Pleasure and the Good Life Gerd Van Riel, 2000 This volume concentrates on a hedonistic argument that enters the philosophical debate when philosophers argue that what they present as the good life is the truly pleasurable life The book investigates more precisely how this point was made by Plato and his successors

Neoplatonic view of Plotinus and Proclus to the original viewpoint of Damascius commentary on Plato's Philebus The volume sheds light on the discussion between hedonists and anti hedonists by concentrating on the crucial point at which any philosophical analysis of the good life hedonistic or other ought to argue that the life of the philosopher is the most desirable and thus truly pleasurable life

The New Guide to the Royal Palace of Hampton Court with a New Catalogue of the Pictures Hampton Court, Ernest Philip Alphonse Law, 1895

The Hampton Magazine, 1911 Philebus
Plato, 2017-05-04 Taking the form of a discussion between the hedonist Philebus his naïve disciple Protarchus and Socrates Philebus is a compelling consideration of the popular belief that pleasure is the greatest attainable good Here Socrates speculates on the differing intensities of both pleasure and pain explores the notion that they can be divided into pure and impure types considers the relationship between the one and the many and establishes knowledge as a far higher goal A profound argument that true fulfillment can only be achieved by the pursuit of beauty truth and moderation Philebus is among the earliest and most fascinating explorations of one of the most fundamental human questions how to lead a good life

New Guide to the Royal Palace of Hampton Court Ernest Philip Alphonse Law, 1892 Pleasure, Knowledge, and Being Cynthia Hampton, 1990-07-05 Hampton illuminates the overall structure of the Philebus Taking the interrelations of pleasure knowledge and being as the keys to understanding the unity of the dialogue she focuses on the central point The analysis of both pleasure and knowledge can be understood fully only if placed within the context of the more general and fundamental question of how human life fits into the overall structure of reality What guides the discussion of the good life throughout the dialogue is the conviction that we can only realize our human good by shaping our lives so that they are true to the universal Good which unites all things It is around this crucial point that the dialogue is structured Thus according to Hampton's interpretation the Philebus shows what it says that if we delve deeply enough we shall discover that behind the appearance of disorder lies beauty proportion and truth
