Judy Kutulas argues that while early sitcoms tended to reinforce conventional visions of motherhood more complex and problematized mothers began rising to prominence as cultural norms continued to diversify. Ultimately Kutulas explores and demonstrates how increasingly diverse depictions of motherhood reflect changing social expectations new social and professional opportunities and expanding debates about what it means to be a mother. Scholars of television media American cultural and women's studies will find this book of particular interest.

First Person, First Peoples Andrew Garrod, Colleen Larimore, 1997 Native American students entering college often experience a dramatic confrontation of cultures As one of the writers in this remarkable collective memoir remarks When I was a child I was taught certain things don t stand up to your elders don t question authority life is precious the earth is precious take it slowly enjoy it And then you go to college and you learn all these other things that never fit Making things fit finding that elusive balance between tribal values and the demands of campus life is a recurring theme in this landmark collection of personal essays Navajo or Choctaw Tlingit or Sioux each of the essayists all graduates of Dartmouth College gives a heartfelt account of struggle and adjustment The result is a compelling portrait of the anguish Native American students feel justifying the existence of their own cultures not only to other students but also throughout the predominantly white institutions they have joined Among the contributors are a tribal court judge and a professional baseball player the first Navajo woman surgeon and the former executive director of a Native American preparatory school Their memories and insights are unparalleled

I Am Where I Come From Andrew C. Garrod, Robert Kilkenny, Melanie Benson Taylor, 2017-04-25 The organizing principle for this anthology is the common Native American heritage of its authors and yet that thread proves to be the most tenuous of all as the experience of indigeneity differs radically for each of them While many experience a centripetal pull toward a cohesive Indian experience the indications throughout these essays lean toward a richer more illustrative panorama of difference What tends to bind them together are not cultural practices or spiritual attitudes per se but rather circumstances that have no exclusive province in Indian country that is first and foremost poverty and its attendant symptoms of violence substance abuse and both physical and mental illness Education plays a critical role in such lives many of the authors recall adoring school as young people as it constituted a place of escape and a rare opportunity to thrive While many of the writers do return to their tribal communities after graduation ideas about home become more malleable and complicated from the Introduction

I Am Where I Come From presents the autobiographies of thirteen Native American undergraduates and graduates of Dartmouth College ten of them current and recent students Twenty years ago Cornell University Press published First Person First Peoples Native American College Graduates Tell Their Life Stories also about the experiences of Native American students at Dartmouth College I Am Where I Come From addresses similar themes and experiences but it is very much a new book for a new generation of college students Three of the essays from the earlier book are gathered into a section titled Continuing Education each followed by a shorter reflection from the author on his or her experience since writing the original essay All three have changed jobs multiple times returned to school for advanced degrees started and increased their families and along the way continuously revised and refined what it means to be Indian The autobiographies contained in I Am Where I Come From explore issues of native identity adjustment to the college environment cultural and familial influences and academic and career aspirations The memoirs are notable for their eloquence and bravery

Owen Marshall Selected Stories Vincent O'Sullivan, 2010-05-01 A generous selection from New Zealand's foremost writer of short stories Peter Simpson in reviewing Owen Marshall's stories in the New Zealand Listener wrote Marshall is held in uncommon affection by New Zealand readers generally we admire and respect rather than love our writers This love is perhaps evoked not just by the superb quality of Marshall's writing but because his stories so precisely capture his fellow New Zealanders and their country From the provinces to the cities the remote landscapes to journeying overseas Marshall's stories show a deep understanding of who and where we are Sometimes he skewers the locals with sharp and sly comedy in other stories there's an elegiac sadness or a grim reality but always an insightful exploration of human emotions From the substantial body of work created over the last thirty years critic writer and academic Vincent O'Sullivan has selected sixty stories that give a wide representation of Marshall's range He once wrote that short stories should aspire to a combination of intransigence and poetry both of which are evident in this fine selection Marshall is a writer who speaks with equal intensity to the unbearable loveliness and malevolence of life

Grandma's Secrets & Memories Solveig Rogstad Larsen, 2004-03 This Norwegian immigrant's true adventures and lifetime story reveals how special an everyday common person's life can be when dedicated early and diligently to Jesus of faithful women who valued, nourished and trained their children sometimes against all odds. These are women of virtue and godly character whose faith, patience, sacrifice and humor forever shaped the sons and daughters now walking in their footsteps. In a culture where Christianity is increasingly marginalized and children are pulled away from faith in a world that is cold, raw and harsh in a society built on high achievement, self-serving goals and shortsighted pursuits, may God continue to raise up women of faith who will minister the Word of God, love their families and show us the way home. Mark L. Williams, Church of God Overseer.

Missionary Mom Shontelle Brewer, 2018-10-23. Mission work is not for the faint of heart. We admire those brave souls who leave behind the comforts of home and go to foreign fields to bring the love of Christ to people in need. And sometimes it feels uninspiring to be stuck at home in the day-to-day of parenting when others are out there changing the world, soul by soul. Shontell Brewer has a message to renew the spirits of everyday moms; they too have a critical calling as the very first missionaries their children meet. In her informal, funny voice, Brewer points out the many unexpected parallels. A missionary may need to learn a foreign language and new customs to understand and communicate with those around her. A missionary has to follow the path God puts before her, sacrificing sleep, comfort, time and toilets. Sound like any moms you know? Brewer tackles common challenges from mom guilt to the temptation to be a martyr to those days when it feels like only a box of cookies and a Netflix binge can restore a sense of peace. But through it all, she shares the truth that there is more to parenting than potty training and orthodontist appointments. Mothers make the love of Christ tangible and understandable to their children. With determination and a few purposeful steps, moms can embrace their own mission field, leading their families' heart, soul, mind and strength to Christ.

When Your Parent Becomes Your Child Ken Abraham, 2012. When Your Parent Becomes Your Child tells the story of one family's journey through dementia while offering hope to family members and friends that they might better understand the effects of the disease.

Truth-telling and the Ancient University Gavin John Morris, Miriam-Rose Ungunmerr-Baumann, Judith Atkinson, Emma L. Schuberg, 2023-10-25. This book shares a strength-based truth-telling model which reveals the trauma associated with the experience of colonisation and the traditional healing practices specific to the Nauiyu Nambiyu community in Australia. It explores the significance of community placed on developing the Ancient University, an Aboriginal-based stand-alone healing centre that incorporates traditional healing practices. This book outlines the truth-telling model which was developed by the Nauiyu community to address a community need. This unique approach represents a deliberate shift from decolonial scholarship which merely captures Indigenous voice speaking back to the colonisers. This book explores Indigenous critical pedagogies to investigate theoretical frameworks with implications for planning learning and teaching which are culturally responsive in a variety of contexts. It is the first of its kind that utilises an Indigenous research methodology on the country and with the people to which it belongs.
