The Fragrant Garden Sheila Pickles,1992      The Fragrant Garden Sheila Pickles,1993-04-27 Afrocentrism has been a controversial but popular movement in schools and universities across America as well as in black communities But in We Can't Go Home Again historian Clarence E Walker puts Afrocentrism to the acid test in a thoughtful passionate and often blisteringly funny analysis that melts away the pretensions of this therapeutic mythology As expounded by Molefi Kete Asante Yosef Ben Jochannan and others Afrocentrism encourages black Americans to discard their recent history with its inescapable white presence and to embrace instead an empowering vision of their African specifically Egyptian ancestors as the source of western civilization Walker marshals a phalanx of serious scholarship to rout these ideas He shows for instance that ancient Egyptian society was not black but a melange of ethnic groups and questions whether in any case the pharaonic regime offers a model for blacks today asking if everybody was a King who built the pyramids But for Walker Afrocentrism is more than simply bad history it substitutes a feel good myth of the past for an attempt to grapple with the problems that still confront blacks in a racist society The modern American black identity is the product of centuries of real history as Africans and their descendants created new hybrid cultures mixing many African ethnic influences with native and European elements Afrocentrism replaces this complex history with a dubious claim to distant glory Afrocentrism offers not an empowering understanding of black Americans past Walker concludes but a pastiche of alien traditions held together by simplistic fantasies More to the point this specious history denies to black Americans the dignity and power that springs from an honest understanding of their real history      The Publishers Weekly ,1993      The Library Journal ,1993 Includes beginning Sept 15 1954 and on the 15th of each month Sept May a special section School library journal ISSN 0000 0035 called Junior libraries 1954 May 1961 Also issued separately      The Marriage between Perfume and the Lyric Stage Mary May Robertson,2023-09-22 But what is this scent of balmy air What this ray of light in my tomb I seem to see an angel amid a scent of roses sings Florestan in Fidelio Beethoven's only opera The role of scents smells fragrances and odours in opera has long been neglected just as how much opera and its stars have influenced the world of perfumery from the nineteenth century to the present day In the first book length study on the topic Professor Mary May Robertson explores the relationship between opera perfumes and their respective protagonists in order to map out the previously undiscussed connection between the two Through compelling close readings of librettos and rigorous research through thousands of bottles of perfume the reader will come to appreciate and recognise the influences and exchanges between operas and perfumes and their ultimate marriage in the previously unrecognised genre of Operatic Perfumes which is to say perfumes named after operas composers and their divas      Library Journal ,1993      New York Alexandra Carroll,2015-10-27 New York is an extraordinary city A place of pilgrimage for world travelers it's a dream destination for the serious culture buff style hunter and aesthetically minded wanderer In this inspiring guide Alexandra Carroll takes you beyond the well known facades and
