Essays on Kant Henry E. Allison,2012-06-28 This volume presents seventeen essays by one of the world s leading scholars on Kant Henry E Allison explores the nature of transcendental idealism freedom of the will and the concept of the purposiveness of nature He places Kant s views in their historical context and explores their contemporary relevance to present day philosophers Essays in Linguistic Ethnography Adrian Blackledge,Angela Creese,2023-09-12 This book argues for an approach to linguistic ethnography which departs from the singular gaze of the academic researcher to amplify instead the voices of participants researchers and collaborators The authors offer an account of writing ethnography polyphonically incorporating the complexity of individual voices In doing so they challenge the imperative to make meaning from and explain the culture of the other Together the essays open up the emic perspective by considering the experiential aesthetic emotional moral and ethical value people bring to encounters with others The book is an essential addition to research methods courses in applied linguistics and sociolinguistics and an invaluable contribution to knowledge about research based drama theatre and creative practice Plutarch in English, 1528-1603. Volume One: Essays Fred

Schurink,2020-12-04 Plutarch was one of the most popular classical authors in Renaissance England These volumes present nine Tudor and Stuart translations from his Essays and Lives with a General Introduction locating these works in the context of Plutarch s wider influence in early modern England They offer selections from two of the classics of English Renaissance translation North s Lives 1579 and Holland s Morals 1603 the essays On Reading the Poets and Talkativeness and the Lives of Demosthenes and Cicero and Caesar They also include editions of a number of less well known but equally significant translations of individual Essays and Lives one available in manuscript alone until now and several not reprinted since the sixteenth century Thomas Wyatt's The Quiet of Mind 1528 Thomas Elyot's The Education or Bringing up of Children 1528 30 Thomas Blundeville's The Learned Prince 1561 and Henry Parker Lord Morley's The Story of Paullus Aemilius 1542 46 7 Detailed annotations trace how translators drew on and departed from Greek Latin and French editions of Plutarch while introductions to each of the works examine their impact on English Renaissance literature and culture By presenting a wide range of translations from the Essays and Lives the volumes bring to light the variety of translation practices and the different social political and cultural contexts in which Plutarch was read and translated in Tudor and Stuart England

Four Essays Murray Anthony Potter, 1966 The Dialogic Imagination M. M. Bakhtin, 1981 These essays reveal Mikhail Bakhtin 1895 1975 known in the West largely through his studies of Rabelais and Dostoevsky as a philosopher of language a cultural historian and a major theoretician of the novel The Dialogic Imagination presents in superb English translation four selections from Voprosy literaturny i estetiki Problems of literature and esthetics published in Moscow in 1975 The volume also contains a lengthy introduction to Bakhtin and his thought and a glossary of terminology Bakhtin uses the category novel in a highly idiosyncratic way claiming for it vastly larger territory than has been traditionally accepted For him the novel is not so much a genre as it is a force of newness which he discusses in From the Prehistory of Novelistic Discourse Two essays Epic and Novel and Forms of Time and of the Chronotope in the Novel deal with literary history in Bakhtin's own unorthodox way In the final essay he discusses literature and language in general which he sees as stratified constantly changing systems of subgenres dialects and fragmented languages in battle with one another Reading Empirical Research Studies John R. Hayes, Richard E. Young, Michele L. Matchett, Maggie McCaffrey, Cynthia Cochran, 2020-10-07 For the most part those who teach writing and administer writing programs do not conduct research on writing Perhaps more significantly they do not often read the research done by others because effective reading of articles on empirical research requires special knowledge and abilities By and large those responsible for maintaining and improving writing instruction cannot without further training access work that could help them carry out their responsibilities more effectively This book is designed as a text in graduate programs that offer instruction in rhetoric and composition Its primary educational purposes are to provide models and critical methods designed to improve the reading of scientific discourse to provide models of effective research designs and projects appropriate to those learning to do empirical research in rhetoric Aiming to cultivate new attitudes toward empirical research this volume encourages an appreciation of the rhetorical tradition that informs the production and critical reading of empirical studies The book should also reinforce a slowly growing realization in English studies that empirical methods are not inherently alien to the humanities rather that methods extend the power of humanist researchers trying to solve the problems of their discipline Outlook Alfred Emanuel Smith, Francis Walton, 1923 Li Zehou and Confucian Philosophy Roger T. Ames, Jinhua Jia, 2018-07-31 For more than a century scholars both inside and outside of China have undertaken the project of modernizing Confucianism but few have been as successful or influential as Li Zehou b 1930

Since the 1950s Li's extensive efforts in this regard have in turn exerted a profound influence on Chinese modernization and resulted in his becoming one of China's most prominent social critics. To transform Confucianism into a contemporary resource for positive change in China and elsewhere, Li has reinterpreted major ideas and concepts of classical Confucianism, including a rereading of the entire Analects replete with his own philosophical speculations derived from other Chinese and Western traditions, most notably the ideas of Kant and Marx, and developed an aesthetical theory that has proved especially far-reaching. Although the authors of this volume hail from East Asia, North America, and Europe and a wide variety of academic backgrounds and fields of study, they are unanimous in their appreciation of Li's contributions to not only an evolving Confucian philosophy but also world philosophy. They view Li first and foremost as a sui generis thinker with broad global interests and not one who fits neatly into any one philosophical category, Chinese or Western. This is clearly reflected in the chapters included here, which are organized into three parts: Li Zehou and the Modernization of Confucianism; Li Zehou's Reconception of Confucian Philosophy; and Li Zehou's Aesthetical Theory and Confucianism. Together, they form a coherent narrative that reveals how Li has for more than half a century creatively studied, absorbed, and reconceptualized the Confucian ideational tradition to integrate it with Western philosophical elements and develop his own philosophical insights and original theories. At the same time, he has transformed and modernized Confucianism for the purpose of both coalescing with and reconstructing a new world cultural order.

The Mentor-world Traveler, 1922 Dark Matters Mara van der Lugt, 2023-09-26

An intellectual history of the philosophers who grappled with the problem of evil and the case for why pessimism still holds moral value for us today. In the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, philosophers engaged in heated debates on the question of how God could have allowed evil and suffering in a creation that is supposedly good. Dark Matters traces how the competing philosophical traditions of optimism and pessimism arose from early modern debates about the problem of evil and makes a compelling case for the rediscovery of pessimism as a source for compassion, consolation, and perhaps even hope. Bringing to life one of the most vibrant eras in the history of philosophy, Mara van der Lugt discusses legendary figures such as Leibniz, Hume, Voltaire, Rousseau, Kant, and Schopenhauer. She also introduces readers to less familiar names such as Bayle, King, La Mettrie, and Maupertuis. Van der Lugt describes not only how the earliest optimists and pessimists were deeply concerned with finding an answer to the question of the value of existence that does justice to the reality of human suffering, but also how they were fundamentally divided over what such an answer should look like. A breathtaking work of intellectual history by one of today's leading scholars, Dark Matters reveals how the crucial moral aim of pessimism is to find a way of speaking about suffering that offers consolation and does justice to the fragility of life. 000000 000000, 2011-07-01 11:2011

Hume and the Politics of Enlightenment Thomas W. Merrill, 2015-07-23

This work explores Hume's Socratic turn to moral and political philosophy as a response to the crisis of radical questioning.
