Balmaceda, 2007-12-06 Energy has become a major element to Russia s attempts under Putin to restore its influence over former Soviet territories and reaffirm itself as the dominant regional power This book investigates how Russia has manipulated the energy of its neighbours on Russian energy supplies to achieve its foreign policy goals focusing in particular on relations with Ukraine This book based on a multitude of primary Ukrainian and Russian primary sources until now not brought to the attention of Western readers examines important events such as Russia s January 2006 suspension of gas supplies to Ukraine and the implications for Ukraine s Orange Revolution other post Soviet states and Western Europe However it goes further in showing how domestic political conditions in non Russian states may facilitate Russia s use of energy as a foreign policy weapon investigating the local groups that often receive significant profits from allowing Russia to control energy markets and energy transit possibilities With European countries becoming more dependent upon Russian energy this book will be of interest not only to Russian Studies and Eastern European Studies experts but to scholars of international relations and European politics Politics of Energy Dependency Margarita M. Balmaceda,2014-01-31 Energy has been an important element in Moscow s quest to exert power and influence in its surrounding areas both before and after the collapse of the USSR With their political independence in 1991 Ukraine Belarus and Lithuania also became virtually overnight separate energy poor entities heavily dependent on Russia This increasingly costly dependency and elites scrambling over associated profits came to crucially affect not only relations with Russia but the very nature of post independence state building The Politics of Energy Dependency explores why these states were unable to move towards energy diversification Through extensive field research using previously untapped local language sources Margarita M Balmaceda reveals a complex picture of local elites dealing with the complications of energy dependency and in the process affecting the energy security of Europe as a whole A must read for anyone interested in Eastern Europe Russia and the politics of natural resources this book reveals the insights gained by looking at post Soviet development and international relations issues not only from a Moscow centered perspective but from that of individual actors in other states

Energy Policies of Ukraine Agence internationale de l'énergie,1996 Economic Reform in Ukraine: The Unfinished Agenda Anders Aslund,Georges De Menil,2019-08-07 Ukraine may have taken a gradualist approach to economic reform but the results have been no better than in Russia The editors have assembled the leading specialists on the Ukrainian economy including officials from major Ukrainian and international economic institutions to outline the major problems of the economy analyze the initial phases of economic reform in Ukraine assess their outcomes and chart the way forward Donor Coordination of Economic Assistance to Eastern Europe Gerrit Stratmann,2000 A major restriction to Western aid efforts has been a lack of coordination This book delves into the determinants of successful cooperation between bi and multilateral donor agencies at the example of Western aid to Eastern Europe in the period from 1990 to 1996 In raising the assumption that networking between international organizations cannot be stimulated by appealing to norm oriented behavior but is contingent upon the existence of common interests the idealist view of international relations is seriously challenged Comparing different assistance sectors energy telecoms mass privatization agriculture statistics central banking environment and education it is shown that donor coordination is a form of collective action initiated by donors in response to sectoral market failure which is perceived as significant because it threatens the non attainment of basic goals or inflicts own projects with high costs or risks

Energy And Environment In The Transition Economies William Chandler,2018-02-13 Energy and environmental issues in the former Soviet sphere rank as global policy priorities for three reasons First civilian application of military nuclear materials multiplies the threat of terrorism Second Russian and Caspian oil resources affect world markets Western energy security and regional stability Third climate change may become a global challenge commensurate with the Cold War and the transition economies the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe offer the world s largest and cheapest near term opportunities for curbing greenhouse gas emissions Yet the region remains unprepared to deal with these issues and Western assistance has failed to help A second generation of reform efforts is needed led from within but supported by the West In Energy and Environmental Policies in the Transition Economies William Chandler synthesizes disparate specialized analyses and publications He draws on a relatively large body of research on energy technology oil and gas markets geopolitics finance economic reform and environmental science specific to Russia eastern Europe and the transition economies In successive chapters Chandler reviews energy use energy efficiency nuclear safety and security petroleum geoeconomics coal utility monopoly and competition and environmental and climatic change in the former Soviet Union and Central and Eastern Europe Chandler also considers options for a second generation of reform efforts The subject matter of the book is significant not only for the energy and environmental policies themselves important though they are but because those policies in turn affect regional political stability and Western energy security Energy and Environmental Policies in the Transition Economies will be of considerable interest to policymakers in government to private sector actors to academic scholars and to students of international energy and environmental politics

Modernizing Infrastructure in Transformation Economies Christian von Hirschhausen,2002-01-01 The design of infrastructure policies is a controversial issue in the transition economies of Eastern Europe where the dismal state of infrastructure was widely regarded to be one of the major obstacles to economic recovery and sustained growth With the imminent enlargement of the EU Christian von Hirschhausen provides a detailed reflective analysis of the state of infrastructure development in Eastern Europe

Phasing Out Lead from Gasoline in Central and Eastern Europe Magda Lovei,1997-01-01 Annotation Implementing the Environmental Action Programme for Central and Eastern Europe As a result of increasing awareness of the dangers of lead to human health and measures to tackle urban air pollution the use of lead additives in gasoline has been declining rapidly worldwide since the 1970s A number of countries have completely eliminated the use of lead additives in gasoline but in Central and Eastern Europe lead still ranks as one of the most serious and widespread environmental hazards yet one that is relatively inexpensive to remedy At a major international conference on the environment held in Switzerland in 1993 fifty countries endorsed the Environmental Action Programme for Central and Eastern Europe which addressed environmental priority issues such as lead exposure Phasing out Lead from Gasoline in Central and Eastern Europe summarizes the findings of case studies on lead phase out as a first step study designed to assist in the implementation of the Environmental Action Programme It examines major sources and levels of lead exposure in the region looks at the costs of phasing out leaded gasoline describes progress in reducing lead exposure over the past 5 8 years identifies human health improvements and draws on lessons of experience from countries in the region One of the case studies for example describes in detail the complete phase out of leaded gasoline in the Slovak Republic Although it recognizes the importance of dealing with all significant sources of lead exposure the study focuses on lead exposure from the exhaust of vehicles using leaded gasoline

Towards Competition in Network Industries Paul J.J. Welfens, George Yarrow, Ruslan Grinberg, Cornelius Graack, 2012-12-06 Competition in network industries faces particular problems which are analyzed from both a theoretical and policy perspective Issues of vertical integration deregulation and privatization are covered While competition and privatization are rapidly unfolding in telecommunications in Western and Eastern Europe energy and railway transportation represent sectors of more gradual liberalization The different market characteristics of telecommunications energy and transportation raise consistency problems in the fields of deregulation investment strategies and internationalization While transformation policies create opportunities for liberalization in Eastern Europe and Russia the latter shows critical problems in ending monopoly and state ownership Network industries could be subject to competition and promise major investment opportunities plus consumer benefits

Investments to Improve the Energy Efficiency of Existing Residential Buildings in Countries of the Former Soviet Union Eric Martinot, 1997-01-01 In the 1990s the issue of human resource development in Malaysia has gained prominence in public and private policy circles Discussions center around training policy where there are concerns about acute labor shortages and around industrial development policy which strives to maintain a skilled and well trained workforce to increase competitiveness and attract foreign direct investment But policymakers have been forced to make critical decisions on resource allocation and to design policies without access to comprehensive training data especially from the private sector This usually results in supply oriented policies stemming from mismatches between skills supplied by public training institutions and those actually needed by industry This report attempts to fill this information gap on private sector training as an aid in formulating training policies that are more demand driven The report contains rigorous analysis of private sector led training and addresses the issue of whether firms in Malaysia underinvest in training Data came from the Malaysia Economic Planning Units 1994 95 survey and analysis of 2 200 manufacturing firms The survey elicited information on firm sponsored training and on a wide range of firm attributes including size industry local or foreign ownership equipment technology quality control systems markets and exports workforce characteristics wages and other compensation and production The data document for the first time the incidence and characteristics of training in Malaysian industry across firms of different sizes ownership and output profiles The data create an unprecedented opportunity to study the critical links between training new technology and quality control A joint publication of the World Bank the United Nations Development Programme and the Malaysia Economic Planning Unit

Russian Imperialism Revisited Domitilla Sagramoso, 2020-03-05 This book examines the nature of Russia's relations with the former Soviet states FSS in particular with countries which formed the Commonwealth of Independent States in order to assess whether there has been a resurgence of Russian imperialism since the collapse of the USSR The book sets out to determine whether Russian leaders have attempted to restore a sphere of influence over the former Soviet republics or whether Russia's policies reflect a genuine desire to establish normal state to state relations with the new states It adopts a comprehensive approach analysing Russia's policies towards the FSS across a broad range of areas energy trade and investment military assistance security provision and peacekeeping conflict management political support and alliance formation While not denying the Kremlin's assertive role in the FSS this book challenges the assumption that Russia has always intended to restore a sphere of influence over its Near Abroad Rather it argues that Russia's policies are much more complex multi faceted and often more incoherent than is often assumed In essence Russia's actions generally reflect a combination of legitimate state interests enduring Soviet legacies and genuine concerns over events unfolding along Russia's borders This book also shows that at times Great Power nostalgia and a real difficulty with discarding Russia's imperial legacy shapes Russia's behaviour towards the FSS This book will be of great interest to students of Russian politics and foreign policy east European politics and International Relations in general

Russian Energy Chains Margarita M. Balmaceda, 2021-05-11 Russia's use of its vast energy resources for leverage against post Soviet states such as Ukraine is widely recognized as a threat Yet we cannot understand this danger without also understanding the opportunity that Russian energy represents From corruption related profits to transportation fee income to subsidized prices many within these states have benefited by participating in Russian energy exports To understand Russian energy power in the region it is necessary to look at the entire value chain including production processing transportation and marketing and at the full spectrum of domestic and external actors involved from Gazprom to regional oligarchs to European Union regulators This book follows Russia's three largest fossil fuel exports natural gas oil and coal from production in Siberia through transportation via Ukraine to final use in Germany in order to understand the tension between energy as threat and as opportunity Margarita M Balmaceda reveals how this dynamic has been a key driver of political development in post Soviet states in the period between independence in 1991 and Russia's annexation of Crimea in 2014 She analyzes how the physical characteristics of different types of energy by shaping how they can be transported distributed and even stolen affect how each is used not only technically but also politically Both a geopolitical travelogue of the journey of three fossil fuels across continents and an incisive analysis of technology's role in fossil fuel politics and economics this book offers new ways of thinking about energy in Eurasia and beyond

Ukraine at the Crossroads Axel Siedenberg, Lutz Hoffmann, 2012-12-06 Axel Siedenberg Lutz Hoffmann 1 The specificity of transformation in Ukraine When the Soviet empire collapsed in the very early 1990s the new era that dawned was commonly given the name transformation implying the systemic change from socialism towards some form of market economy Almost ten years later the transformation process does not exist any more instead a whole variety of transformations are taking place in Eastern Europe and the CIS Whereas some countries are heading towards EU membership e.g. Poland others are still pondering on what economic system to adopt e.g. Russia and yet others have rejected a market oriented transformation outright e.g. Belarus Within this variety of transformations Ukraine clearly stands out as a specific case Whilst initially considered to be one of the stronger post Soviet Republics it descended into economic depression in 1992 and has hardly recovered since on the other hand once considered to be a potential centre of ethnic unrest and political instability it has turned into a democratic peaceful civil society that is firmly establishing itself within the new European and world order This book takes a critical look at economic reform in Ukraine as compared to other East European and CIS countries Our hypothesis is that Ukraine is going through a transformation process peculiar to itself which can be traced at both macroeconomic and microeconomic level

Ukraine's Energy Policy and U.S. Strategic Interests in Eurasia Margarita Mercedes Balmaceda, 2004

The History of the International Energy Agency, 1974-1994 Richard Scott, 1994

Smokestack Diplomacy Robert G. Darst, 2001-01-02 Many environmental problems cross national boundaries and can be addressed only through international cooperation In this book Robert Darst examines transnational efforts to promote environmental protection in the USSR and in five of its successor states Russia Ukraine and the Baltic republics of Estonia Latvia and Lithuania from the late 1960s to the present The core of the book is a comparative study of three key issues nuclear power safety transboundary air pollution and Baltic Sea pollution Although expectations were high that the end of the Cold War and the breakup of the Soviet Union would lead to increased East West environmental cooperation the opposite has been true Russia and the other successor states have generally agreed to address such problems only when paid to do so Darst finds that post Cold War environmental cooperation has been most successful when there is an overlap between the environmental and economic interests of the successor states and those of their Western neighbors and when the foundation for cooperation was laid during the Cold War period The book is based on extensive original field research including interviews with diplomats government officials scientists and environmental activists in the successor states and Western Europe Its findings underscore the importance of the domestic and international political context in which international environmental policy making occurs It also deepens our understanding of the opportunities and dangers of positive inducements as a tool of international environmental policy
