Energy as a Sociotechnical Problem Christian Büscher, Jens Schippl, Patrick Sumpf, 2018-09-21 Energy as a Sociotechnical Problem offers an innovative approach to equip interdisciplinary research on sociotechnical transitions with coherence and focus The book emphasizes sociotechnical problems in three analytical dimensions In the control dimension, contributing authors examine how control can be maintained despite increasing complexity and uncertainty e.g. in power grid operations or on energy markets In the change dimension, the authors explore if and how change is possible despite the need for stable orientation e.g. regarding discourses, real-world labs and learning

Finally in the action dimension the authors analyze how the ability to act on a permanent basis is sustained despite opaqueness and ignorance exemplified by the work on trust capabilities or individual motives Drawing on contributions from engineering economics philosophy political science psychology and sociology the book assembles a range of classic and current themes including innovation resilience institutional economics design or education Energy as a Sociotechnical Problem presents the ongoing transformation of the energy complex as a multidimensional process in which the analytical dimensions interact with each other in shaping the energy future As such this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of energy transitions energy science and environmental social science more generally as well as to practitioners working within the field of energy policy Routledge Library Editions: Energy Various, 2021-07-09 Reissuing works originally published between 1964 and 1994 this set of ten volumes is an excellent collection of works on energy production and consumption economics and policy conservation and the crisis International in scope the volumes look at household energy conditions energy in the developing world political history and various other issues within the world of fuel and power This set is a resource for environment studies economics policy and politics sociology geography and other studies considering the use of energy in our world Wind, Water And Fire: The Other Renewable Energy Resources Gerard M Crawley, 2021-02-25 This volume focuses on a few renewable energy sources viz wind energy plus energy from water movement and natural temperature differences that in principle could provide enormous energy resources Energy from wind has been a rapidly growing source of energy as wind turbines have grown in size and especially as wind turbines have moved offshore Hydroelectric dams have continued to be used as energy sources particularly in developing countries Other energy sources using water including waves and tidal sources are also discussed in this volume Finally the volume discusses differences between deep and surface ocean temperatures plus the extraction of energy from the earth's extremely large energy resource of magma deep below the surface These latter two energy resources in particular require further development and the current book describes the latest advances coupled with pointing possible paths forward Solar Energy Gerard M Crawley, 2016-04-14 Concerns about energy resources and the environmental impact of energy use will continue to be important globally World Scientific's unique series of books on Current Energy Issues is intended in part as an expansion and update of the material contained in the World Scientific Handbook of Energy Each volume will focus on related energy resources or issues and will contain a broader range of topics with more explanatory text This Solar Energy volume covers a variety of approaches to the use of solar energy These include large scale photovoltaic production of electricity as well as more local applications in the home and businesses Similarly there is an extensive discussion of large scale solar thermal electricity production and smaller scale uses such as solar water heating home heating and cooling plus crop drying There is also discussion of more forward looking technologies including the production of fuels using artificial photosynthesis and the production of biomass National Union Catalog , 1973 Includes entries for maps and atlases
