Politics and the British Novel in the 1970s J. Russell Perkin, 2021-06-15 The 1970s in Britain saw a series of industrial disputes a referendum on membership in the European Economic Community conflict about issues of immigration and citizenship and emergent environmental and feminist movements It was also a decade of innovation in the novel and novelists often addressed the state of the nation directly in their works In Politics and the British Novel in the 1970s Russell Perkin looks at social novels by John Fowles and Margaret Drabble the Cold War thrillers of John le Carr Richard Adams's best selling fable Watership Down the popular campus novels of Malcolm Bradbury and David Lodge Doris Lessing's dystopian visions and V S

Naipaul's explorations of post colonial displacement. Many of these highly regarded works sold in large numbers and have enjoyed enduring success, a testament to the power of the political novel to explain a nation to itself. Perkin explores the connections between the novel and politics, situating the works it discusses in the rich context of the history and culture of the decade from party politics to popular television shows. Politics and the British Novel in the 1970s elucidates a period of literary history now fifty years in the past and offers a balanced perspective on the age, revealing that these works not only represented the politics of the time but played a meaningful role in them. Some Modern Novelists Helen Thomas Follett, Wilson Follett, 1919

Narrative Care: Biopolitics and the Novel Arne De Boever, 2013-03-28 If the September 11 terror attacks opened up an era of crises and exceptions of which we are yet to see the end, it is perhaps not surprising that care has emerged in the early twenty-first century as a key political issue. This book approaches contemporary narratives of care through the lens of a growing body of theoretical writings on biopolitics. Through close readings of J. M. Coetzee's Slow Man, Kazuo Ishiguro's Never Let Me Go, Paul Auster's The Book of Illusions, and Tom McCarthy's Remainder, it seeks to reframe debates about realism in the novel, ranging from Ian Watt to Zadie Smith, as engagements with the novel's biopolitical origins: its relation to pastoral care, the camps, and the welfare state. Within such an understanding of the novel, what possibilities for a critical aesthetics of existence does the contemporary novel include? Hybrid Novels George Kowalik, 2025-10-03 The phrase post postmodernism has appeared in Contemporary Literary Studies since the 20th century, but what does it mean? Scholars have defined the term in various, often contradictory ways. Existing studies also rarely centralise race as an essential component in the transition from postmodern irony to post postmodern sincerity. Hybrid Novels analyses post postmodernism's only consistency and certainty: hybridity. This speaks for a broader social issue concerning the ethics of categorisation and the conflicting labels imposed on subjectivity. Hybrid Novels considers landmark American and British novels by Percival Everett, Jonathan Franzen, Zadie Smith, and David Foster Wallace, published from 1996 to 2001. It positions these authors at the centre of the post postmodernism debate together for the first time. This book suggests that 2010s autofiction further develops post postmodern tensions of irony and sincerity at the turn of the 21st century. Major American and Canadian novels by Sheila Heti, Ben Lerner, Teju Cole, and Tao Lin are discussed, published from 2010 to 2013.

The Doctor in Literature: Private life Solomon Posen, 2005 This is a structured, annotated, and indexed anthology dealing with the personality and the behaviour of doctors and doctor-patient relationships, ideal for medical humanities courses.

American Studies Jack Salzman, 1990-05-25 This volume supplements the acclaimed three-volume set published in 1986 and consists of an annotated listing of American Studies monographs published between 1984 and 1988. There are more than 6,000 descriptive entries in a wide range of categories: anthropology and folklore, art and architecture, history, literature, music, political science, popular culture, psychology, religion, science and technology, and sociology. Poetics of Disturbances, 2024-10-28 This volume calls for a Narratology of Diversity by investigating narratives of non-normative bodies.

and minds It explores mental health representations in literature including neurodiversity the body mind nexus and embodied non normativities therein emphasizing the importance of understanding diverse psychological conditions as represented in narratives The contributions include perspectives from a wide variety of scholars of European North American and comparative literature and culture While post classical narratology has evolved through phases of diversification and consolidation this volume represents innovation in understanding narrative development to embrace new areas of social awareness including gendered narratologies specifically feminist and queer narratologies and post colonial criticism paving the way for a more inclusive narratology Contemporary Novelists ,1986 V.S.
