Teikoku Daigaku (Imperial University of Japan) , 1896      The Second Language Acquisition of French Tense, Aspect, Mood and Modality Dalila Ayoun, 2013-07-04 Temporal aspectual systems have a great potential of informing our understanding of the developing competence of second language learners So far the vast majority of empirical studies investigating L2 acquisition have largely focused on past temporality neglecting the acquisition of the expression of the present and future temporalities with rare exceptions aside from ESL learners leaving unanswered the question of how the investigation of different types of temporality may inform our understanding of the acquisition of temporal aspectual and mood systems as a whole This monograph addresses this question by focusing on three main objectives a to contribute to the already impressive body of research in the L2 acquisition of tense aspect and mood modality from a generative perspective and in so doing to present a more complete picture of the processes of L2 acquisition in general b to bridge the gap between linguistic theory and L2 acquisition c to make empirical findings more accessible to language instructors by proposing concrete pedagogical applications      French Applied Linguistics Dalila Ayoun, 2007-01-11 This state of the art volume on French Applied Linguistics includes two introductory chapters the first summarizes the past present and future of French in applied linguistics and the second reviews the history of French from a sociolinguistic perspective The six chapters of the first part cover the core aspects of the second language acquisition of French phonology semantics syntax syntax morphology pragmatics sociolinguistics and grammatical gender The seven chapters of the second part explore the contribution of French in various subfields of applied linguistics such as language ideology and foreign language pedagogy corpus linguistics and French Sign Language A chapter studies the role of affective variables on language learning while another investigates natural language and lexical creativity The chapters on creole studies and applied linguistics in West Africa address issues in first and second language acquisition in complex sociolinguistic and political contexts The last chapter serves as an epilogue focusing on Louisiana a region rich in linguistic history

Resources in Education ,2001-10      The Acquisition of Sociolinguistic Competence in a Study Abroad Context Vera Regan,Martin Howard,Isabelle Lemée,2009 Drawing on cross sectional and longitudinal analyses of a range of sociolinguistic variables in L2 French this volume explores the relationship between study abroad and the acquisition of sociolinguistic variation patterns by the advanced second language learner Within a variationist paradigm the findings illuminate a number of issues in relation to the role of speaker identity gender and L2 exposure and contact

Dialogue and Culture Marion Grein,Edda Weigand,2007-12-06 The volume deals with the relationship between language dialogue human nature and culture by focusing on an approach that considers culture to be a crucial component of dialogic interaction Part I refers to the so called language instinct debate between nativists and empiricists and introduces a mediating position that regards language and dialogue as determined by both human nature and culture This sets the framework for the contributions of Part II which propose varying theoretical positions on how to address the ways in which culture influences dialogue Part III presents more empirically oriented studies which demonstrate the interaction of components in the mixed game and focus in particular on specific action games politeness and selected verbal means of communication

Native-Speakerism in Japan Stephanie Ann Houghton,Damian J. Rivers,2013-02-19 The relative status of native and non native speaker language teachers within educational institutions has long been an issue worldwide but until recently the voices of teachers articulating their own concerns have been rare Existing work has tended to focus upon the position of non native teachers and their struggle against unfavourable comparisons with their native speaker counterparts However more recently native speaker language teachers have also been placed in the academic spotlight as interest grows in language based forms of prejudice such as native speakerism a dominant ideology prevalent within the Japanese context of English language education This innovative volume explores wide ranging issues related to native speakerism as it manifests itself in the Japanese and Italian educational contexts to show how native speaker teachers can also be the targets of multifarious

forms of prejudice and discrimination in the workplace

The Social Life of the Japanese Language Shigeko

Okamoto, Janet S. Shibamoto-Smith, 2016-08-04 Why are different varieties of the Japanese language used differently in social interaction and how are they perceived How do honorifics operate to express diverse affective stances such as politeness Why have issues of gendered speech been so central in public discourse and how are they reflected and refracted in language use as social practice This book examines Japanese sociolinguistic phenomena from a fascinating new perspective focusing on the historical construction of language norms and its relationship to actual language use in contemporary Japan This socio historically sensitive account stresses the different choices which have shaped Japanese and Western sociolinguistics and how varieties of Japanese honorifics and politeness and gendered language have emerged in response to the socio political landscape in which a modernizing Japan found itself

French as Language of Intimacy in the Modern Age Madeleine

Strien-Chardonneau, Marie-Christine Kok Escalle, 2025-10-01 For centuries French was the language of international commercial and diplomatic relations a near dominant language in literature and poetry and was widely used in teaching It even became the fashionable language of choice in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries for upper class Dutch Russians Italians Egyptians and others for personal correspondence travel journals and memoirs This book is the first to take a close look at how French was used in that latter context outside of France in personal and private life It gathers contributions from historians literary scholars and linguists and covers a wide range of geographical areas
