Fragments From The Stars Vox Humana:

Fragments from the Stars David Cope, 2012-12-06 In David Cope's strikingly intense new collection Fragments from the Stars we see the continued development of a highly original art rising directly out of Williams' graphic American measure. Cope's voice is everywhere infused with a characteristic stark lyricism producing the powerful work that Carl Rakosi has called his compassionate realism.

Vox Humana Craftsmanship Girenas Povilionis, Diego Cannizzaro, Rima Povilionienė, 2022-12-28 This book provides a thorough analysis focused on the sound expression produced by human-crafted musical instrument: a pipe organ in which various components blend into a complex whole to produce a wide range of timbres. The sound produced by wooden and metal pipes of a variety of sizes is an integral part of the instrument's unique character while the organ stop is like its signature from which one can judge about the size and style of the instrument: an organ building school or even an organ master to which it is attributable. Precise identification of the name of the stop in accordance to both the pipework itself and the authentic inscriptions on the pipes is instrumental in investigating the geographic origins and authorship of an organ. The monograph focuses on the craftsmanship of complex and historically influential organ stops: Vox humana. Its research and definition provides specific information distinguishing particular features in the variety of organ building traditions and discussing the differences in organ sound perception and production. The volume is aimed at art and music historians as well as musicologists and scholars researching restoration techniques. The book contains supplemental material with video and audio material as well as photo documentation of authentic Vox humana examples. The material is placed in the online catalog which may be accessed by scanning the QR code in the appendix of the book.

Silences for Love David Cope, 2013-12-01 David Cope's fifth book Silences for Love is framed in elegies: prophet Martin King to old friend Allen Ginsberg opening with lights fading/flaring over Lake Superior closing with one leaf in the hidden meadow. Here are the weary traveler, one-eyed boy, Gettysburg sundown, sighs over Sarajevo massacre at the Patriarch's tomb, snowstorm canoe trip ending with a brother beneath Northern Lights, deaths, weddings, reunions in companion love, Oklahoma City trail of tears, asking blessing to learn healing. Here too are long silence, welcome home in aging harlequin, his gypsy in the runes of the Two-Hearted River in dreams, visions, going/coming, memory of a lost friend trapped on corpse, detail, rush hour traffic jam, old bridge, hidden meadow, snowstorm, near death, car crash, old friend fired hence with a last call for love, free clothes, newly unfurling leaf. Silences for Love also offers skillful technique, attention to minute particulars, variable foot, continuing to extend the demotic traditions of American poetry established by Walt Whitman, William Carlos Williams, and Charles Reznikoff.

Turn the Wheel David Cope, 2003-05-19 Acclaimed poet David Cope's fifth collection Turn the Wheel opens with a lean dawn farewell to old loves and challenges to new past sorrows and tenderness filling the older poet's dreams, tender petals for calm crossing. Here too is ground zero, struggle for compassion, lost worlds in the valley of the sun, finale, a broken note, herons under the jetliner's blast path near the shaking train stuffed with its cargo of
