Nutritional Intervention in the Aging Process H.J. Armbrecht, J.M. Prendergast, R.M. Coe, 2012-12-06

There has been much popular and scientific interest in the fields of nutrition and aging in recent years As the importance of proper nutrition in children and young adults becomes more fully understood it is natural to wonder if proper nutrition could play a similar role in later life Recent research has indicated that nutrition can potentially intervene in the aging process in at least two ways First studies in animals and humans have shown that nutrition can be used to improve functional status which in turn is related to perceived quality of life Second nutritional manipulation has been used to extend maximal life span in laboratory animals How these interesting findings apply to the human situation remains to be explored The purpose of this book is twofold The first is to present recent advances in our basic knowledge of how nutrition and aging interact with each other The second is to discuss some applications of this knowledge to the care of the elderly patient The interaction between aging and nutrition is complex because each may act on the other in either a synergistic or antagonistic fashion Aging may alter the nutritional status of the elderly by affecting the way nutrients are absorbed and utilized by the body Aging may also influence food intake and therefore nutritional status by decreasing the palatability of food. The environment of the elderly may change so they are less likely to eat well balanced meals.

Handbook of Clinical Nutrition and Aging Connie W. Bales, Christine S. Ritchie, 2009-04-09 As the older adult population continues to grow so will the prevalence and incidence of age related disorders. In Handbook of Clinical Nutrition and Aging Second Edition the editors and contributors a panel of recognized academic nutritionists geriatricians clinicians and scientists have thoroughly updated and revised their widely acclaimed first edition with fresh perspectives and the latest scientific and clinical developments in age associated disease. New chapters tackle ecological perspectives on adult eating behavior and behavioral theories applied to nutritional therapies in aging while topics such as Sarcopenia and Cachexia are discussed in greater detail. The authors outline the physiological basis for each disorder provide the latest information about the interaction of nutrition with these conditions and review the potential routes and mechanisms for clinical intervention. Timely and authoritative Handbook of Clinical Nutrition and Aging Second Edition is a unique comprehensive resource and will prove a valuable guide to all nutritionists physicians nurses dietitians and speech language and occupational therapists who provide care for the rapidly expanding aging population.

Dietetic Service Operation Handbook Karen S. Kolasa, 1994 Integrative Geriatric Nutrition Julie Wendt, Colleen Considine, Mikhail Kogan, 2021-10-09 This book provides a review of therapeutic foods and diets for aging patients. Drawing from extensive clinical experience in large integrative medical practices it offers a unique and thorough perspective on the challenges that older adults present and the most effective ways to integrate nutritional approaches into their care. Nutritional therapies included here improve patient quality of life via noninvasive lower cost care and reduce systemic dependencies in a growing demographic. This book looks at condition specific interventions to equip the practitioner with a thorough understanding of when to call upon specific diet interventions. The text revolves around easily translated clinical tools such as tables graphs case studies and examples to assure multicultural adaptation of evidence based approaches for conventional use in clinical settings. Integrative Geriatric Nutrition A Practitioner's Guide to Dietary Approaches for Older Adults is a concise yet thorough resource for all physicians and medical students who treat aging patients including geriatricians nutritionists family physicians gastroenterologists nursing home administrators nurses other healthcare providers geriatric advocates and inquisitive consumers.

Handbook of Nutrition and Food Carolyn D. Berdanier, Johanna T. Dwyer, Elaine B. Feldman, 2007-08-24 Significantly revised and updated this second edition of the bestselling Handbook of Nutrition and Food welcomes contributions from several new authors including Elaine B. Feldman and Johanna Dwyer notable leaders in nutritional science. Retaining the high level of scientific research accessible language and attention to detail of the original.

Geriatric Nutrition John E. Morley, David R. Thomas, 2007-05-30 In a vicious cycle poor nutritional health leads to acute and chronic disease and disease states are catastrophic to nutritional health. The magnitude of nutritional depletion from any cause depends to a large extent on the nutritional reserves an individual has.

accumulated over time In our increasingly older population nutritional reserves are National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1982 Handbook of Pain and Aging David I. Mostofsky, Jacob Lomranz,2013-11-11 From time to time professional journals and edited volumes devote some of their pages to considerations of pain and aging as they occur among the aged in different cultures and populations One starts from several reasonable assumptions among them that aging per se is not a disease process yet the risk and frequency of disease processes increase with ongoing years The physical body s functioning and ability to restore all forms of damage and insult slow down the immune system becomes compromised and the slow growing pathologies reach their critical mass in the later years The psychological body also becomes weaker with unfulfilled promises and expectations and with tragedies that visit individuals and families and the prospect that whatever worlds remain to be conquered will most certainly not be met with success in the rapidly passing days and years that can only culminate in death Despair and depression coupled with infirmity and sensory and or motor inefficiency aggravate both the threshold and the tolerance for discomfort and synergistically collaborate to perpetuate a vicious cycle in which the one may mask the other Although the clinician is armed with the latest advances in medicine and pharmacology significant improvement continues to elude her or him The geriatric specialist all too familiar with such realities usually can offer little else than a hortative to learn to live with it but the powers and effectiveness of learning itself have declined
