Framing Marginality:

Framing Marginality Sneja Marina Gunew, 1994 Framing Marginality draws on feminist post structuralist and post colonial criticism to examine how non Anglo Celtic writings circulate in Australia and how they are transforming definitions of Australian literature Comparative multicultural studies recent critiques of English studies as an imperial apparatus and the deconstruction of universal notions of culture by such scholars as Edward Said Homi Bhabha Gayatri Spivak and Trinh Minh ha also provide means for us to try to answer these questions A Companion to Australian Literature Since 1900 Nicholas Birns, Rebecca McNeer, 2007 A fresh twenty first century look at Australian literature in a broad inclusive and multicultural sense Framing and Imagining Disease in Cultural History G. Rousseau, M. Gill, D. Haycock, M. Herwig, 2003-07-03 Throughout human history illness has been socially interpreted before its range of meanings could be understood and disseminated Writers of diverse types have been as active in constructing these meanings as doctors yet it is only recently that literary traditions have been recognized as a rich archive for these interpretations These essays focus on the methodological hurdles encountered in retrieving these interpretations called framing by the authors Framing and Imagining Disease in Cultural History aims to explain what has been said about these interpretations and to compare their value Singing the Self Rachel S. Platonov, 2012-07-31 A study of the phenomenon of guitar poetry a type of acoustic protest music that flourished in the Soviet Union between the post Stalinist and Gorbachev years Essays in Migratory Aesthetics , 2015-06-29 This volume addresses the impact of human movement on the aesthetic practices that make up the fabric of culture The essays explore the ways in which cultural activities ranging from the habitual gestures of the body to the production of specific artworks register the impact of migration from the forced transportation of slaves to the New World and of Jews to the death camps to the economic migration of peoples between the West and its erstwhile colonies from the internal and external exile of Palestinians to the free movement of cosmopolitan intellectuals Rather than focusing exclusively on art produced by those identified as migrant subjects this collection opens up the question of how aesthetics itself migrates transforming not only its own practices and traditions but also the very nature of our being in the world as subjects producing as well as produced by the cultures in which we live The transformative potential of cultures on the move is both affirmed and critiqued throughout the collection as part of an exploration of the ways in which globalisation implicates us ever more tightly in the unequal relations of production that characterise late modernity This collection brings academic scholars from a variety of disciplines into conversation with practising visual and verbal artists indeed many of the essays break down the distinction between artist and academic suggesting a dynamic interchange between critical reflection and creativity A Career in Writing David John Carter, 1993 This thesis examines the literary career of Judah Waten 1911 1985 in order to focus on a series of issues in Australian cultural history and theory The purpose is not to discover a single key to Waten s writing across the oeuvre but rather to plot the specific occasions of this writing in the context of the structure of a career and the cultural institutions within which it was formed

Marginality in the Urban Center Peary Brug, Zachary S. Ritter, Kenneth R. Roth, 2018-12-22 This book examines the increasing marginalization of and response by people living in urban areas throughout the Western Hemisphere and both the local and global implications of continued colonial racial hierarchies and the often dire consequences they have for people perceived as different However in the aftermath of recent U S elections whiteness also seems to embody strictures on religion ethnicity country of origin and almost any other personal characteristic deemed suspect at the moment For that reason gender race and even class collectively may not be sufficient units of analysis to study the marginalizing mechanisms of the urban center The authors interrogate the social and institutional structures that facilitate the disenfranchisement or downward trajectory of groups and their potential or subsequent lack of access to mainstream rewards The book also seeks to highlight examples where marginalized groups have found ways to assert their equality No recent texts have attempted to connect the mechanisms of marginality across geographical and political boundaries within the Western Hemisphere

Indigenous Australian cultures were long known to the world mainly from the writing of anthropologists ethnographers historians missionaries and others Indigenous Australians themselves have worked across a range of genres to challenge and reconfigure this textual legacy so that they are now strongly represented through their own life narratives of identity history politics and culture Even as Indigenous authored texts have opened up new horizons of engagement with Aboriginal knowledge and representation however the textual politics of some of these narratives particularly when cross culturally produced or edited can remain haunted by colonially grounded assumptions about orality and literacy Through an examination of key moments in the theorizing of orality and literacy and key texts in cross culturally produced Indigenous life writing Entangled Subjects explores how some of these works can sustain rather than trouble the frontier zone established by modernity in relation to talk and text Yet contemporary Indigenous vernaculars offer radical new approaches to how we might move beyond the orality literacy frontier and how modernity and the a modern are Productively entangled in the process The Postcolonial Exotic Graham Huggan,2002-09-26 Travel writing it has been said helped produce the rest of
