Darius the Mede and the Four World Empires in the Book of Daniel H. H. Rowley, 2006-09-01 The present study is limited to the related questions of Darius the Mede and the Four World Empires of Nebuchadnezzar's dream and of Daniel's first vision So far as Darius the Mede is concerned it is still generally agreed within the critical school that he has no place in history and that he is a fictitious creation out of confused traditions But anti critical orthodoxy has not given up the attempt to find a place in history for him So far as the Four World Empires are concerned the issue is not between critical orthodoxy and anti critical orthodoxy For here almost every solution which is proposed goes back far beyond the foundation of the critical school The present study will therefore be limited to the consideration of theories which have appeared in writings published within the present century but will take into account the advocacy of those theories both before and during this century It will aim to determine which of these theories may be accepted and to show why those rejected are untenable It will also aim to strengthen the defences of the positions adopted against the many challenges which surround them and to advance fresh considerations for their support from the Introduction Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1973 Eric Voegelin Eugene Webb, 2014-12-01 The order of history emerges from the history of order is the sentence that opens Eric Voegelin's multivolume work Order and History A search for an understanding of the order that can be found in history and within the human being who is the subject of history has resulted in a large and complicated body of work by this contemporary philosopher Eugene Webb offers a full illumination and assessment of that work The Spirit of the Soil Paul B. Thompson, 2017-05-25 In this second edition of The Spirit of the Soil Agriculture and Environmental Ethics Paul B Thompson reviews four worldviews that shape competing visions for agriculture Productionists have sought increasing yields to make two seeds grow where only one grew before while traditional visions of good farming have stressed stewardship These traditional visions have been challenged by two more worldviews a call for a total cost accounting for farming and an advocacy for a holistic perspective Thompson argues that an environmentally defensible systems approach must draw upon all four worldviews recognizing their flaws and synthesizing their strengths in a new vision of sustainable agriculture This classic 1995 study has been thoroughly revised and significantly expanded in its second edition with up to date examples of agriculture's impact on the environment These include extensive discussions of new pesticides and the effects of animal agriculture on climate and other areas of the environment In addition a new final chapter discusses sustainability which has become a dominant idea within environmental studies and agrarian political philosophy
