Framing The Margins:

Persian Calligraphy Mahdijeh Meidani, 2019-09-04 This book is an exploratory adventure to defamiliarize calligraphy especially Persian Nastaliq calligraphic letterforms and to look beyond the tradition that has always considered calligraphy as pursuant to and subordinate to linguistic practices Calligraphy can be considered a visual communicative system with different means of meaning making or as a medium through which meaning is made and expression is conveyed via a complex grammar This study looks at calligraphy as a systematic means in the field of visual communication rather than as a one dimensional and ad hoc means of providing visual beauty and aesthetic enjoyment Revolving around different insights of multimodal social semiotics the volume relies on the findings of a corpus study of Persian Nastaliq calligraphy The research emphasizes the way in which letterforms regardless of conventions in language are applied as graphically meaningful forms that convey individual distinct meanings This volume on Persian Nastaliq calligraphy will be inspirational to visual artists designers calligraphers writers linguists and visual communicators With an introduction to social semiotics this work will be of interest to students and scholars interested in visual arts media and communication and semiotics Bartolozzi and His Works Andrew White Tuer, 1882 Framing the Margins Phillip Brian Harper, 1994-01-06 This dramatic rereading of postmodernism seeks to broaden current theoretical conceptions of the movement as both a social philosophical condition and a literary and cultural phenomenon Phil Harper contends that the fragmentation considered to be characteristic of the postmodern age can in fact be traced to the status of marginalized groups in the United States since long before the contemporary era This status is reflected in the work of American writers from the thirties through the fifties whom Harper addresses in this study including Nathanael West Ana s Nin Djuna Barnes Ralph Ellison and Gwendolyn Brooks Treating groups that are disadvantaged or disempowered whether by circumstance of gender race or sexual orientation the writers profiled here occupy the cusp between the modern and the postmodern between the recognizably modernist aesthetic of alienation and the fragmented disordered sensibility of postmodernism Proceeding through close readings of these literary texts in relation to various mass cultural productions Harper examines the social placement of the texts in the scope of literary history while analyzing more minutely the interior effects of marginalization implied by the fictional characters enacting these narratives In particular he demonstrates how these works represent the experience of social marginality as highly fractured and fracturing and indicates how such experience is implicated in the phenomenon of postmodernist fragmentation Harper thus accomplishes the vital task of recentring cultural focus on issues and groups that are decentered by very definition and thereby specifies the sociopolitical significance of postmodernism in a way that has not yet been done Report Connecticut.
