Morison, 1885 Islands in History and Representation Rod Edmond, Vanessa Smith, 2020-10-28 This innovative collection of essays explores the ways in which islands have been used imagined and theorised both by island dwellers and continentals This study considers how island dwellers conceived of themselves and their relation to proximate mainlands and examines the fascination that islands have long held in the European imagination The collection addresses the significance of islands in the Atlantic economy of the eighteenth century the exploration of the Pacific the important role played by islands in the process of decolonisation and island oriented developments in postcolonial writing Islands were often seen as natural colonies or settings for ideal communities but they were also used as dumping grounds for the unwanted a practice which has continued into the twentieth century The collection argues the need for an island based theory within postcolonial studies and suggests how this might be constructed Covering a historical span from the eighteenth to the twentieth century the contributors include literary and postcolonial critics historians and geographers The Shadow of God Michael Rosen, 2022-06-30 Michael Rosen shows how the redemptive hope of religion became the redemptive hope of historical progress This was the heart of German Idealism purpose lay not in God s judgment but in worldly projects freedom required not being subject to arbitrary authority human or divine Yet purpose and freedom never shed their theistic structure Crossing Boundaries John A. McCarthy, 2016-11-11 Crossing Boundaries focuses on the intellectual and social factors that led to the emergence and first flowering of the German essay John McCarthy challenges traditional ways of thinking about literature by concentrating on the impact of Enlightenment philosophy rhetoric genre theory and literary life on the evolution of essayistic writing in German Taking issue with the commonly held view that the German essay did not evolve until after 1750 and then only under the influence of French and British models McCarthy argues that Enlightenment skepticism and the social ideas of the galant homme spawned an early native form. Varieties of that form a kind of writing the author terms essayism were pervasive extending into a variety of genres in the hands of writers such as Leibniz, Lessing, Goethe, Schiller and Schlegel. He combines in depth analyses of representative essays with unique adaptations of recent developments in literary theory, intellectual history, literary history and social history. McCarthy's argument is centrally concerned with the critical reexamination of the categories of knowledge and of the means of disseminating information that characterized eighteenth century thought. The essay, an experimental form that crosses boundaries of discipline and genre, is derived from this new emphasis and is the clearest reflection of the dialectic interplay among thinking, writing and reading. It is also, as such, the genre or mode most closely related to Enlightenment philosophy itself. Catalogue des livres de ... A.M.H. Boulard, Antoine Marie H.

Karl Jaspers Dr Chris Thornhill, Chris Thornhill, 2013-10-31 This book sets out a new reading of the much neglected philosophy of Karl Jaspers. By questioning the common perception of Jaspers either as a proponent of irrationalist cultural philosophy or as an early peripheral disciple of Martin Heidegger, it re-establishes him as a central figure in modern European philosophy. Giving particular consideration to his position in epistemological, metaphysical and political debate, the author argues that Jaspers's work deserves renewed consideration in a number of important discussions, particularly in hermeneutics, anthropological reflections on religion, the critique of idealism and debates on the end of metaphysics.

Sämtliche Schriften Martin Luther, 1741 Becoming Human Chad Wellmon, 2010 Examines the crisis of a late eighteenth century anthropology as it relates to the emergence of a modern consciousness that sees itself as condemned to draw its norms and very self understanding from itself.
