Four Narratives Of Exploration

Douglas Charles Estes

Four Narratives Of Exploration:

Class and Colonialism in Antarctic Exploration, 1750–1920 Ben Maddison, 2015-10-06 Between 1750 and 1920 over 15 000 people visited Antarctica. Despite such a large number, the historiography has ignored all but a few celebrated explorers. Maddison presents a study of Antarctic exploration, telling the story of these forgotten facilitators; he argues that Antarctic exploration can be seen as an offshoot of European colonialism.

The Recovery of Jerusalem. A narrative of exploration and discovery in the City and the Holy Land. By Capt. W., ... Capt. Warren. ... With an Introduction by A. P. Stanley. Edited by W. Morrison. (Explorations in the Peninsula of Sinai. By F. W. Holland.) Sir Charles William Wilson, 1871

Critical Issues in the History of Spaceflight Stephen J. Dick, Steven J. Dick, Roger D. Launius, 2006

In March 2005 the NASA History Division and the Division of Space History at the National Air and Space Museum brought together a distinguished group of scholars to consider the state of the discipline of space history. This volume is a collection of essays based on those deliberations. The meeting took place at a time of extraordinary transformation for NASA, stemming from the new Vision of Space Exploration announced by President George W. Bush in January 2004 to go to the Moon, Mars, and beyond. This Vision in turn stemmed from a deep reevaluation of NASA's goals in the wake of the Space Shuttle Columbia accident and the recommendations of the Columbia Accident Investigation Board. The new goals were seen as initiating a New Age of Exploration and were placed in the context of the importance of exploration and discovery to the American experience.

The Temporal Mechanics of the Fourth Gospel Douglas Charles Estes, 2008-03-31

Spiritual but broken, theological but flawed, these are the words critics use to describe the Gospel of John. Compared to the Synoptics, John's version of the life of Jesus seems scrambled, especially in the area of time and chronology. But what if John's textual and temporal flaws have more to do with our implicit assumptions about time than with a text that is truly flawed? This book responds to that question by reinventing narrative temporality in light of modern physics and applying this alternative temporal lens to the Fourth Gospel. From the singularity in the epic prologue to the narrative warping of event-like objects, this work explodes the elemental temporalities simmering below the surface of a

Chinese Revolution and Chinese Literature Tao Dongfeng, Rosemary Roberts, Yang Xiaobin, 2009-05-05 This volume has brought together essays to explore analyse and interpret the revolutionary tradition in modern Chinese literature over the past century from various angles The authors examine the bodily or carnal dimension especially the hidden implication of sexual passion in revolutionary literature formulate feminist critiques of the conception of women in literary expressions of revolution explore the function of revolution as historical discourse and in historiographical representation and discuss the reworking of revolutionary classics in recent literary and artistic endeavours Here revolution in history and in literature is conceptualized neither as an unquestionably progressive and creative force for a new world nor an absolutely pejorative concept that necessarily leads to sociopolitical turmoil and tragedy Insofar as postrevolutionary writings cannot but reappropriate the revolutionary spirit as their unavoidable and inseparable traumatic kernel studies in revolutionary literature and culture too go through the zigzag experience of revolution in order to scrutinize its complex implications

Acts in its Ancient Literary Context Loveday Alexander, 2007-03-29 Here gathered for the first time is a collection of Loveday Alexander s critically acclaimed essays on the Acts of the Apostles In this collection of essays Alexander addresses the central question What kind of book is Acts She approaches the text of Acts with a finely tuned sense of the complexities of the conventional codes that governed reading and writing in the classical world and argues that the differences between New Testament texts and contemporary writings in the Graeco Roman world can be as revealing as the similarities The collection begins with Alexander s classic analysis of the literary codes governing the preface to Luke s two volume work in which she challenges the dominant consensus that the language and structure of the preface evoke the generic conventions of Greek historiography That insight opens up the possibility of reading Acts alongside other ancient literary genres the lives of the Greek philosophers the Greek novels of Chariton and Xenophon of Ephesus Roman itineraries Greek and Jewish apologetic and Latin epic The process like the narrative of Acts itself becomes a rich and evocative voyage of exploration shedding light both on the varied social worlds of the author and his first readers and on the complex communication problems underlying the creation of early Christian discourse This is volume 289 in the Journal for the Study of the New Testament Supplement series and is also part of the Early Christianity in Context series

Educating Character Through Stories David Carr, Tom Harrison, 2015-01-14 What could be the point of teaching such works of bygone cultural and literary inheritance as Cervantes Don Quixote and Shakespeare's The Merchant of Venice in schools today This book argues that the narratives and stories of such works are of neglected significance and value for contemporary understanding of human moral association and character However in addition to offering detailed analysis of the moral educational potential of these and other texts the present work reports on a pioneering project recently pursued by the Jubilee Centre for Character and Virtues concerned precisely with the use of these and other stories for moral and character education in schools The success of the Knightly Virtues project is an inspiring story in its own right and should therefore be of enormous interest to all schools teachers and parents rightly concerned with this all important aspect of their children s educational development Polar Tourism and Communities Alix Varnajot, Marisol Vereda, Dimitri Ioannides, 2024-12-23 Prior to the outbreak of the coronavirus pandemic in 2020 the Arctic and Antarctic regions were experiencing significant growth in tourist arrivals In the aftermath of this global crisis the tourism industry has rebounded and the number of tourists visiting the polar regions is expected to keep growing significantly in the coming years Remote regions are increasingly accessible as tourism actors develop technologies diversify activities and itineraries and climate change worsens In the Arctic tourism now takes place year round through various modalities ranging from exclusive icebreaker expeditions to the North Pole to mass tourism practices in several destinations such as Rovaniemi Reykjavik Longyearbyen or Skagway wherein tourism not only brings opportunities but also new challenges to local communities Meanwhile gateway cities to Antarctica such as Ushuaia and its inhabitants are set to recover from the severe adverse effects due to the virtual standstill of tourism in the region This book fills the gap in literature on polar tourism and communities Through several examples encompassing the Arctic and Antarctica various chapters examine how both the tourism industry and various communities impact and influence each other from economic sociocultural political and environmental perspectives This book provides a unique and timely analysis of the complex interactions between polar tourism and local communities and could be of interest to advanced level students and researchers in tourism studies and polar geographies Oscillations of Literary Theory A. C. Facundo, 2016-10-04

Revises key psychoanalytic concepts that influence interpretive practices in the humanities and formulates a new approach to reading fiction Oscillations of Literary Theory offers a new psychoanalytic approach to reading literature queerly one that implicates queer theory without depending on explicit representations of sex or queer identities By focusing on desire and identifications A C Facundo argues that readers can enjoy the text through a variety of rhythms between two eroticized positions the paranoid imperative and queer reparative Facundo examines the metaphor of rupture as central to the logic of critique particularly the project to undo conventional formations of identity and power To show how readers can rebuild their relational worlds after the rupture Facundo looks to the themes of the desire for omniscience the queer pleasure of the text loss and letting go and the vanishing points that structure thinking Analyses of Nabokov s Lolita Danielewski s House of Leaves Findley s The Wars and Ishiguro s Never Let Me Go are included which model this new approach to reading Armed with a full repertoire of psychoanalytic resources Facundo navigates the paranoid reparative debate in literary studies with greater finesse than any critic I ve read Reframing current critical impasses Oscillations of Literary Theory makes substantial contributions to narrative theory and aesthetics by illuminating their crucial connections with sexuality and pleasure Facundo offers us here nothing less than a new method of reading queerly Tim Dean University of Illinois Urbana Champaign This book seeks to understand hermeneutic imperatives and flights from these in terms of paranoid and reparative drives as distinct from affect It is a bold and ambitious project but Facundo brings to it an exceptional array of skills I am impressed by the author's close subtle and very canny readings of both theoretical and literary texts and by her demonstration of the complexity variety and centrality of ideas and operations of paranoia and the reparative in writings from Freud to the present Oscillations revitalizes psychoanalytic criticism in its distinctly queer relation to psychoanalysis a relation that yields surprising and refreshing insights Stephen M Barber coeditor of Regarding Sedgwick Essays on Queer Culture and Critical Theory
