Essays on Ego Psychology Heinz Hartmann, 1964

Ego Psychology Gertrude Blanck, Rubin Blanck, 1994 This best seller breaks new ground by demonstrating how mainstream psychoanalytic theory has evolved into a psychoanalytic developmental object relations theory The authors summarize the contributions of the major ego psychologists from Freud to the contemporary theorists including the new findings of the child observationalists By integrating these several contributions the authors are able to show that classical psychoanalysis and ego psychology combine to form a unified theory that provides a more profound understanding of the borderline and narcissistic conditions as well as of the neuroses From this comprehensive synthesis of theory the authors derive techniques for the treatment of the more troubled patient and expand the classical technique for the psychoanalysis of neurosis Recognizing that there are preoedipal developmental problems even in neurotic patients and that there are oedipal issues in the borderline and narcissistic patients the authors demonstrate the applicability of developmental object relations theory across the diagnostic spectrum and include a new chapter on termination Using

Wolman, 1984 Ego Psychology and the Problem of Adaptation Heinz Hartmann, 1958 One becomes aware of the tremendous impact of his theories when one finds that it was in this essay that concepts such as the undifferentiated phase the conflict free ego sphere conflict free ego development and primary and secondary autonomy were developed for the first time Hartmann discusses the role of endowment and of the inborn ego apparatuses and their adaptive nature The idea that ego defenses may simultaneously serve the control of instinctual drives and the adaptation to the external world finds its expression in this essay Hartmann's concept of adaptation is in no way restricted to the cultural sense of the term It is a truly inclusive conception and he views it as an ongoing process which has its roots in the biological structure and with many of its manifestations reflecting the constant attempts of the ego to balance intrasystemic and intersystemic tensions
