are you letting your own students down by not harnessing the power of your students technology knowledge in your lessons Is your school asking you to show where you are developing ICT in your subject teaching Technology in your subject does not mean teaching databases spreadsheets or word processing Having technical knowledge is no longer sufficient or indeed necessary in today s world more important is the knowledge of how to advise and teach students to use technology efficiently and responsibly through their subject Students faced with a problem will need to hunt the internet for open source software download apps and respond to the problem using technology as a problem solving tool The scenarios are endless but can be generated by the teacher this could mean students publishing work through Amazon's Kindle or keeping a blog within a class wiki Teachers do not need to have technical knowledge rather they need knowledge of trends and opportunities They then need to blend their basic subject pedagogy within these new trends to contextualise ICT skills This book looks at pedagogical approaches to using technology in the classroom that will help you to harness future trends technology and software and embed them into your subject teaching Full of practical advice it illustrates how secondary teachers of any discipline can accelerate their students learning progress and ability within their subject whilst developing the ICT skills needed in the workplace and society Including case studies and examples throughout chapters cover Blended Learning mixing traditional teaching methods with e learning Developing interactive students Mobile technologies Student safety online E Portfolios and Virtual Learning Environments This timely new book will help you structure your teaching to harness the latest developments in technology in tandem with the students you teach Design Thinking Bon Ku, Ellen Lupton, 2020-03-17 Applying the principles of human centered design to real world health care challenges from drug packaging to early detection of breast cancer This book makes a case for applying the principles of design thinking to real world health care challenges As health care systems around the globe struggle to expand access improve outcomes and control costs Health Design Thinking offers a human centered approach for designing health care products and services with examples and case studies that range from drug packaging and exam rooms to internet connected devices for early detection of breast cancer Written by leaders in the field Bon Ku a physician and founder of the innovative Health Design Lab at Sidney Kimmel Medical College and Ellen Lupton an award winning graphic designer and curator at Cooper Hewitt Smithsonian Design Museum the book outlines the fundamentals of design thinking and highlights important
