Energy Policy Making:

Energy Policy Making in the EU Jale Tosun, Sophie Biesenbender, Kai Schulze, 2015-01-05 The book adopts an innovative analytical approach to agenda setting by not only presenting successful cases in which energy issues were addressed by means of public policy but by also analyzing failed attempts to make issues part of the European policy agenda Another outstanding feature of the book is its use of the latest empirical data on a broad range of energy issues When are energy issues likely to find their way to the agenda of European policymakers This is the key research question guiding this collection of empirical studies which will shed light on both successful and unsuccessful attempts to include energy issues in the European agenda The multi level political system of the European Union represents a particularly fruitful setting for addressing this question due to the multiple institutional access points it provides for different groups of actors The book has three key benefits First it provides a theory informed analysis of agenda setting processes in general and in the European Union in particular Second it presents an overview of the most important and emerging dimensions on European energy policy and third it helps to develop a research agenda for future research in the field

Constructing a Policy-Making State? Jeremy John Richardson, Jeremy Richardson, 2012-09-20 Constructing a Policy Making State is a guide to how the European Union really works in which 12 policy sectors are analysed by some of the leading EU scholars in the world Its considers how policy is made at the EU level who is involved which are the key institutions and if they are pro integration

European Union Policy-Making Nicole Herweg, 2017-02-23 This book furthers the ongoing theoretical development of the multiple streams framework assessing its applicability to European Union EU policy making processes It systematically defines and identifies functional equivalents for all of the framework's core concepts at the EU level and extends the framework in order to explain agenda setting and decision making Furthermore the book derives a set of explicit hypotheses to empirically assess the extent to which the modified framework is able to explain timing agenda prominence and policy change or a lack thereof for the EU natural gas directives passed in 1998 2003 and 2009 The analysis documents that the framework is well suited to explain the EU policy process in general and reveals where additional theoretical refinements are required
