Schlabach, 2019-10-28 Recent decades have seen a steady trend in Roman Catholic teaching toward a commitment to active nonviolence that could qualify the church as a peace church As a moral theologian specializing in social ethics Schlabach explores how this trend in Catholic social teaching will need to take shape if Catholics are to follow through Globalization he argues is an invitation to recognize what was always supposed to be true in Catholic ecclesiology Christ gives Christians an identity that crosses borders To become a truly catholic global peace church in which peacemaking is church wide and parish deep Catholics should recognize that they have always properly been a diaspora people with an identity that transcends tribe and nation state

Growing Consensus II Lydia Veliko, Jeffrey Gros, 2005 Growing Consensus II is a comprehensive collection of the major American ecumenical documents between 1992 and 2004 Among churches included are Catholic historic Protestant Orthodox Anabaptist and Evangelical Peacebuilding Is A Mission Mandate Levi Williams, 2004 This book takes a fresh look at the Christian concepts of mission and discipleship defining them as expanding Gods circle of friends and widening membership in Gods family through transforming conflicts and building relationships on various levels ranging from inter personal to international

Formation for Life Glen Stassen, Rodney L. Petersen, Timothy A. Norton, 2013-08-16 From all corners of the world both inside cities and in the remote countryside the cry for just peace rings out loud and strong But as many will note in this book the cry for just peace isn't enough for just peace requires active faith working hands and willing hearts Gathered in this volume are essays written from a wide variety of perspectives religious traditions nationalities and ages from a sixteen year old high school student to an eighty four year old senior professor that seek to offer insight toward answering one question How are just peacemaking faith formation and discipleship connected within a twenty first century context

The Limits of Hospitality Jessica Wroblewski, 2012 Practicing hospitality is central to building a civil society not to mention living a Christian life It can be enriching and joy filled but it can also be profoundly demanding and sometimes even dangerous In The Limits of Hospitality Jessica Wroblewski explores the ethical questions surrounding the practice of hospitality particularly hospitality that is informed by Christian theological commitments While there is no algorithm that distinguishes between ethically legitimate and illegitimate boundaries the variety of circumstances in which hospitality is relevant and the nature of hospitality itself make advocating firm and fixed boundaries difficult How much more so for Christians for whom the practice of hospitality should be a manifestation of agape a participation in God's eschatological welcome extended to all people through Jesus Christ Are limits to hospitality then merely a regrettable concession to our finite and fallen condition Wroblewski offers a rich theological reflection that will interest anyone who has a role in the practice of hospitality in community Whether such communities are families households churches educational institutions or nation states

Faith and Order in the U.S.A. William A. Norgren, 2011-07-06 Since its founding in 1957 the National Council of Churches Commission on Faith and Order has worked to draw churches out of isolation into discussion on points of agreement and disagreement in faith order and worship In Faith and Order in the USA William Norgren a long time executive director of the Faith and Order Commission takes a look at its background history and major initiatives He shows how the Commission originally limited in its scope to mainline Protestant Episcopal and Orthodox church bodies fostered fruitful dialogue not only between its founding churches but also over time with Roman Catholic Southern Baptist Evangelical Pentecostal Adventist holiness and peace churches contributing to greater friendship harmony and partnership among many Christian churches in America

Pentecostals and Nonviolence April Alexander, 2012-11-09 Pentecostals and Nonviolence explores how a distinctly Pentecostal charismatic peace witness might be reinvigorated and sustained in the twenty first century To do so the book examines the nature of the early Pentecostal commitment to nonviolence and investigates the possibilities that might emerge from Pentecostals and Anabaptists entering into conversation and worship with each other Contributors engage the arguments surrounding the heritage of Pentecostal pacifism in the United States and then move toward exploring nonviolence and peacemaking as crucial for contemporary Christianity as a whole Ranging from theology testimony and pastoral ministry to interchurch relations activism and protest this diverse collection of essays challenge and invite the whole church to the task of peacemaking while exploring the distinctive and often neglected contributions from the Pentecostal charismatic tradition

Bodies of Peace Myles Werntz, 2014 Bodies of Peace argues that Christian nonviolence is both formed by and forms ecclesial life creating an inextricable relationship between church commitment and resistance to war In this volume Myles Werntz examines the work of John Howard Yoder Dorothy Day William Stringfellow and Robert McAfee Brown demonstrating how each thinker's advocacy for nonviolent resistance depends deeply upon the ecclesiology out of which it comes The volume argues that any account of an ecclesially informed resistance to war must be open to a multitude of approaches not as pragmatic concessions but as a foretaste of ecumenical unity

Can a Renewal Movement Be Renewed? Michael Kinnamon, 2014-05-18 Does ecumenism have a future What would it mean to take the next step in ecumenical and interfaith relations Is the ecumenical movement a movement for peace What can the churches say together about the church What can the churches say together about the environment Can the tension between unity and justice be overcome Has the ecumenical movement become too political What is the way forward for Catholic Protestant relations How can the Orthodox help others understand them better How are interfaith relationships as challenging as they are necessary How can we deal with the tough issues in Jewish Christian relations Are councils of churches a thing of the past What does it take to be an ecumenical leader What will it take to revitalize the ecumenical movement Why care about Christian unity when there are so many other things to worry about

The Morally Divided Body Michael Root, James J. Buckley, 2012-09-01 At the same time as Catholic and evangelical Christians have increasingly come to agree on issues that divided them during the sixteenth century reformations they seem increasingly to disagree on issues of contemporary morality and ethics Do such arguments doom the prospects for realistic full communion between Catholics and evangelicals Or are such disagreements a new opportunity for Catholics and evangelicals to convert together to the triune God's word and work on the communion of saints for the world Or should our hope be different than simple pessimism or optimism In this volume eight authors address different aspects of these questions hoping to move Christians a small step further toward the visible unity of the church
