Translating

Christ in the Middle Ages Barbara Zimbalist, 2022-02-15 This study reveals how women's visionary texts played a central role within medieval discourses of authorship reading and devotion From the twelfth to the fifteenth centuries women across northern Europe began committing their visionary conversations with Christ to the written word Translating Christ in this way required multiple transformations divine speech into human language aural event into textual artifact visionary experience into linguistic record and individual encounter into communal repetition This ambitious study shows how women's visionary texts form an underexamined literary tradition within medieval religious culture Barbara Zimbalist demonstrates how within this tradition female visionaries developed new forms of authorship reading and devotion Through these transformations the female visionary authorized herself and her text and performed a rhetorical imitatio Christi that offered models of interpretive practice and spoken devotion to her readers This literary historical tradition has not yet been fully recognized on its own terms By exploring its development in hagiography visionary texts and devotional literature Zimbalist shows how this literary mode came to be not only possible but widespread and influential She argues that women's visionary translation reconfigured traditional hierarchies and positions of spiritual power for female authors and readers in ways that reverberated throughout late medieval literary and religious cultures In translating their visionary conversations with Christ into vernacular text medieval women turned themselves into authors and devotional guides and formed their readers into textual communities shaped by gendered visionary experiences and spoken imitatio Christi Comparing texts in Latin Dutch French and English Translating Christ in the Middle Ages explores how women's visionary translation of Christ's speech initiated larger transformations of gendered authorship and religious authority within medieval culture The book will interest scholars in different linguistic and religious traditions in medieval studies history religious studies and women's and gender studies

Nicolaus Cusanus on Faith and the Intellect K. Meredith Ziebart, 2013-11-14 In Nicolaus Cusanus on Faith and the Intellect K M Ziebart argues convincingly that Cusanus epistemology was a direct response to late medieval debates over the relation between faith and reason one which sought to resolve these debates by introducing a controversially strong integration of philosophy and theology By examining his works in the context of debates with his peers Ziebart shows how and why Cusanus came to articulate a theory of knowledge in which faith is posited as inherent to the very structure of mind as the vis iudiciaria or power of judgment This well grounded study sheds new light on the Cusan philosophy and expands our view of a crucial liminal period in European intellectual history

The Self-Emptying Subject Alex Dubilet, 2018-04-03 Against the two dominant ethical paradigms of continental philosophy Emmanuel Levinas's ethics of the Other and Michel Foucault's ethics of self cultivation The Self Emptying Subject theorizes an ethics of self emptying or kenosis that reveals the immanence of an impersonal and dispossessed life without a why Rather than aligning immanence with the enclosures of the subject The Self Emptying Subject engages the history of Christian mystical theology modern philosophy and contemporary theories of the subject to rethink immanence as what precedes and exceeds the very difference between the human self and the divine other between the subject and transcendence By arguing that transcendence operates and subjects life in secular no less than in religious domains this book challenges the dominant distribution of concepts in contemporary theoretical discourse which insists on associating transcendence exclusively with religion and theology and immanence exclusively with modern secularity and philosophy The Self Emptying Subject argues that it is important to resist framing the relationship between medieval theology and modern philosophy as a transition from the affirmation of divine transcendence to the establishment of autonomous subjects Through an engagement with Meister Eckhart G W F Hegel and Georges Bataille it uncovers a medieval theological discourse that rejects the primacy of pious subjects and the transcendence of God Eckhart retrieves a modern philosophical discourse that critiques the creation of self standing subjects through a speculative re writing of the concepts of Christian theology Hegel and explores a discursive site that demonstrates the subjecting effects of transcendence across theological and philosophical operations and archives Bataille Taken together these interpretations suggest that if we suspend the antagonistic relationship between theological and philosophical discourses and decenter our periodizing assumptions and practices we might encounter a yet unmapped theoretical fecundity of self emptying that frees life from transcendent powers that incessantly subject it for their own ends The Authority of the Saints Pauline

Dimech,2017-05-18 Pauline Dimech explores whether and to what extent we may attribute authority to the saints but also how we may ensure that it is the saints and not the scoundrels whose influence persists and whose memory endures The thing that drives her research is the thought that history is full of examples of individuals who held positions of official authority that they did not deserve Dimech is convinced that Hans Urs von Balthasar can help us clarify the issues surrounding the authority of the saints Besides establishing Balthasar s involvement with the enterprise this book tries to establish the theological foundations upon which the authority of the saints would have to be based in theory and possibly already however implicitly based in practice Apophatic Elements in the Theory and Practice of Psychoanalysis

David Henderson,2013-10-17 How can the psychotherapist think about not knowing Is psychoanalysis a contemplative practice This book explores the possibility that there are resources in philosophy and theology which can help psychoanalysts and psychotherapists think more clearly about the unknown and the unknowable The book applies the lens of apophasis to psychoanalysis Chasing Mystery Carey Walsh,2012-11-01 Why does God have to be so exasperatingly silent Why can t

we see him at least long enough to allay doubt How does one grow deeper in love with God against the cultural currents of disdain and antagonism Chasing Mystery is an exploration into how the Bible negotiates the presence and absence of God in the hopes of forging a path in situations where absences often seem more pressing than presences Amid the prevailing skepticism and restlessness says Walsh we must relearn the skill of trust in reading Scripture The aim is to experience God through holy writing Walsh offers a work in biblical theology that explores the liveliness of the God of the Bible She insists that the pages of the Bible do not simply describe divine presence they evoke it in the process of reading Not all the time

certainly not predictably but enough to warrant a trust Her goal is to strengthen the heart's reading competency in order to facilitate our encounter with God

The Selected Works of Isaac of Stella Daniel Deme, 2017-03-02 This book presents an invaluable selection of sermons and theological treatises of the twelfth century author Isaac of Stella The English born abbot of the French Cistercian monastery of Stella on the Isle of Rhé is one of the most inspiring yet equally elusive representatives of the great twelfth century Cistercian Renaissance more widely associated with the person of Bernard of Clairvaux The astonishing spiritual and intellectual depth of Isaac's surviving writings makes him a valuable read for anyone aiming to receive a complete picture of the intellectual heritage of the Middle Ages Of the twenty five sermons by Isaac presented in this volume ten are made available here in an English translation for the first time These are accompanied with two new studies examining Isaac of Stella's work from an historical literary as well as theological perspective

Pilgrimage Into God Sicco Claus, 2023-04 Pilgrimage into God A Study of John Main's Meditation Oriented Spirituality is a comprehensive investigation of the heritage of the Benedictine monk John Main 1926-1982 This founder of a worldwide movement for Christian meditation understands meditation as an intentional transcending of all mental processes Contrary to popular opinion which associates meditation uniquely with Eastern traditions Main considers meditative practice to be essential and central to Christian faith This study not only explores Main's views on practice but also looks into his theology his understanding of spiritual growth and the ideal contexts for achieving such growth It does this by critically situating Main's spiritual teaching within the Christian tradition and exploring its relation to Charles Taylor's interpretation of the modern spiritual condition This study also aims at exploring how Main's heritage may contribute to illuminating Christian spiritual life today

Lutheran Identity and Political Theology Carl-Henric Grenholm, Göran Gunner, 2014-11-04 Lutheran tradition has in various ways influenced attitudes to work the economy the state education and health care One reason that Lutheran theology has been interpreted in various ways is that it is always influenced by surrounding social and cultural contexts In a society where the church has lost a great deal of its cultural impact and authority and where there is a plurality of religious convictions the question of Lutheran identity has never been more urgent However this question is also raised in the Global South where Lutheran churches need to find their identity in a relationship with several other religions Here this relationship is developed from a minority perspective Is it possible to develop a Lutheran political theology that gives adequate contributions to issues concerning social and economic justice What is the role of women in church and society around the world Is it possible to interpret Lutheran theology in such a way that it includes liberating perspectives These are some of the questions and issues discussed in this book
