C.L.E.A.N.E.R. Economy ,1994 Energy Efficiency Leslie A. Solmes,2009-09-30 ENERGY EFFICIENCY uses an applied scientific methodology and case studies to demonstrate and support The need for the U S and the world to commit to energy and resource efficiency as the central goal in investing in electric heat and cooling infrastructure the huge economic opportunity for using the inefficiency built into 20th century energy supply systems especially electric to pay for the upgrades replacements and new production and distribution systems of the 21st century the importance of adopting a standard web based energy infrastructure investment decision making and risk management tool that will serve as a communication medium for all stakeholders to evaluate and compare energy infrastructure investment options and manage investment risks expansions of the U S smart grid investment to include evaluation and risk management of energy systems infrastructure investments not just electricity operations the need to adopt a framework for utilities energy service companies and customers to work together to close business deals communicate and manage risks and realize profits The Dirty Energy Dilemma Benjamin K. Sovacool,2008-10-30 The American electric utility system is quietly falling apart Once taken for granted the industry has become increasingly unstable fragmented unreliable insecure inefficient expensive and harmful to our environment and public health According to Sovacool the fix for this ugly array of problems lies not in nuclear power or clean coal but in renewable energy systems that produce few harmful byproducts relieve congestion on the transmission grid require less maintenance are not subject to price volatility and enhance the security of the national energy system from natural catastrophe terrorist attack and dependence on supply from hostile and unstable regions of the world Here arises The Dirty Energy Dilemma If renewable energy systems deliver such impressive benefits why are they languishing at the margins of the American energy portfolio And why does the United States lag so far behind Europe where conversion to renewable energy systems has already taken off in a big way Corporate media parrot industry PR that renewable technologies just aren't ready for prime time But Sovacool marshals extensive field research to show that the only barrier blocking the conversion of a significant proportion of the U S energy portfolio to renewables is not technological the technology is there but institutional Public utility commissioners utility managers system operators business owners and ordinary consumers are hobbled by organizational conservatism technical incompatibility legal inertia weak and inconsistent political incentives ill founded prejudices and apathy The author argues that significant conversion to technologically proven clean energy systems can happen only if we adopt and implement a whole new set of policies that will target and dismantle the insidious social barriers that are presently blocking decisions that would so obviously benefit society CIS Annual Congressional Information Service,1993
