Hama and Jabla Alexandra Nilsson,Ejnar Fugmann,2002 Ejnar Fugmann served as architect in chief on two Danish archaeological expeditions to Syria first to Hama 1931-38 and much later to Jabla 1958-61 He was a skilled artist and spent much of his spare time painting watercolors of local monuments and daily life While he also painted scenes from other parts of Syria such as Aleppo and Krak de Chevaliers his portraits of Hama and Jabla are especially compelling for the witness they bear to two towns before modern development changed their appearance irrevocably In addition to the waterwheels on the Orontes and other scenes from daily life his watercolors from Hama show the Azm and Kilani mansions the Han Rustam basa the Great Mosque and the Abu l fida Grave Mosque presented in their cultural and historical context The Jabla watercolors focus on scenes in the town by the harbor and around the expedition house This handsome volume is introduced by P J Riis who participated in the excavation of Hama and directed the Jabla expedition He provides an especially vivid account of Hama in the 1930s with its horse drawn cabs and constantly turning waterwheels Hama and Jabla offers a colorful window to a world that no longer exists It will interest armchair time travelers as well as serious students of Islamic architecture and history

French military he managed to escape to Palestine where he became an increasingly popular presence moved by the plight of the poor and disenfranchised Outraged by British rule and the encroachment of Zionism he formed a secret society to resist the colonization of Palestine first by the British and then by Jewish immigrants from Europe once again taking up arms and advocating for a moral political and military jihad as the only solution His death at the hands of Palestine Police in 1935 drew thousands to his funeral and sparked the 1936-1939 Arab Revolt His influence continues to be felt in the region for example the military wing of the Palestinian Hamas organization is named the Izz al Din al Qassam Brigades Al Qassam is either revered or reviled depending on the observers perspective but he is without doubt a fascinating and historically significant individual whose influence on the past and our present makes this examination of his life both important and timely A

Small Town in Syria James A. Urbanism Tsugitaka SATO, 2012-11-12 Islamic cultures in the Middle East have inherited and developed a legacy of urbanism spanning millennia to the ancient civilizations of the region In contrast to well organized states like China in history Muslim peoples formed loose states based on intricate social networks As a consequence most studies of urban history in the Middle East have focused their gaze exclusively on urban social organization often neglecting the extension of political power to rural areas Covering Morocco Egypt Syria Iran and Brunei this volume explores the relationship between political power and social networks in medieval and modern Middle Eastern history The authors examine social religious and administrative networks that governed rural and urban areas and led to state formation providing a more inclusive view of the mechanisms of power and control in the Islamic world The Timurid Century Charles Melville, 2020-05-14 The century after the conquests of Timur witnessed the division of eastern and western Iran between his Turko Mongol successors and a flowering of Persian culture in the great cities of Herat Samarqand and Tabriz among others In this the ninth volume in The Idea of Iran series leading scholars analyse the ways that Timurid contemporaries viewed their traditions and their environment asking questions such as what was the view of outsiders and how does modern scholarship define the distinctive aspects of the period Essential reading for scholars students and all those interested in the history of Iran the book considers the political religious and cultural history of this rich and highly productive interval that was the springboard for the formation of new imperial Ottoman Safavid Mughal and Uzbek orders of succeeding centuries Bad Girls of the Arab World Nadia

Yaqub, Rula Quawas, 2017-09-27 Women's transgressive behaviors and perspectives are challenging societal norms in the Arab world giving rise to anxiety and public debate Simultaneously however other Arab women are unwillingly finding themselves labeled bad as authority figures attempt to redirect scrutiny from serious social ills such as patriarchy and economic exploitation or as they impose new restrictions on women's behavior in response to uncertainty and change in society Bad Girls of the Arab World elucidates how both intentional and unintentional transgressions make manifest the social and cultural constructs that define proper and improper behavior as well as the social and political policing of gender racial and class divisions The works collected here address the experiences of women from a range of ages classes and educational backgrounds who live in the Arab world and beyond They include short pieces in which the women themselves reflect on their experiences with transgression academic articles about performance representation activism history and social conditions an artistic intervention and afterwords by the acclaimed novelists Laila al Atrash and Miral al Tahawy The book demonstrates that women s transgression is both an agent and a symptom of change a site of both resistance and repression Showing how transnational forces such as media discourses mobility and confinement globalization and neoliberalism as well as the legacy of colonialism shape women s badness Bad Girls of the Arab World offers a rich portrait of women s varied experiences at the boundaries of propriety in the twenty first century Studies Presented to Robert D.

Teti, 2014-02-05 Over the last decade or so academic and non academic observers have focussed mainly if not exclusively on the institutions and places of formal power in the Greater Middle East depicting politics in the region as a small area limited to local authoritarian rulers In contrast this book aims to explore the hidden geographies of power i e the political dynamics developing inside in parallel to and beyond institutional forums arguing that these hidden geographies play a crucial role both in support of and in opposition to official power By observing less frequented spaces of power co option and negotiation and particularly by focusing on the interplay between formal and informal power this interdisciplinary collection provides new insights in the study of the intersection between policy making and practical political dynamics in the Greater Middle East Contributing a fresh perspective to a much discussed topic Informal Power in the Greater Middle East will be an invaluable resource for students scholars and those interested in the politics of the region Matinées au Café Rostand
