A Hammer in Their Hands Carroll W. Pursell, 2005 Newspaper and magazine articles advertisements for runaway slaves letters folklore legal patents protest pamphlets and other primary sources document the technological achievements of African Americans from colonial times to the present Barbara Hammer in the Seventies Krystyna Mazur, 2025-01-13 Barbara Hammer in the Seventies Or What a Body Can Do addresses the intersection of experimental film lesbian sexuality and the women's movement in Hammer's early films Grounded in an embodied sexual and gendered positionality these films interrogate the politics of visibility and identity and perform a discontinuous repertoire of lesbian images that resist the medium of film's established constraints and the decade's broader systems of signification Hammer's films offer a critique of the dominant discourse that privileges the discreteness and self sufficiency of the individualistic human subject By performing the lesbian body in its environment in erotic and communal relation to other bodies and staging the relation of human bodies with the materiality of non human beings and objects they create a site of intervention into the humanist project as it informs film studies feminism and queer theory This rereading of Hammer's work offers an important contribution to conversations between feminism and queer studies In remembering the feminist origins of queer studies it recenters political and ethical questions such as the fundamental relationality of the subject the subject's dependency on others and the resulting ethical responsibility for and towards the other The Masonic Review, 1896 Bulletin of the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, 1917 Specifications and Drawings of Patents Issued from the United States Patent Office United States.
