The European Higher Education Area Adrian Curaj, Liviu Matei, Remus Pricopie, Jamil Salmi, Peter Scott, 2015-10-12 Bridging the gap between higher education research and policy making was always a challenge but the recent calls for more evidence based policies have opened a window of unprecedented opportunity for researchers to bring more contributions to shaping the future of the European Higher

Education Area EHEA Encouraged by the success of the 2011 first edition Romania and Armenia have organised a 2nd edition of the Future of Higher Education Bologna Process Researchers Conference FOHE BPRC in November 2014 with the support of the Italian Presidency of the European Union and as part of the official EHEA agenda Reuniting over 170 researchers from more than 30 countries the event was a forum to debate the trends and challenges faced by higher education today and look at the future of European cooperation in higher education The research volumes offer unique insights regarding the state of affairs of European higher education and research as well as forward looking policy proposals More than 50 articles focus on essential themes in higher education Internationalization of higher education Financing and governance Excellence and the diversification of missions Teaching learning and student engagement Equity and the social dimension of higher education Education research and innovation Quality assurance The impacts of the Bologna Process on the EHEA and beyond and Evidence based policies in higher education The Bologna process was launched at a time of great optimism about the future of the European project to which of course the reform of higher education across the continent has made a major contribution Today for the present that optimism has faded as economic troubles have accumulated in the Euro zone political tensions have been increased on issues such as immigration and armed conflict has broken out in Ukraine There is clearly a risk that against this troubled background the Bologna process itself may falter There are already signs that it has been downgraded in some countries with evidence of political withdrawal All the more reason for the voice of higher education researchers to be heard Since the first conference they have established themselves as powerful stakeholders in the development of the EHEA who are helping to maintain the momentum of the Bologna process Their pivotal role has been strengthened by the second Bucharest conference Peter Scott Institute of Education London General Rapporteur of the FOHE BPRC first edition

Unbundling the University

Curriculum Kate O'Connor,2022-09-02 In a context in which explicit attention to the curriculum has been sidelined in universities strategy this book makes an argument for why curriculum matters both in understanding the effects of unbundled online learning and more broadly It takes up two particular curriculum issues which are amplified in an unbundled context differences in the formulation of curriculum between disciplines and professional fields and the extent these are recognised in university strategy and the push for constructivist pedagogies and its effects on curriculum construction Since the onslaught of MOOCs in 2012 unbundled forms of online learning offered via partnerships with external online program management and MOOC providers have grown significantly across the university sector There has been much debate about the implications of these partnerships but the focus has predominantly been on the engagement of students and their learning This book takes a different and novel approach looking instead at the effects on curriculum and knowledge Drawing on selected case studies the book reflects on how university leaders and academics engaged with MOOCs and other forms of unbundled online learning in the early 2010s and the effects of these reforms on curriculum practice It captures in detail the complex and difficult work involved in university curriculum making in a way rarely seen in discussions of higher education And it generates new insights about some of the critical problems manifest in the ongoing moves to embrace unbundled online learning today Higher Education for the Public Good Brenda
