Dillon, 2002-03-30 Certain films seem to encapsulate perfectly the often abstract ethical situations that confront the media from truth telling and sensationalism to corporate control and social responsibility Using these movies including Ace in the Hole All the President's Men Network and Twelve Angry Men as texts authors Howard Good and Michael Dillon demonstrate that when properly framed and contextualized movies can be a powerful lens through which to examine media practices Moreover cinema can present human moral conduct for evaluation and analysis more effectively than a traditional case study can By presenting ethical dilemmas and theories within a dramatic framework Media Ethics Goes to the Movies offers a unique perspective on what it means for media professionals to be both technically competent and morally informed John Sayles David R. Shumway, 2012-03-15 John Sayles is the very paradigm of the contemporary independent filmmaker By raising much of the funding for his films himself Sayles functions more independently than most directors and he has used his freedom to write and produce films with a distinctive personal style and often clearly expressed political positions From The Return of the Secaucus Seven to Sunshine State his films have consistently expressed progressive political positions on issues including race gender sexuality class and disability In this study David R Shumway examines the defining characteristic of Sayles's cinema its realism Positing the filmmaker as a critical realist Shumway explores Sayles's attention to narrative in critically acclaimed and popular films such as Matewan Eight Men Out Passion Fish and Lone Star The study also details the conditions under which Sayles's films have been produced distributed and exhibited affecting the way in which these films have been understood and appreciated In the process Shumway presents Sayles as a teacher who tells historically accurate stories that invite audiences to consider the human world they all inhabit Reel Baseball Stephen C.
